PREFACE

This book was written to meet three definite needs.

So much is said about studying the Bible, but so little is done about doing it. It is not enough to read books about the Bible, we must read the Bible itself. There is an ever increasing number of works produced that discuss very carefully the seventeen historical books of the Old Testament, and I would not for one moment discount their value, but they are no substitute for reading for yourself the seventeen historical books of the Old Testament.

More than five hundred students have taken my course on Sacred History and Geography. Among these five hundred serious minded young people very few of them had ever read carefully through the historical portion of the Old Testament. Some had read parts of it (particularly the book of Genesis), many had read outline material, and many more had heard sermons or Bible School lessons on the subject. But how many had carefully read for themselves these seventeen wonderful books of God's Word? Not very many. What is true in this instance is true in ten thousand places. But why? I believe it is because they fail to read with understanding. More important than that they are not challenged to make the information given in these ancient books their personal possession. I have prepared this material for the specific purpose of enabling anyone to read the historical portion of the Old Testament with understanding. But more, to encourage a personal investigation and grasp of these books.

This book is a teaching manual. It has long been my strong persuasion that there are two principles in teaching that must never be neglected if we are to teach effectively; I refer to association and repetition. In this book on Sacred History and Geography the student will be considering every person, place, and event from the tower of Babel to the rule of Queen Esther. There are more than seventy-five diagram maps to help associate the person and event with the place. The place as designated on the map is a "peg" upon which you can hang the event, and with which you can associate the person. Of course these maps and diagrams employ the factor of visualization which is the basic thought of association.

Throughout the book you will see the principle of repetition in action. I have endeavored to cover the same area of study at least twice. I trust that the variety of approach will keep up interest. We must repeat if we are going to teach effectively.

Let me say just a word about the answers to the more than five thousand questions that appear in this work. Among the many direct questions asked are what I choose to call “thought questions”. These questions are not asked that we might receive a direct answer, but that we might be caused to think on the point involved. For these questions there are several possible answers. Remember that the important thing is not whether we have the exact answer to all questions but whether we have tried to personally master this divine record.

Most of all I hope faith in God and the veracity of His Word will be more firmly established as this book is used. It is my conviction that to search the scriptures with a good and honest heart is to find in them the Christ of God. To personally find the record of God’s love is to in turn be caused to love Him.

    Read the Word for yourself!
    Teach it!
    Believe it!

INTRODUCTION

It is a joy to pen these words of introduction to this fine book, for the author, Don DeWelt, has been my personal friend and co-laborer for Christ for many years. I sat in the class where the background notes for this volume on sacred history were first employed, and have watched with joy as he has corrected and enlarged these notes, and prepared them for printing. In this book, the reader will find invaluable material for private study and for classroom use, and will doubtless capture some of the author's enthusiasm, consecration of purpose, and consummate faith in God and the holy Scriptures.

Don DeWelt has not only made an exhaustive study of sacred history, but has taught it in the classroom for many years, neatly tying together events and places in the history of God's people. The author of several other books, including "Ten Timely Truths," "More Than Conquerors," and "Acts Made Actual," Mr. DeWelt is well qualified to write this book. He has been a powerful preacher of the gospel of Christ from the beginning of his ministry, and has made practical application of all his classroom work through intensive evangelism.

May God bless this book, so lovingly and painstakingly prepared. I pray that it will prove a real aid to all students of God's word, enriching their lives and strengthening their faith in the Lord Jesus Christ.

The Old Testament World
CHAPTER ONE

The Old Testament World

"Say, friend, where is Asia Minor? Do you know the location of Elam?" These two questions put to the average church member would be answered with a rather blank expression, and maybe with a query like this:

"I don’t know, and even if I do not, what difference does that make?"

Well, it just so happens that MUCH OF PAUL’S MISSIONARY WORK TOOK PLACE IN ONE COUNTRY; AND ONE WHOLE BOOK OF THE BIBLE HAS ITS SETTING IN THE OTHER.

It truly is important that we have a working knowledge of the lands of the Old Testament World. For this reason and many others, we should study this chapter on the Old Testament World.

Here is a map of the world with the Old Testament World designated upon it. (next page)
Rather small isn’t it? Smaller than you thought? Well, this square is 1,400 miles from east to west and 900 miles from north to south, making an aggregate of 1,260,000 square miles.

But note: If you take out the area occupied by waters in this land, you will only have 1,110,000 square miles of actual land — ONLY ONE-THIRD THE SIZE OF THE UNITED STATES.

But now notice:

ONLY ONE-THIRD OF THESE 1,110,000 SQUARE MILES OF LAND ARE INHABITABLE; consequently man could occupy less than one-eighth as much territory in the Old Testament World as he could in the United States.

Let’s look at an enlargement of this square of the Old Testament World.
Now, you can observe on the preceding page the following facts:

1. The Waters of the Land. They are:
   1) The Caspian Sea. The largest body of water surrounded by land on the globe.
   2) The Persian Gulf. Which receives the water of the two great rivers of the Bible.
   3) The Two Arms of the Red Sea, i.e.: The Gulf of Suez and the Gulf of Akabah.
   5) The Dead Sea. The lowest spot in the World.
   6) Lake Van.
   7) Lake Urumiyeh. neither one mentioned in the Bible, but they are near to where the ark rested.

(Say, brother, don't just read these points over; look across the page, and locate them. They are all there, look!)

2. The Mountains of the Land.
   1) The Ararat Group. The high mountain where the ark rested.
   2) The Caspian Range. Not mentioned in the Bible.
   3) The Zagros Range. Where the key to the ancient languages was discovered. (An interesting story. You should know it.)

   4) The Lebanon Range. Having two branches.
      a. Lebanon on the West of the Jordan in Palestine.
      b. The Anti-Lebanon on the East of the Jordan in Syria.

   5) The Taurus Range. Where Paul walked many a mile.

(You can easily locate these mountains from the way in which they are drawn on the map.)
3. The Rivers of the Land.

1) The Araxes. Forming an important border.
2) The Tigris. Abram knew this river.
3) The Euphrates. Ezekiel looked upon its waters.
4) The Orontes. Solomon’s general contractor sailed on this river.
5) The Jordan. You know much of this blessed river.
6) The Nile. The same today as when Moses looked upon it.

(Now turn back the page and locate and learn each one of these rivers. You can do it and that shortly, if you will do it NOW.)

4. The Countries of the Land.

1) Lands of the Mountain System.
   a. Armenia. The home of Noah for a while.
   b. Media. The people who helped God fulfill the handwriting on the wall.

2) The Lands of the Plain.
   a. Assyria. The king that ate grass lived in this country.
   b. Elam. People of this country captured Abram’s nephew.
   c. Mesopotamia. The first judge conquered this people.
   d. Chaldea. Who hasn’t heard of “The Ur of Chaldees”? Well, here it is.
   e. Arabia. History only records one man that ever made it straight across this desert and lived.

3) Lands of the Mediterranean.
   a. Asia Minor. We have already mentioned something about this place. What was it?
   b. Syria. The capital of this country is the town toward which Paul was headed when Jesus stopped him. (Acts 9:3)
c. Phoenicia. The home of those who “traded in many waters.”

d. Palestine. Need we say more?

e. Egypt. The house of bondage.

These are the thirty facts to be memorized. Yes, TO BE MEMORIZED! It is not difficult. Don’t let anyone tell you it is. Here is a big help: A blank map in which you can fill in all the facts. Start with the waters, then the mountains, etc. DO NOT START WITH ANOTHER GROUP UNTIL YOU HAVE CONQUERED THE FIRST. (Remember Phil. 4:13)

Say, would you like to know what you are going to get in your examination over this chapter . . . ? Here it is:

1. If you can answer correctly all the following questions FROM MEMORY, you can’t miss an A.

2. If you miss from 3 to 5 questions, you have a B.

3. If you miss from 5 to 8, then a C. (If you miss more, we suggest that you begin all over.)

Locate, by writing in, thirty facts on the blank map.
Here is another little review examination over this chapter:

(Now subtract 2 points from 100 for each one you missed — record the grade at the beginning of the review.)
CHAPTER TWO

The Old Testament World and the Descendants of Noah
CHAPTER TWO

The Old Testament World and the Descendants of Noah

It will do us precious little good to be able to “rattle off” and locate the lands of the Bible unless we know who lived there and what happened in those places.

Well, let’s go back to the beginning. Say, how many sons did Noah have? That’s right, “three.” What were their names? Yes, “Shem, Ham and Japheth.” Yes, yes, but WHO WERE THE SONS of Shem, Ham, and Japheth?

“I do not know,” you say, and more than that you are probably wondering why you should bother yourself about it. Well, friend, there is a VERY GOOD, VITAL BIBLE REASON why you should know this. Maybe I can explain it better from a chart:

Here is a chart of the Bible world without the lands designated. They are not designated for the very good reason that there were no lands when this incident took place. What incident? Well, look over on the next page.
Number one (1) stands for MT. ARARAT where the ark rested. (Gen. 8:4) The three lines going down from number one are the THREE FAMILIES OF NOAH'S SONS. They all travelled to number two (2) or the PLAIN OF SHINAR in the land of Chaldea. Here they started to build the tower of Babel and they continued working on it until God confused their tongues and then the three families of Shem, Ham, and Japheth moved out to populate the world in the general direction the arrows indicate. (Generally speaking, the color lines were formed as: Shem (brown), Ham (black), Japheth (white).

"The general elevation of these highlands is from 6,000 to 7,000 feet above the level of the sea. Out of this elevated tableland rise lofty peaks and mountains, running in parallel ranges east and west. The two highest peaks are the Greater and Lesser Ararat, about seven miles distant from each other. Its geographical relations are important. It is the nucleus of the mountain and river systems of the Old Testament World. By its situation it is the natural center for the dispersion of the race, and this fact makes it not improbable it was the center from which the world was twice peopled." Bible Geography — Zollars.
Now these three boys had sons which formed nations. Here they are with their respective nations:

Each son formed a nation... they are as follows:

JAPHETH

- 1 Gomer — Celts
- 2 Magog — Scythians
- 3 Madai — Medes
- 4 Javan — Greeks
- 5 Tubal — not known
- 6 Meshech — not known
- 7 Tiras — Thracians

HAM

- 1 Cush — Ethiopia
- 2 Mizraim — Egypt
- 3 Phut — Libya
- 4 Canaan — Palestine

SHEM

- 1 Elam — Elamites
- 2 Asshur — Assyrians
- 3 Arphaxad—Chaldea
- 4 Lud — Lydians
- 5 Aram — Syrians

What we want to do is MEMORIZE these sons. An easy way? Here it is, a chart with only the numbers. Fill in the names of the sons to correspond to the numbers. Start with Japheth, and learn ONE AT A TIME.
On the next page you will find a map of the world. It will be divided into three parts — the three parts populated by the three sons of Noah. The numbers of the sons will be appropriately located. Your job? Name the numbers. It's easy — you have already learned the names and the numbers. If not, why not?
Once again. Ten questions. See if you can answer them all. Remember, 10 off of 100 for each mistake.

1. Which son of Japheth was opposed to Israel? (Ezk.38:2-6) Which modern-day people are probably the descendants of this son? (You can look this one up in the Bible Encyclopedia.)

2. Which son of Japheth formed a great nation with King Darius as their leader? (Use Bible Encyclopedia. Look up the name Darius. DON'T ASK SOMEONE ELSE, DO IT YOURSELF.)

3. Which nation has five branches as mentioned in Gen. 10:4?

4. Whose wife was a descendant of a son of Ham? (Num. 12:1)

5. What is of special interest in the formation of the name Mizraim? I mean that the name is of special form in the original language — a form that relates to the division of the land this son populated. (Look it up.)

6. Who was the progenitor of the Lybians, and who of the Lydians?

7. From which son of Shem did the Persians originate?

8. Nineveh was the capital of which nation?

9. To which race did Abraham belong? Which son of Shem?

10. Of what help to your Bible study is this chapter on the beginning of nations? Be honest. If none, just say “none”. Be specific. If some help, specify just what.

CHAPTER THREE

Physical Palestine
CHAPTER THREE

Physical Palestine

We are now going from the general to the specific, from a world to a country.

This is a small country about the size of Massachusetts and Connecticut. Events that have occurred here are of more importance than events that have occurred in all of the other parts of the world put together.

But, strange to say, we are not going to emphasize the events, but rather the country.

FIRST What is it called? And why? By several names for several reasons:

1) Canaan 2) Palestine 3) The Holy Land 4) The Land of Promise

1) CANAAN because as you know, Canaan, the son of Ham was the first to live here.

2) PALESTINE because the Philistines lived down on the South-Western shores of the land and gave the whole country their name. You can note that the Philistines are descendants of Mizraim through Philistim, his son.

3) THE HOLY LAND because it was there that the Holy Son of God lived, died, and rose again.

4) THE LAND OF PROMISE because of the promise of God to many of His servants concerning this land. (Num. 34)

SECOND What are the dimensions of this land? Here are three maps that will help much in answering this question:
CANAAN

BOUNDARIES

EAST: The Jordan
WEST: The Mediterranean
NORTH: Mt. Lebanon
SOUTH: The Desert

The name “Palestine” is sometimes applied to this territory, but not properly so. It is smaller than the State of Massachusetts, having only 6,600 square miles.
PALESTINE
BOUNDARIES

EAST: The Syrian Desert

WEST: The Mediterranean Sea

NORTH: The river Leontes
       Mt. Lebanon and Mt. Hermon

SOUTH: Arabian Desert

Palestine proper contains 12,000 square miles.
An area of 60,000 square miles. This was realized for 80 years during the reigns of David and Solomon.

Arabian Desert

SOUTH:
- The River of Egypt. (Not the Nile)
- Mt. Hor Kadesh Barnea.

NORTH: The entrance of Hamath.

WEST: The Mediterranean.

EAST: The river Euphrates and the Syrian and Arabian deserts.
But, really, friend, the purpose of this lesson is to notice the:

NATURAL DIVISIONS OF PALESTINE

There are only four: 1) The Maritime plain. 2) The mountain region. 3) The Jordan valley. 4) The Eastern table-land. Here is the first division — THE MARITIME PLAIN — with its subdivisions:
And then the MOUNTAIN REGION. Someone has said that the mountain region is the "backbone of the country." I must agree with them in more ways than one. It has five divisions. You probably already know two or three of them:
Last of all THE EASTERN TABLELAND

Take a look:

This is called a “table-land” because it is the land on top of the anti-Lebanon Mountains. It is flat and very adaptable to pasturage. It was divided into the three parts that you see here designated: Bashan, Gilead and Moab.
The Jordan Valley

"The Jordan Valley is a remarkable depression, beginning at the source of the river and plowing a gorge which grows deeper as it goes southward." Truly the Jordan Valley is a remarkable place. At the origin of the river it is 1700 feet above sea level, but at its terminus it is 1300 feet below sea level. So in 134 miles we have a drop of 3,000 feet. Let's take a look at the Jordan valley on the map and notice some points of interest:

NOTICE — PLEASE — NOTICE

1) In Judea there is a division marked out as THE JESHIMON, an uninhabitable region, without verdure and penetrated with ravines and caves.

2) In Samaria and Judea between the mountains and plains is the district called THE SHEPELAH consisting of lower hills that gradually slope down to the Maritime Plain — 500 feet above sea level. (Locate these on the preceding map.)
Now as to the WATERS of PALESTINE

The most familiar, of course, is the Jordan River.

What is the source of the Jordan?

There are three . . . they are as follows:

1. MOUNT HERMON
   - The first and most northerly source
2. BANIAS
   - The one recognized by the Jews
3. DAN
   - The largest stream from large spring
There are also NINE BROOKS or "wadys"

We should know these...

- Not mentioned in the scriptures but very important in history
- A bedstead 13 1/2 feet long found here
- The waters of Enon (John 3:23)
- A twin wrestled near here
- Ravens paid a visit to this river
- David and the son of David both crossed this river in sorrow
- A poor Egyptian who helped David was found near this brook
- Some one fought a giant near here
Among the waters of the land there are THREE LAKES

- "Mount of the Beatitudes"
- "Horns Hattin in Galilee"
In this trip to the mountains we have noted the names of 15 mountains: 12 on the West and 3 on the East. It will be easy for you to memorize those places if you really try. That you may be encouraged to do so, here is a blank map with the mountains noted on it according to their numbers. Say, here is a secret of learning: There are five groups of three mountains on this map. Do you see them? Yes, one group of three on the east and four groups of three on the west. This is the secret: If you learn three at a time, it will be but a few minutes until you know them all. Try it. Start on the east. You can learn all the mountains on the east of the Jordan in ten minutes. (Less if you are really in earnest about it.) Then the first three on the West and so on down the map.

(I forgot to say that you could have worked this same system on the brooks with success.)
HOW MUCH HAVE YOU LEARNED IN THIS CHAPTER?

Do you know the names applied to the land?
If so, unscramble these names and facts and put them in their proper places in the columns below.

CHAPTER FOUR

The Journeys of the Patriarchs
CHAPTER FOUR

The Journeys of the Patriarchs

THE JOURNEY OF ABRAHAM

Gen. 11:27 to 25:11

The life and journey of "Father Abraham" can be divided into twelve divisions, as follows:

1. From Ur to Haran. 11:27-32
2. From Haran to Canaan. 12:1-9
3. Visit to Egypt. 12:10-20
4. Removal to Hebron from Bethel. 13:1-18
6. The covenant of God with Abram. 15:1-21
7. The birth of Ishmael. 16:1-16
9. The destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah. 18:1 to 19:38
10. Settlement of Beersheba. 20:1 to 21:34
11. The offering of Isaac. 22:1-19
12. The last days of Abraham. 22:20 to 25:11

Or his life and journeys can be summed up under sixteen places as given on the following map.
The journeys of ABRAHAM
Gen. 11:27-25:11
It will be our purpose to follow Abraham from place to place as given on the map.

Let's start then at:

Chaldea is in the district of Babylonia, as you have previously learned. It is here in the cradle of civilization that the Garden of Eden was located. But back to Abraham, or "Abram" as he was then called.

Ur was a large city in Abram's day, and his family was only one of the thousands that lived there. But let's answer a few questions about this time and place:

1. Who was Abram's father? What race?
2. What was his occupation (traditionally)? What was his religion? (scripturally), cf. Joshua 24:2
3. Who were Abram's brothers?
4. Who was the oldest? (supposedly)
5. Who died in Ur?
6. Who was Abram's nephew? Through which one of his brothers?
7. Which brother married his niece?
8. Was Iscah the same as Sarai? (i.e., are they two names of the same person)?
9. Who left the Ur of Chaldees according to Gen. 11:31?
10. How account for Nahor in Haran later?
12. How do you suppose Abram came to have faith in Jehovah?

(Write the answers to these questions in a notebook to be handed in to the teacher each week.)
2. At the City of Haran. Gen. 11:31-12:3. (This city must have been named after Abram's deceased brother.)

It was somewhat over 300 miles from Ur to Haran; however, it was a well-traveled route, and one that was used by the merchants. Today it is called "the fertile crescent;" and as you can see it would form a perfect crescent from the Ur to Egypt. But now, let's answer these questions:

1. What would be different about this call from the first one?

2. What is the meaning of the terms "bless and blessing", as here used in 12:2-3?

3. Wouldn't it be "respect of persons" to "curse them" that cursed Abram?

4. What did Peter say was the blessing of all the families of the earth through Abraham? (cf. Acts 3:25-26)

5. Do you think that Lot was also called to go?
Down in Canaan’s Land

3. At Shechem. Gen. 12:4-7

Shechem is one of the oldest towns in the land of Palestine. A town by the name of Nablus exists in the same place today.

See what you can do with these questions:

1. What is the “plain of Moreh”?
2. Why mention the Canaanites?
3. What “land” did the Lord mean when He made His promise to Abram?
4. Why build an altar? Couldn’t he worship God without one?

On Down to Bethel

4. On a mountain between Bethel and Ai. Gen. 12:8-9

This place was evidently so close to Bethel that it came to be a part of it.

1. Why not stay here?

2. How often did Abram make a sacrifice?
A Visit to Egypt

5. In Egypt. Gen. 12:1-20

Abram continued right on down the “fertile crescent” to complete the trip into Egypt.

There are some mighty interesting things about this visit. Learn them by answering these questions:

1. How could Sarai be “fair to look upon”, considering her age?

2. Was Abraham mistaken in his estimation of the Egyptians’ morals?

3. Why would the story be a “half truth”, but a “whole lie”?

4. Who were the “princes of Pharaoh”?

5. Why treat Abram well?

6. How could Pharoah connect Sarai with the plague?

7. Did Pharaoh sin?

8. Why not punish Abram?

9. Who told Pharaoh it was a sin to have another man’s wife?

10. You ought to look up the history of Egypt of about this time!!!
    Most intriguing.
Back to Bethel

The altar evidently was still standing when Abram arrived. The land was again producing, but there was trouble brewing . . . Find out about it through these questions:

1. What is “the south country”?

2. Where did Abram get his wealth?

3. What is meant by “calling on the name of the Lord”?

4. Why couldn’t Abram and Lot dwell together?

5. What do you suppose the herdsmen quarreled over?

6. Why did Abram wish to settle the difficulty peaceably?

7. Why was Abram willing to make such a generous offer?

8. What two places did the Jordan valley resemble?

9. Couldn’t Lot have still chosen the valley and stayed out of trouble? What was his mistake?

10. What reward did God give Abram for his humility? (cf. 13:14-15)

11. You really should look up a description of this district. Also read II Peter 2:7 before you judge Lot too harshly.
At Home in Hebron

7. In Hebron. 13:18 to 14:13

We said that Shechem was an old town, but Hebron really has the reputation for antiquity. This is where Father Abraham was to make his permanent residence.

Say, friend, in answering these questions, do the MOST you can with them, not the LEAST.

Trouble from the East

Gen. 14:1-24

1. How could there be so many kings in such a small area?
2. How long had the five kings served the four kings? When did they rebel and when punished?
3. How could the might of these kings be measured by the persons they defeated?
4. What is a “slime pit”? (Don’t say “a pit with slime in it”)
5. How come Lot was taken with those of Sodom? I thought he only pitched his tent TOWARD Sodom.
6. How did Abram hear about the capture of his nephew?
7. Who were the Amorites who were confederate with Abram?
8. How many men in Abram’s army?

The Pursuit of the Elamites

Gen. 14:14-16

8. At Dan. 14:14-16 (This also includes the return trip.)

1. This is an interesting section of the country. You should look into it.
2. How could Abram and a small army do what an army of giants could not?
3. Why had the people been saved alive?
9. On the way back to Hebron and at the city of Hebron. 14:17 to 19:36

1. How could the King of Sodom meet Abram? I thought the king was in the “slime pit” (cf. 14:10)

2. Give three interesting facts about this interesting man, Melchizedek.

3. Why make exception for Mamre, Eschcol, and Abner?

4. How did Abram testify of his faith in God to the King of Sodom?

5. When did God give the law of the tithe?

God’s Covenant with Abram 15:1-21

Previous to this chapter we find that God had promised a blessing to Abram, but in this chapter we learn of the details of that blessing. We also learn of the provision for Abram that God included in this covenant. You can learn these things if you answer the questions below:

1. What two things did God promise to be to Abram? Will He be that for you and me?

2. How could it be that Eliezer would be the heir of Abram’s house?

3. How was Abram constituted righteous?

4. Why the strange offering?

5. How long did God say the seed of Abram would be in Egypt?

6. What did the “iniquity of the Amorites” have to do with God’s promise?

7. What were the boundaries of the land promised? Was it ever realized?

Hagar and Ishmael 16:1-16

Ten years is a long time, especially when you are waiting for something. But what God had promised Abram, surely Abram knew God would fulfill.

There are always four steps to Hell: 1) Doubt, 2) Denial, 3) Desire, 4) Death. Adam took those steps through Eve. Abram took them through Sarai. Here are some simple, stimulating questions on this episode:

1. Where did Sarai secure this handmaid?

2. How did Sarai imagine she would obtain children “of Hagar”?

3. Why did Hagar despise her mistress?

4. How did Sarai imagine she would be freed from her guilt? (cp. 16:5)

5. Why was Sarai so hard on Hagar?

6. Where was Hagar evidently headed when she stopped in the wilderness?

7. What encouragement to return did the angel give Hagar?
8. What name did Hagar give to God because of her experience?
9. Get a Bible Encyclopedia and locate Beerlahairoi.
10. What lesson can you learn from this incident?

The Covenant of Circumcision.
The Promise of Isaac.

Circumcision of the Household.

Gen. 17:1-27
Thirteen more years had come and gone and still there was no visible evidence of the fulfillment of God's promise to Abram. Ishmael, Hagar's son, was now a strong young man. One day Jehovah broke the silence and spoke with Abram — now 99 years old — in words

2. Were these two girls at all justified in their actions?
3. Locate the home of the sons of Lot's daughters.

Settlement at Beersheba
20:1 to 22:2

Let's get the chronology straight. Three men came to promise Abraham and Sarah that "at this season next year you shall have a son and shall call his name Isaac." Then in the intervening months we have the destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah as recorded in chapters 18 and 19. Now just before the birth of the long awaited son (14 years) Abraham and Sarah move from Hebron to a place called Gerar, 30 or 35 miles south of Hebron. (Locate it on the map.) It is quite probable that the move was made because of famine. Now notice the strange thing that takes place at Gerar.

GOD'S COVENANT WITH

From his book, BIBLICAL ANALYSIS
THE TWO-FOLD PROMISE OF GOD TO ABRAHAM

(Gen. 12:2, 3)

The promise to make of Abraham "a great nation" was fulfilled at Sinai, when the law of Moses was given and the Hebrew kingdom was perfected (Exo. 19:3-6; Mal. 4:4). The subsequent promise predicated upon this—to give him the land of Canaan for a possession, was fulfilled when Israel entered Canaan (Gen. 15:17-21; Josh. 1:11)

The second promise that in Abraham "shall all the families of the earth be blessed," referred to the Christ, and was fulfilled when individuals of all nations shared alike the Gospel blessings.

(1) First Promise: "I will make of thee a great nation" (Gen. 12:2).

(2) Second Promise: "In thee shall all the families of the earth be blessed" (Gen. 12:3; comp. Rom. 9:3-13; Gal. 3:15-17).

GOD’S COVENANT WITH ABRAHAM
(Gen. 12:1-3; comp. Heb. 11:8-16; Gal. 3:5-22)

INTRODUCTION

This subject marks the beginning of Hebrew history, and incidentally supplies an interpretation of a large portion of the Bible. Here the plans and purposes of God are unfolded in a most interesting manner. The subject should be mastered by reading all references in the Bible.

1. The temporal and spiritual promises of God are revealed in conditional covenants, in the development of which they are also approached.

2. The covenant which God made with Abraham falls into two natural divisions, with subsequent related promises.

   (1) Abraham, at the age of 75, in the Ur of the Chaldee, heard the call of God, and answered it by faith (Gen. 12:4; Acts 7:4; Heb. 11:8, 9).

   NOTE: “Faith” is the acceptance of testimony (Heb. 11:1).

3. Each of the two great promises of the covenant was complete within itself, and was therefore ratified and fulfilled separately. This fact is the earliest suggestion of the separate nature of the law and the Gospel, both of which are in view in the promises to Abraham.

I—GOD’S FOUR-FOLD OBLIGATION IN THIS COVENANT

1. First obligation: To make “a great nation” of Abraham’s posterity (Gen. 12:3).

2. Second obligation: To bless all nations through Abraham (Gen. 12:3).

3. Third obligation: At Moreh, a few years later, God again appeared to Abraham and promised to give the land of Canaan to his posterity (Gen. 12:6, 7).

4. Fourth obligation: Twenty-four years after the third promise, God again appeared to Abraham, renewed the former promises, and added the additional promise to adopt his children in a special and peculiar manner (Gen. 17:7-14). This called for a mark of distinction—Circumcision.

II—ABRAHAM’S OBLIGATION TO THIS COVENANT

1. He had to accept every promise on faith (Heb. 11:8; comp. Rom. 4:3, 16-23).

   (1) He even left Ur of Chaldee wholly on faith (Heb. 11:8, 11; Acts 7:1-6; Gen. 12:4-6).

2. He and his household “all died in faith, not having received the promises” (Heb. 11:13).

   (1) He saw the beginning of the first promise (“I will make of thee a great nation”), when children were born in his house (Gen. 21:1-7; comp. Gen. 18:9-19).
(2) He had a prophetic view of the second promise ("In thee shall all the families of the earth be blessed"). This promise being spiritual, referred to Christ (Gal. 3:16). In addressing the Jews, Jesus said, "Your father Abraham rejoiced to see my day, and he saw it and was glad" (John 8:56).

(3) He saw a sign confirming the third promise (the land of Canaan to his posterity) (Gen. 15:7-21).

(4) He saw the beginning of the fourth promise (the adoption of his children in a special and peculiar manner), of which circumcision was given as the sign (Gen. 17:9-12).

(5) But not one of these promises was fulfilled during his life. He lived to see his grandson Jacob fifteen years of age (Gen. 21:5; 22:20; 25:7,26).

III—THE ULTIMATE FULFILLMENT OF ALL THE PROMISES

1. Gen. 12:2. "I will make of thee a great nation."

(1) This was to be fulfilled after Abraham's death, through his posterity (Gen. 15:12-21).

(a) The fulfillment of this promise began in the miraculous birth of Isaac (Gen. 26:4), and developed through the line of Jacob (Gen. 28:1-4; 48:3, 4), into innumerable posterity (Gen. 22:17; Hos. 1:10; Heb. 11:12).

(2) The promise of the land of Canaan was an essential development of this promise (Gen. 12:6, 7; 13:17; 16:8; 15:7; 22:17; Ex. 3:1-12; Num. 14:20-24; comp. Lev. 26:5, 6, 41-45; Jer. 11:2-5; Heb. 8:11).

(3) The sign of circumcision was essentially a national distinction (Gen. 17:9-14).

(4) This national promise was literally fulfilled in the Hebrew Nation which was perfected at Sinai, 1491 B.C. (Ex. 19:5-8).

(a) The Israelites were obligated by a covenant that was sealed with blood (Ex. 24:1-8).

(b) The inheritance of the land of Canaan was one of the provisions of this covenant (Ex. 20:12; Deut. 5:31; 32:49; Josh. 1:11).

(5) Four things necessary to adopt the Israelites as a peculiar and chosen people:

(b) A seal of adoption. Fulfilled in circumcision as a seal of distinction (Gen. 17:9-14; Rom. 4:9-12).

(c) A purchase. Fulfilled in redemption from Egyptian bondage (Deut. 5:15).

(d) A covenant of relation. Fulfilled in the covenant at Sinai (Deut. 5:21; Ex. 20:1-17).
2. (Gen. 12:3) "In thee shall all the families of the earth be blessed" (comp. Gen. 22:18).

(1) This promise was spiritual, and therefore referred ultimately to Christ (Gal. 3:16, 17).

(a) The beginning of its fulfillment was in Isaac, to whom it was repeated (Gen. 26:4).

(b) It is dimly seen through Jacob, in his selection before his birth (Gen. 25:23); in the parental blessing by Isaac (Gen. 27:27-29); in the domestic instructions from Isaac (Gen. 28:1-5); in God's revelation to Jacob at Iuz (Gen. 48:3, 4); in the joining of the names of "Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob" (Ex. 3:6; Acts 7:32); and in due time was revealed with emphasis (Psa. 147:19, 20; Heb. 11:9).

(2) This spiritual promise was separate from all the other promises, and not fulfilled with them (Gal. 3:17-22).

Note: As a spirit can exist without the flesh, so the spiritual promise is in full effect after the fulfillment of the temporal or national promise.

(3) In the fulfillment of this promise, the relation to God advanced from fleshly to spiritual (Rom. 9:1-9; Gal. 6:15; Rom. 8:14-16; 1 Cor. 2:4; Jude 19; 1 Pet. 4:14; 1 Cor. 7:40; Eph. 2:18; 4:3; Phil. 1:27; 2:1; 3:3).

(4) The covenants belonging to the two great promises bear certain resemblance, as well as differences; as the adoption of the fleshly descendants of Abraham set aside as uncovenanted all other nations, so the covenant of the spiritual creation sets aside as uncovenanted all whom it does not include.

SUMMARY

1. God made a proposition to Abraham, and he accepted it by faith. When Abraham conceded to this, it thereby constituted a covenant between him and God.

2. The covenant with Abraham was two-fold, and in its development, it called forth other agreements.

3. The promise of a great nation was fulfilled in the Hebrew nation at Sinai, separate from the spiritual promise.

4. The spiritual promise referred to Christ, in whom it was fulfilled; the relation to God thereby advanced from fleshly to spiritual, with each individual personally accountable before God (Matt. 28: 18-20; Rom. 14:12; Gal. 3:1 to 5:25).

5. We are therefore individually amenable to God through Christ, by the Gospel (Rom. 2).
Jehovah had promised a son to Abraham, without designating the mother. Sarah, his wife, was then past age for motherhood, but she still believed the promises (Heb. 11:11). Ten years later, when Abraham had reached the age of eighty-six, Sarah presumed to assist Jehovah in the fulfillment of the promise. She therefore selected Hagar, a youthful Egyptian slave, as a handmaid for Abraham (16:1-7). Her sincerity is reasonably inferred from the fact that slaves were then regarded as personal property, and their children were regarded as the children of their mistress (comp. Gen. 20:3).

After Hagar conceived, she was despised in the eyes of Sarah, from whose presence she was driven. "And the angel of Jehovah found her by a fountain of water in the wilderness, by a fountain in the way to Shur. 8. And he said, Hagar, Sarai's handmaid, whence camest thou? and wither goest thou? And she said, I am fleeing from the face of my mistress Sarai. 9. And the angel of Jehovah said unto her, Return to thy mistress, and submit thyself under her hands. 10. And the angel of Jehovah said unto her, I will greatly multiply thy seed, that it shall not be numbered for multitude" (Gen. 16:7-10).

It was from this angel that Hagar received the first specific information concerning her unborn son. The predictions concerning Ishmael outline future history with remarkable precision.

I—THE BIRTH OF ISHMAEL

1. His Sex and Name Pre-announced by the Angel.

Forecast

(1) Gen. 16:11. "And the angel of Jehovah said unto her, Behold, thou art with child, and shalt bear a Son; and thou shalt call his name ISHMAEL, because Jehovah hath heard thy affliction."

Fulfillment

(1) The name "ISHMAEL," which means "God (is) hearing," had its origin in the circumstances of his birth (Gen 16).

Gen. 16:13-16. "And she called the name of Jehovah that spake unto her, Thou art a God that seeth: for she said, Have I even here looked after him that seeth me? 14. Wherefore the well is called Beer-lahai-roi (the well of the living one who seeth); behold, it is between Kadesh and Bered. 15. And Hagar bear Abram a son: and Abram called the name of his son, whom Hagar bare, ISHMAEL. 16. And
II—THE POSTERITY OF ISHMAEL

1. Twelve Sons were Predicted for Him, from Whom Nations Would Arise.

Forecast

(1) Gen. 17:20 "And as for Ishmael, I have heard thee; behold I have blessed him, and will make him fruitful, and will multiply him exceedingly; twelve princes shall he beget, and I will make him a great nation."

(2) National Distinction Forecast.

Gen. 21:13. "And also of the son of the handmaid will I make a nation, because he is thy (Abraham's) seed."

Gen. 17:20. "I will make him a great nation."

Gen. 21:18 "Arise, lift up the lad, and hold him in thy hand; for I will make him a great nation."

(3) Numerous Posterity.

Gen. 16:10. "And the angel of Jehovah said unto her (Hagar), I will greatly multiply thy seed, that it shall not be numbered for multitude."

Fulfillment

(1) The "Twelve Princes" of Ishmael.

Gen. 25:12-16. "12. Now these are the generations of Ishmael, Abraham's son, whom Hagar the Egyptian, Sarah's handmaid, bare unto Abraham: 13. and these are the names of the sons of Ishmael, by their names, according to their generations: the first-born of Ishmael, Nebaioth, and Kedar, and Adbeel, and Mibsam, 14. and Mishma, and Dumah, and Massa, 15. Hadad, and Tema, Jetur, Naphish, and Kedemah: 16. these are the sons of Ishmael, and these are the names by their villages, and by their encampments; twelve princes according to their nations."

(2) Nations that Grew out of Ishmael:

The Nabaitians, Itureans, Arabs, Saracens, and Hagrites descended from Ishmael.

Both the mother and wife of Ishmael were Egyptians (Gen. 16:1; 21:21), and his descendants were therefore a mixed race. The descendants of Joktan, the son of Eber (Gen. 10:25, 26) are generally regarded as pure Arabs.

(3) Numerous Posterity.

In the days of Joseph, Ishmael's descendants were numerous, and carried on extensive trade with Egypt (Gen. 37:25-28). At an early period, they were joined by the sons of Ket-
SACRED HISTORY AND GEOGRAPHY

III—CHARACTER OF ISHMAEL AND HIS DESCENDANTS

Ishmael and his descendants are figuratively likened unto a “wild ass,” a species which is found in great numbers in East and South Tartary, in Persia, Syria, the islands of Archipelago, and throughout Mauritania. They are characterized by their independence and liberty, and by their strength and nimbleness.

Forecast

1. Gen. 16:12 “He shall be as a wild ass among men.” (Literally, “a wild ass of a man”).

2. Job describes the “wild ass” suggestive of Ishmael.
   Job. 39:5, 6 “Who hath sent out the wild ass free? Or who hath loosed the bonds of the swift ass. Whose home I have made the wilderness. And the salt land his dwelling place?”

3. Job. 39:7 “He scorneth the tumult of the city. Neither heareth he the shoutings of the driver (taskmaster).”

Fulfillment

1. The wild ass inhabits the saline plains or salt wastes, where few other creatures would care to live. Such land has always been the favorite home of the descendants of Ishmael.

2. Gen. 21:20, 21 “And God was with the lad (Ishmael), and he grew; and he dwelt in the wilderness, and became, as he grew up, an archer. 21. And he dwelt in the wilderness of Paran: and his mother took him a wife out of the land of Egypt.”

3. Gen. 21:21 “And he dwelt in the wilderness of Paran.”

His descendants still prefer the deserts, and avoid the restraint of cities and superiors.
FORECAST

4. Job 39:8 “The range of mountains is his pasture; and he searcheth after every green thing.”

5. Gen. 16:12 “And he shall dwell over against all his brethren.” (Literally, in the face of, or before.)

6. Gen. 16:12 “And he shall be as a wild ass among men; his hand shall be against every man, and every man’s hand against him.”

FULFILLMENT

4. His descendants as a class, have never had a fixed habitation; they pitch their tents and feed their flocks wherever they desire, seldom till the soil, and live a nomadic life.

5. Gen. 25:6 “But unto the sons of the concubines, that Abraham had, Abraham gave gifts; and he sent them away from Isaac his son, while he yet lived, eastward unto the east country.”

The country occupied by the sons of Ishmael is described as follows:

“And they dwelt from Havilah unto Shur that is before Egypt, as thou goest toward Assyria: he abode over against all his brethren” (Gen. 25:18).

Ishmael’s descendants therefore occupied from the Persian Gulf to Egypt; their territory extended 1800 miles in length, and 900 miles in breadth.

6. Ishmael’s characteristics are manifest early in life. Gen. 21:9 says: “And Sarah saw the son of Hagar the Egyptian, whom she had borne unto Abraham, mocking. 10. Wherefore, she said unto Abraham, Cast out this handmaid and her son: for the son of the handmaid shall not be heir with my son, even with Isaac.”

This event is presented as typical, in the allegory of the two covenants (Gal. 4:21-31).

The Egyptians, Assyrians, Greeks and Romans, have endeavored to subjugate the Arabs, with only temporary triumphs. From the beginning they have maintained their independence, and God has preserved them as a lasting monument of His Providential care, and an irrefutable argument for the truth of Divine Revelation.

The Arabs have a proverb: “In the desert everyone is everyone’s enemy.” The Bedouin is regarded as a law unto himself—an outlaw among nations.
7. The descendants of Ishmael were to decline in strength (Isa. 21:18-17; Psa. 120:5). But Kedar, a tribe of Ishmael in Northern Arabia, is ultimately to receive the Gospel (Isa. 60:7).

Fulfillment

7. Eusebius records the spread of speculative theories among the early Christians of Arabia, and Origen's success in correcting their errors.

"But about this time, also, other men sprang up in Arabia as the propagators of false opinions. These asserted, that the human soul, as long as the present state of the world existed, perished at death and lived with the body, but that it would be raised again with the body at the time of the resurrection. And as a considerable council was held on account of this, Origen being again requested, likewise here discussed the point in question with so much force, that those who had been before led astray, completely changed their opinion" (Eccl. Hist. VI. XXXVII. p. 239).

(Origen was born about A. D. 185.)

After Paul's conversation, he retired to Arabia, apparently for special preparation for his Gospel ministry (Gal. 1:17).

Conclusion

1. Abraham and Sarah could not understand how God could fulfill His promise of posterity, except by a proxy birth. This accounts for the birth of Ishmael. But God rejected him as the chosen one for the line of the promises, and selected Isaac who was of miraculous birth.

2. Every prediction concerning Ishmael has been literally fulfilled. Nations have risen from him, and his personal characteristics have survived through the centuries.

3. The historic accuracy of predictions, places a stamp of approval on the predictive language.

4. The account of Ishmael is of special interest, because it it inseparably associated with the history of the chosen people, and also enters the New Testament record, both in the cruel Herods of Palestine, and the converts to the Gospel in Arabia (Acts 2:11).

Trouble arose here between Abraham and Abimelech, king of Gerar, and Abraham was commanded to remove from the city and to inhabit the surrounding territory. This he did and Isaac was born in this district outside of Gerar.

He was with his family during the feast and the removal of Ishmael and Hagar.

Afterward they returned to Beer-la-hai-roi.

4. From Beer-la-hai-roi to Beersheba and then to Hebron and then back to Beer-la-hai-roi. Gen. 25:9-11

He again left Beer-la-hai-roi at the death of his father. He and his half-brother Ishmael carry the body of their father to Hebron for the burial. The two sons of Abraham then returned to their respective homes: Isaac to Beer-la-hai-roi and Ishmael to Havilah.

REVELATION OF THE FUTURE OF THE SONS OF JACOB

WALTER L. STRAUB, M.A., B.D., D.Litt.

From his book, BIBLICAL ANALYSIS
THE SONS OF ISAAC

ESAU AND JACOB

INTRODUCTION

1. The Messianic promise to Abraham was to be developed through the descendants of Isaac (Gen. 17:18, 19). This necessitated posterity. But Rebekah was aged and barren (Gen. 25:21).

2. A previous, parallel instance supplied a precedent for Isaac’s faith in God’s promise.

ABRAHAM AND SARAH

(1) God had promised posterity to Abraham (Gen. 12:3, 7; 15:2-5), but Sarah was aged and barren (Gen. 16:1, 2; 18:14). Divine intervention was therefore to be inferred from God’s promise of posterity.

(2) In the absence of any precedent, Abraham, at Sarah’s suggestion, presumed God would expect a proxy birth to fulfill the promise (Gen. 16:1-6; 21:1-12).

But Jehovah rejected Ishmael, as a proxy birth; he then reaffirmed the promise, and intervened for the miraculous birth of Isaac as the heir (Gen. 21:1-3; comp. Rom. 4:17-21; Heb. 11:11).

(a) The blessing and the inheritance was reserved for the lawful heir, or Abraham (Gen. 15:3, 4; 25:5, 6).

ISAAC AND REBEKAH

(1) God’s forecast pointed to posterity of Isaac (Gen. 17:21; 24:60), but Rebekah was aged and barren. (Gen. 25:20, 21.) Divine intervention was therefore to be inferred from God’s promise of posterity.

(2) Isaac, with his own birth as a precedent, trusted God to fulfill his promise by direct intervention.

“So then Isaac entreated Jehovah, in behalf of his wife, for she was barren, and Jehovah suffered himself to be entreated by him, and Rebekah his wife conceived. (Gen. 25:21, Rotherham Translation.)

(a) The blessing and the inheritance was reserved for the lawful heir of Isaac (Gen. 28:4; Heb. 11:9).

I—THE CHARACTERISTICS OF ESAU AND JACOB

It will be noticed that they were opposites in many respects, and that their peculiarities are handed down through their posterity. These facts enter vitally into the divine preference of Jacob for the chosen one through whom the promise of the Messiah was to be developed.

ESAU

1. Esau means “hairy, rough,” reflecting his appearance at birth. “The first came forth red, all over, as a mantle of hair” (Gen. 25:25, Rotherham Trans.).

He is described as “a hairy man” (Gen. 27:11; comp. v. 28).

JACOB

1. Jacob means “supplanter,” suggestive of his characteristic nature, and of the incident when he supplanted his brother Esau (Gen. 27:36).
Esaun

2. “Esaun was a skilful hunter, a man of the field” (Gen. 25:27).

3. Esaun is classed as a “profane person” (Heb. 12:16).

4. Esaun was worldly and carnal. His lack of better qualities is suggested in the following: “He did eat and drink, and rose up, and went on his way (Gen. 25:34).

A further evidence is seen in his plan to murder his brother for stealing his birthright. He merely postponed the plan until after his father’s death. A reconciliation was later effected between them (Gen. 27:41; Gen. 33).

5. Esaun’s second name, “Edom,” meaning “red,” is derived from the color of the pottage, the price of the birthright (Gen. 25:27-34; comp. Heb. 12:16, 17).

6. He encouraged his father’s favoritism by supplying venison (Gen. 25:28; 27:24, 25).

Jacob

2. “Jacob was a quiet man, dwelling in tents” (Gen. 25:27).

3. Jacob was clever and resourceful.

(a) He schemed with his mother to obtain the birthright (Gen. 27:5-17), and deceived his father to receive the “blessing” (Gen. 27:18-29).

(b) He outwitted Laban in dividing the flock (Gen. 30:25-43).

4. Jacob was a man of unwavering faith until his death (Gen. 48:15, 16; comp. Heb. 11:21).

5. Jacob’s name was changed to “Israel,” meaning “striving with God.” The name was given him by the angel with whom he wrestled (Gen. 32:22-32; 35:10).

6. Jacob was favored by his mother (Gen. 25:28).

II—THE FUTURE OF THE TWINS AND THEIR POSTERITY

1. The prenatal forecast to Rachel, when “she went to enquire of Jehovah” (Gen. 25:22-24).

(1) Twins were to be born, and the descendants of each were to become a nation.

(2) The younger one would be pre-eminent.

(3) The elder would serve the younger.

2. Jehovah’s selection of Jacob instead of Esaun, the firstborn.
(1) As the first born, Esau would have inherited a double portion (Deut. 21:15), and authority over the household after the death of his father.

(2) God had decreed the choice of Jacob on his merits, before his birth.

(a) It was so announced to Rachel: “The elder shall serve the younger” (Gen. 25:23). Paul so interprets this, according to “the purpose of God” (Rom. 9:10-13). Note: “Hate,” from Greek miseo, means “to love less.”

(3) The divine purpose was doubtless revealed to Jacob by his mother. In his desire to make it more certain, he forced Esau to surrender his birthright (Gen. 25:29-31).

In Esau’s intense hunger, he reasoned that he might better live without the birthright, than to die with it (Gen. 25:30-34). According to Paul, Esau tried in vain to recover his loss (Heb. 12:16, 17; comp. Gen. 27:34-36).

(1) By scheming with his mother, he deceived Isaac, and thus obtained the blessing belonging to the firstborn (Gen. 25:5-17; 18-27).

(2) Jacob’s predictive blessing and its fulfillments (Gen. 17:27, 29).

Forecast

(a) To be prospered materially (Gen. 27:28). “And God give thee of the dew of heaven, and of the fatness of the earth, and plenty of grain and new wine.”

(b) Jacob’s sovereign preeminence (Gen. 25:29). “Let peoples serve thee, and nations bow down to thee.”

“Isaac answered and said unto Esau, Behold, I have made him thy lord, and all his brethren have I given

Fulfillment

(a) Jacob accumulated possessions of wealth (Gen. 30:43).

“And the man increased exceedingly, and had large flocks, and maidservants and men-servants, and camels and asses” (comp. Gen. 31:9-21).

His descendants inherited the land of Canaan (Deut. 8:7-10; 33:28).

“For Jehovah thy God bringeth thee into a good land, a land of brooks and water, of fountains and springs, flowing forth in valleys and hills; 8. a land of wheat and barley, of vines and fig-trees and pomegranates; a land of olive-trees and honey; 9. a land wherein thou shalt eat bread without scarceness, thou shalt not lack anything in it; a land whose stones are iron, and out of whose hills thou mayest dig copper. 10. Thou shalt eat and be full, and thou shalt bless Jehovah thy God for the good land which he hath given thee.”

(b) This was fulfilled in the conquering of the seven nations of Canaan by Joshua, David, and Solomon.

Stephen refers to the “Tabernacle of the testimony . . . which also our fathers, in their turn, brought in with Joshua when they entered on the pos-to him for servants; and with grain and new wine have I sustained him” (27:37).

(c) Let thy mothers sons bow down to thee; Cursed be everyone that curseth thee, and blessed be everyone that blesseth thee” (verse 29).

4. Esau’s paternal blessing and its forecast.

(1) Esau was absent when Jacob deceived his father; he recalled the first wrong when the second was perpetrated (Gen. 27:30-36).

(2) Isaac reaffirmed the blessing to Jacob, before pronouncing a secondary one for Esau (Gen. 27:37, 38).

(3) The predictive blessing and its fulfillment.

ESAU’S FORECAST

(Gen. 27:39, 40)

(a) According to the preannoucement to his mother, he was to become a nation (25:23). “Two nations are in thy womb, and two peoples shall be separated from thy bowels.”

(b) He was to be materially prospered. v. 39, “Behold, of the fatness of the earth shall be thy dwelling. And the dew of the heaven from above.”

(c) He was to live by conquest (27:40). “And by thy sword shalt thou live.”

FULFILLMENT

(a) The Edomite nation sprang from Esau (Gen. 36:1, 8, 9, 43). v. 9, “These are the generations of Esau the father of the Edomites in Mount Seir.” v. 43, “This is Esau, the father of the Edomites.”

(b) Esau became a man of large “possessions, which he gathered in the land of Canaan” (Gen. 36:6). v. 7, “For their substance was too great for them to dwell together; and the land of their sojournings could not bear them because of their cattle. 8. And Esau dwelt in Mount Seir: Esau is Edom.” Their fields and vineyards are spoken of in Num. 20:17.

(c) They subdued the Horites with the sword, and possessed their territory (Deut. 2:12, 22).

12, “The Horites also dwelt in Seir aforetime, but the children of Esau succeeded them; and they destroyed them before them, and dwelt in their...
Esau's Forecast

(d) They were to be servants of the descendants of Jacob (27:40). "And thou shalt serve thy brother." (27:29) "And let thy mother's sons bow down to thee."

(e) The descendants of Esau were to throw off the yoke of servitude. V. 40. "And it shall come to pass, when thou shalt break loose, that thou shalt shake his yoke from off thy neck."

Fulfillment

stead; as Israel did unto the land of his possessions, which Jehovah gave unto them."

22, "... as he did for the children of Esau that dwelt in Seir, when he destroyed the Horites from before them; and they succeeded them, and dwelt in their stead."

Mount Seir was therefore later known as "the mount of Esau" (Obadiah 8, 9, 19, 21).

They carried on war with Judah (2 Chron. 28:17, 18). While the Philistines invaded the cities of the lowland, the Edomites invaded Judah. v. 17, "For again the Edomites had come and smitten Judah, and carried away captives."

(d) This was fulfilled in David (2 Sam. 8:14). "And all the Edomites became servants to David."

(e) This was fulfilled under Joram, king of Judah (2 Kings 8:20). "In his days Edom revolted under the hand of Judah, and made a king over themselves."

However, under Amaziah they were again conquered. His son, Azariah took from the Edomites Elath, and rebuilt it and restored it to Judah (2 Kings 14:7, 22; 2 Chron. 25:11, 12).

As already mentioned under the blessing of Jacob, they were again set free under Ahaz, and they again troubled Judah (2 Chron. 28:16, 17).

They maintained their independence until they were subdued by Judas Maccabaeus; according to 2 Macc. 10:17, 23; 1 Macc. 5:65, he captured Hebron from them and laid waste the surrounding towns.

They lost their national identity when John Hyrcanus subdued them, and compelled them to submit to the Jewish religion (Ant. XIII. 9, 1).
III—PERSONAL ACCOUNT OF JACOB AND ESAU AFTER THE PATERNAL BLESSING

1. Esau determined to slay Jacob, because he had defrauded him in the birthright and parental blessing (Gen. 27:41).
   (1) Rebekah learned of the threat, and sent Jacob to Haran, to stay with her brother Laban, under the pretext of seeking a wife (Gen. 27:41-46).

2. As Jacob journeyed toward Haran, he stopped over night at Bethel, where he saw the vision of the ladder connecting earth and heaven (Gen. 28:10-22).

4. He proceeded with her to the home, where he met his uncle Laban. He contracted with Laban for Rachel as reward for seven years of work. When the time expired, he was given Leah. He then worked seven years longer and obtained Rachel (29:13-30).

5. He then served six years longer for an interest in the flocks, and he outwitted Laban in the distribution of them (30:37 to 31:10, 38, 41).

6. On account of the envy of Laban and his sons over Jacob’s prosperity, he decided to flee for Canaan. An angel so directed him in a dream (31:11-21).
   (1) While pasturing the flock about three days journey from Haran (30:36; 31:22), on the Euphrates river, he sent for his two wives, eleven sons and daughter, and possessions. On their arrival he crossed the river and fled toward Canaan (31:21).
   (a) He was overtaken by Laban, but their differences were adjusted in a friendly covenant (31:22-55).

7. Jacob apparently dwelt at Mamri the next twenty-three years, for he was at Hebron about ten years after his return from Haran (37:14; comp. v. 2).
8. He was presumably at Mamri when he was summoned to Egypt (46:1-7).

   (1) He was 130 years old when he arrived in Egypt (47:9).

   (2) In his dying hour, he blessed his twelve sons and the two adopted sons—the sons of Joseph (Gen. 49:1-27; comp. Heb. 11:21). He died at the age of 147.

9. Before his death he requested that he be buried at Machpelah, where Abraham and Isaac were buried (25:9; 35:27-29; 49:28-33; 50:1-14; Heb. 11:21; Acts 7:15).

   Jacob’s children and grand-children, and servants and elders of Pharaoh’s house took the body of Jacob to Machpelah and buried it (50:4-14).

CONCLUSION

1. The two blessings are the forecast of two great nations, and their part in the divine plan.

2. Jehovah had already expressed his intention of adopting the younger of the twins. The stealing of the blessing and birthright was a human weakness, a fear that God might not fulfill his plan.

3. The remarkable accuracy of every prediction indicates the divine hand in human affairs.
THE EDOMITES

(Gen. 36:17-19, 43)

The prediction that God would make of Ishmael “a great nation” (Gen. 21:13, 18), was fulfilled when Basemath and Mahalath, the daughters of Ishmael, married Esau. The law of hereditary tendencies was never better illustrated than in the descendants of Ishmael and Esau. They were both worldly and revengeful, as were also their descendants. The comment under “Ishmael,” and the one under “The Sons of Isaac,” should be carefully studied in connection with this subject.

I—THE EDOMITES WERE THE DESCENDANTS OF ISHMAEL AND ESAU

1. Predictions concerning the descendants of Ishmael were fulfilled in the Edomites.

(1) In reference to Ishmael’s posterity, God said, “He shall be as a wild ass among men; his hand shall be against every man, and every man’s hand shall be against him” (Gen. 16:12).

(2) The nation through him was to be numerous. “I have blessed him, and will make him fruitful, and will multiply him exceedingly (Gen. 17:20).

2. From Esau the Edomites inherited a worldly and carnal nature (Gen. 25:30; 36:1, 8, 19), and from him they derived their name.

II—THE LAND OF THE EDOMITES

1. Their land was formally called “Seir,” meaning “rugged,” a part of which was captured from the Horites (Deut. 2:22). See also Gen. 32:3; 36:21; Num. 21:4). Seir thus became known as “the mount of Esau” (Obadiah 8, 9, 19, 21). In the New Testament this land is called “Idumaea” (Mark 3:8).

2. Their territory bordered on Moab on the north, the Arabian Desert on the east, the land of Midian on the south, and extended west to the ravine connecting the Dead Sea with the eastern wing of the Red Sea (comp. Deut. 2:8, 9; Num. 20:22,23; 34:1-4; Josh. 15:1, 21; 2 Chron. 8:17).

3. The prediction concerning Ishmael, “And he shall dwell over against all his brethren” (Gen. 16:12), is literally fulfilled in the Edomites; they joined the land of Israel below the Dead Sea (Num. 34:1-4; Josh. 15:21).

III—HISTORIC REASONS FOR EDOM’S DECLINE

1. The spirit of vengeance.

(1) Esau’s determined vengeance against Jacob, for defrauding him of the parental blessing, appears to have been continuous until the time of Herod the Great, who was “an Idumaean on his father’s side, and an Arabian on his mother’s” (Jos. Ant. XIV. VII. 3).

(2) The earliest recorded vengeance is seen in their refusal to allow the Israelites to pass through their territory (Num. 20:14-21; Judg. 11-17; 2 Chron. 20:10,11).

The Israelites therefore went around Edom (Num. 20:22,23; 21:4-33; Judg. 1:17, 18; comp. Judg. 5:4).
SACRED HISTORY AND GEOGRAPHY

(3) Obadiah 10 cites the vengeance against Jacob, as the primary cause of the fall of Edom. "For the violence done to thy brother Jacob, shame shall cover thee, and thou shalt be cut off for ever."

(4) Conspiracy against Israel (Psa. 83:4-9).
(a) They joined the Moabites, Ammonites, the king of Zobah, and the Philistines, in conflict against Saul (1 Sam. 14:47).

(5) Vengeance done to Judah (Joel 3:19; Ezek. 25:12-14).

(6) "The pride of thy heart hath deceived thee" (Jer. 49:16).

IV—THE FALL OF THE EDOMITE NATION

1. They were completely subdued by David (2 Sam. 8:13, 14; 1 Chron. 18:11-13; 1 Kings 11:14-16; Psa. 137:7; comp. Ezek. 25:12-14). They never fully recovered.

2. Nebuchadnezzar subdued them 610-600 B.C. Jer. 27:3; comp. vs. 1-11).

3. Israel's ultimate possession of Edom is foretold (Num. 24:18; Psa. 60:8,9; 83:6; Ezek. 32:29; Isa. 11:14; Amos 9:11, 12; Ezek. 25:12-14).

4. The fall of Edom is predicted in detail (Jer. 49:7-22).

"Of Edom, thus saith Jehovah of Hosts":
(1) v. 8. "I will bring the calamity of Esau upon him, the time that I shall visit him."

(2) v. 10. "his seed shall be destroyed."

(3) v. 12. "thou shalt not go unpunished."

(4) v. 13. "Bozrah shall become an astonishment, a reproach, a waste, and a curse; and all cities thereof shall be perpetual wastes." (Note: Bozrah is a city within the land of Edom).

(5) v. 14. God saw fit to permit the fall. "I have heard tidings from Jehovah, and an ambassador is sent among the nations, saying, Gather yourselves together, and come against her, and rise up to the battle" (See also v. 15, 16).

(6) v. 16. "though thou shouldest make thy nest as high as the eagle, I will bring thee down from thence, saith Jehovah."

(7) v. 17. "And Edom shall become an astonishment; every one that passeth by it shall be astonished, and shall hiss at all the plagues thereof."

(8) v. 18. The fall likened to that of Sodom and Gomorrah. "As in the overthrow of Sodom and Gomorrah and the neighbor cities thereof, saith Jehovah, no man shall dwell there, neither shall any son of man sojourn therein."

(9) v. 20. "he shall make their habitation desolate over them."

(10) v. 21. "The earth trembleth at the noise of the fall; there is a cry, the noise thereof is heard in the Red Sea;"

(11) v. 22. "the heart of the mighty men of Edom at that day shall be as the heart of a woman in her pangs."

5. Edom is never to be permanently restored (Mal. 1:1-4).

6. The remnants of the Edomite nation exist in the Arabians and kindred. Herod the Great is the climax of the nation.

7. Wherever the descendants are found, the spirit of Esau is recognized. The history of the Edomites stands as a silent witness to the accuracy of relative predictions.
THE MIDIANITES

The Midianites were the descendants of Midian, the son of Abraham and Keturah, and are therefore closely related to the Hebrews. Their history is much shorter than that of the Edomites, Moabites, or Ammonites, but it is eventful and closely connected with Hebrew history. In the study of the book of Judges a knowledge of the Midianites is exceedingly helpful. Their location is briefly described in Judges 7:1.

I—HISTORIC ACCOUNT OF THE MIDIANITES

1. They were the descendants of Midian, the son of Abraham and Keturah (Gen. 25:1, 2, 4; 1 Chron. 1:32).

2. Our first definite knowledge of them is when Joseph was sold to Midianite merchants (Gen. 37:25-36).

3. Our first knowledge of them as a distinct nation was when Moses fled to Midian (Exo. 2:15).

4. Zipporah, the wife of Moses, and Jethro, his father-in-law, were Midianites (Exo. 2:19-21).

5. In Numbers 22, 25, and 31, we learn of early conflicts between them and the Hebrews.

6. They arose to power sufficient to reduce Israel to servitude (Judg. 6:1).

7. When Deborah delivered Israel from the Midianite servitude, in the campaign under Gideon, their prominence reached its height, and with this event they also passed out of sight in history.

Ephraim captured Oreb and Zeeb, princes of Midian, and put them to death (See Judg. 7:25; 8:3; Psa. 83:9-11; 1 Chron. 1:32-33; 46; Isa. 10:26; 20:6; Heb. 3:7).

II—SPECIAL REASONS WHY THEY CONCERN US

1. They are related to the Hebrews, but like the Edomites, Moabites, and Ammonites, were enemies of them, particularly in their later history.

2. The account of Hebrew triumphs would be incomplete without a knowledge of the conflicts with the Midianites.

3. Their connection with Moses through Zipporah, his wife, creates interest in them as a people.

4. They supply an excellent demonstration of the fact that the plans of God cannot be overthrown by military power. The nation met destruction while fighting against God's people.

5. The descendants of Midian are to be responsive to the Gospel (Isa. 60:6).
THE AMMONITES

(Gen. 19:38)

The Ammonites descended from Ben-Ami, who was a son of Lot by his younger daughter (Gen. 19:38). In their origin, they parallel the Moabites, with a similar record following. They are inseparably connected with the history of the Hebrews, with whom they were related.

I—LOCATION OF THE AMMONITES

1. The Ammonites were located north and east of Moab, and east of the tribe of Reuben. Their land extended from the Arnon river to the Jabbok, east of the Jordan (Num. 21:13, 24; Josh. 12:2; 13:10, 25; Deut. 3:16).

2. Their chief city was Rabbath-Ammon which contained the gigantic bedstead of Og, king of Bashan (Deut. 3:11).

II—HISTORIC ACCOUNT OF THE AMMONITES

1. The original inhabitants of the country were giants (Deut. 2:19, 20, 37).

2. The Ammonites, like their kindred, the Moabites, on account of their hostile attitude toward Israel, were prohibited from entering "into the assembly of Jehovah forever" (Deut. 23:3, 4).

3. Their chief national god was Chemosh (Judg. 11:24).

4. Their hostility toward the Hebrews was the chief reason given for their final destruction.
   (1) They joined Eglon and Amalek and smote Israel, and captured Jericho, "the city of palm-trees" (Judg. 3:12, 13). Israel later served Ammon eighteen years (Judg. 10:8). They were defeated by Jephthah at Gilead (Judg. 10:6-18; 11:1-33; comp. Amos 1:13).
   (2) They besieged Jabesh-Gilead when Nahash their king threatened its inhabitants with a severe penalty, but they were overpowered by Saul (1 Sam. 11:1-11; 12:12; 14:47).
   (3) Silver and gold taken from them in battle, were presented by Joram to David, who dedicated it to Jehovah (2 Sam. 8:9-12).
   (4) They joined with the Edomites and Moabites and attacked Jehoshaphat, but they were utterly defeated and destroyed by each other (2 Chron. 20:1-30).
   (5) "Zabad, the son of Shimeath the Ammonitess, conspired with Jehozabad, the son of Shimrith the Moabites," against Joash, king of Judah, and slew him (2 Chron. 24:26. B. C. 839).
   (6) Jotham reduced them to tribute (2 Chron. 27:5. B. C. 758).
   (7) The Ammonites assisted in the invasion of Judah, in the days of Jehoiakim (B. C. 610-599).
   (8) Tobiah, an Ammonite, along with Sanballat the Horonite, mocked, reviled, and in different ways attempted to prevent Nehemiah from rebuilding the wall of Jerusalem (Neh. 2:10, 19; 4:3, 7. B. C. 445).
   (9) David mentions them poetically, along with Amalek, as enemies of Israel (Psa. 83:7).
They brought the law of Moses into contempt, by intermarrying with the Hebrews (Neh. 13:1, 23).

5. They produced some illustrious characters, and performed many commendable deeds.

(1) Zelek, an Ammonite, was one of David's thirty valiant men (2 Sam. 23:37; 1 Chron. 11:39).

(2) We are told that Solomon loved many wives among them (1 Kings 11:1, 5, 7, 38). His wife who was the mother of Rehoboam, was an Ammonitess (1 Kings 14:21, 31; 2 Chron. 12:13).

(3) We are told that they gave gifts to Uzziah (2 Chron. 26:8. B. C. 758).

6. As a consequence of their persistent opposition to Israel, their destruction was definitely announced to them (Ezek. 25:2-10).

(1) Amos cites deeds of cruelty as a reason (Amos 1:13-15).

(2) Their king Baalis sent Ishmael, son of Nethaniah, to slay Gedaliah, son of Ahikam (Jer. 40:18-16; comp. 41:15).

(3) Their destruction is definitely connected with their reviling of Judah, and the magnifying of themselves against Jehovah (Zeph. 2:8-11. B. C. 630).

(4) They are prophetically threatened with "the cup of the wine of wrath" (Jer. 25:21).

(5) Israel was not to profit by the possession of their land, because it was given to Lot for a possession (Deut. 2:16-19).

(6) Their final subjugation was to be by the hand of Israel (Isa. 11:13; comp. Ezek. 25:4, 5).

(7) They were to escape the invasion by Antiochus Epiphanes (Dan. 11:41).

(8) Although there would be remnants of them in other nations, their national identity was to end for ever (Ezek. 21:32; 25:7, 10). After the second century of the Christian era they entirely disappear from history.

7. The only restoration spoken of for them, is in reference to their acceptance of the Gospel, as individuals (Jer. 49:6; Isa. 11:11-14; Zeph. 2:9).

CONCLUSION

1. The history of the Ammonites confirms the statement of Paul, "whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." The iniquity of their origin follows them to their end as a nation.

2. Their fall was primarily accredited to their hostility toward God's chosen people.

3. Every prediction concerning them has been fulfilled. Space forbids our discussion of the devastation of their land after their fall. But history records every destruction predicted for them.

4. Whatever remnants may have been left of them, may have free access to the Gospel of Christ. This is God's only approach toward them or any other nation.
THE MOABITES
(Gen. 19:36, 37)

The Moabites descended from Moab, the son of Lot and his older daughter (Gen. 19:36, 37). Their evil origin seems to have been an important factor from their origin until their destiny. They fully illustrate the proverbial utterance of Jesus, “the corrupt tree bringeth forth evil fruit” (Matt. 7:17). Like the Ammonites and Edomites, they were perpetual enemies of the Hebrews, on account of which they finally lost their national existence. Their history is so close connected with that of the Hebrews that it becomes a matter of deep interest to the Bible student.

I—LOCATION OF THE MOABITES

1. They were east of the Jordan. Joshua refers to “the plains of Moab, beyond the Jordan, eastward” (Josh. 13:32; comp. Num. 22:1; 26:3, 63; 31:12; 33:48; 36:13; Deut. 1:5).

2. They were east of the Dead Sea, with the river Arnon as the boundary line between them and the Amorites on the north (Num. 21:10-15); their territory included Mount Nebo (Deut. 32:49); they joined the Edomites on the south (Deut. 2:8, 9; Num. 20:22, 23).

II—HISTORIC ACCOUNT OF THE MOABITES

1. Their perpetual enmity toward Israel is presented as the chief cause of their decline and fall.
   (1) When Moses and the Children of Israel left Egypt, they were refused passage through Moab (2 Chron. 20:10, 11; Judg. 11:12-18).
   (2) They hired Balaam to curse the Israelites (Num. 22:1-20; 23:3,4).
   (3) They led Israel into sin (Num. 25:1).
   (4) They made war against Saul (1 Sam. 14:47), and later against David (2 Sam. 8:2; comp. 1 Chron. 18:1, 2).
   (5) At one time, David sought refuge among them (1 Sam. 22:3-5).
   (6) They rebelled against Israel after the death of Ahab (2 Kings 1:1, under Jehoram, 2 Kings 3:4-27).
   (7) At the time of the Judges, God permitted them to chastise Israel because of sin (Judg. 3:12).
      (a) Israel served Moab eighteen years before delivery (Judg. 3:24-30).
      (b) They joined the Philistines to fight against Israel (1 Sam. 12:9).
      (c) They joined with the Ammonites in battle against Jehoshaphat (2 Chron. 20:1).
   (10) Bands of them invaded the land of Israel for the purpose of destroying the crops (2 Kings 13:20).
   (11) After the return from Babylon, Sanballat, a native of Horonaim, a town in Moab, was the chief opponent to the rebuilding of the temple (Neh. 2:19; 4:1, 2).
   (12) After the restoration from exile, it was discovered that they had involved the Hebrews by intermarriage (Neh. 13:23).
   (13) They were subdued by Nebuchadnezzar (Jer. 27:3).
   (14) They were delivered out of the hand of Antiochus (Dan. 11:41).
III—THE DECLINE AND FALL OF MOAB

1. The doom of the Moabites is first hinted in Num. 21:20-30. A later statement is more emphatic (Num. 24:17; comp. Psa. 60:8).

2. Jehovah’s punishment for their sins is revealed (Amos 2:1-3; Jer. 9:25, 26).
   (1) Their punishment is figured by their being made to drink of the “cup of the wine of wrath” (Jer. 25:15-29).

3. Jeremiah attributes their fall to the following causes (Jer. 48):
   (1) “Because thou hast trusted in thy works and in thy treasures” (v. 7).
   (2) Ease and greed. “Moab hath been at ease from his youth, and hath settled on his lees, and hath not been emptied from vessel to vessel, neither hath he gone into captivity; therefore his taste remaineth in him, and his scent is not changed” (v. 11).
   (3) Boastfulness. “How say ye, We are mighty men, and valiant men for the war? Moab is laid waste, and they are gone up into his cities, and his chosen young men are gone down to the slaughter, saith the King, whose name is Jehovah of hosts” (vs. 14, 15).
   (4) Because they trusted in the god Chemosh. “And Moab shall be ashamed of Chemosh, as the house of Israel was ashamed of Bethel their confidence” (v. 13). “He magnified himself against Jehovah” (v. 26). “Moab shall be destroyed from being a people, because he hath magnified himself against Jehovah” (v. 42).

4. The fall of Moab is distinctly predicted (Isa. 15:16; 25:10; Jer. 48; 25:8-11).
   (1) The opposition to Israel is given as the chief cause of decline (Psa. 83:6; 108:9).
   (2) The fall of Moab was to be at the hands of Israel (Isa. 11:14).
   (3) The land of Moab, like that of Edom, was to be made desolate (Zeph. 2:8-11).

IV—SPECIAL REASONS WHY THEY CONCERN US TODAY

1. Ruth, who is mentioned in the genealogy of Christ, was a Moabitess (Matt. 1:5; Ruth 1:1-4; 2:1).

2. We are concerned about the Arabians, who are their descendants, and who still manifest an intolerant spirit.

3. They are inseparable from Hebrew history.

4. We are concerned because their descendants are subjects for the Gospel of Christ.

Jeremiah foresaw the redemption of descendants of Moabites, through the Gospel, “in the latter days”—i.e., the end of the Jewish age. Many of them were numbered among the early Christians.

INTRODUCTION

1. Each prophetic account is a farewell "blessing" from an earthly head of the race—Jacob as a father, and Moses as a lawgiver (Gen. 48:21; Heb. 11:21; Deut. 33:1). The divine purpose and plan, which begins with personal characteristics, is definitely revealed in historic developments. The "great nation" promised to Abraham (Gen. 12:2), through Isaac and Jacob (Gen. 17:21; 28:1-4), is here prophetically perfected through the sons of Jacob (Gen. 50:24; Exo. 19:4-6; Deut. 34:4).

The account by Moses is primarily an emphatic repetition of Jacob's predictions, in keeping with the purpose of the book of Deuteronomy in which it is recorded. It naturally falls into three divisions: (a) An introduction (vs. 1-5); (b) a benediction for each tribe (vs. 6-25); (c) a conclusion (vs. 26-29).

2. The predictions are clothed in figurative and poetic forms, but their remarkable definiteness readily suggests the interpretative history. Thus, "we have the word of prophecy made more sure" (2 Pet. 1:19).

3. Jacob had a two-fold inheritance to bequeath—a temporal, or land in Canaan (Gen. 28:1-4); and a spiritual, or the promise of the Messiah through him.
   (1) The temporary legacy was divisible, and was therefore apportioned to his twelve sons, and to his grandsons, Ephraim and Manasseh (Gen. 48:15, 16, 4).
   (2) The spiritual estate referred to Christ, and was therefore indivisible, and limited to one heir. Here we have the explanation of the "pre-eminence" of Judah (comp. 1 Chron. 5:1, 2; Psa. 78:67, 68).

4. In the most commonly used English versions, the meaning of the Hebrew text is sometimes partially obscured for the sake of smoothness. The Rotherham Emphasized translation is unquestionably the most accurate English translation, and it is therefore given the preference throughout this chapter, under the heading of "Prophecy." Under the heading of "Fulfillment," certain relevant information is interspersed, as an aid to the understanding.

I—REUBEN (Gen. 49:3, 4; Deut. 33:6).

PROPHECY
( Gen. 49:3, 4)

_Reuben, my first-born thou, My vigor, and the first-fruit of my strength,–_

FULFILLMENT

1. The name Reuben means "Behold a son," and was chosen for him as the first-born son of Jacob and Leah (Gen. 29:32; 35:23; 1 Chron. 5:1).
PROPHECY

Pre-eminence of elevation, and pre-eminence of power.

4. Boiling over like water, thou mayest not have the pre-eminence.

Because thou didst mount the bed of thy father,—
Then wast thou profane—My marriage-bed he mounted.

FULFILLMENT

2. As "the first-born" son, his birth-right included the following:
   (1) "A double portion of all that he (Jacob) hath" (Deut. 21:17).
   (2) The prerogative of authority over the household after the death of Jacob.
   (3) The office of intercessor, and sacrificer, as head of the family.

3. In the patriarchal age it was the prerogative of the father to convey the birth-right from the first-born to a younger child (comp. Gen. 25:31, 32). But after it was definitely fixed by the statute of Moses, it was confined to the first-born (see Deut. 21:15-17). Typically, this referred to Christ (Rom. 8:29; Col. 1:18).

4. The reasons for Reuben's loss of "pre-eminence":
   (1) An ungovernable temper (v. 4).
   (2) Immoral conduct. He committed adultery with Bilhah, Jacob's concubine (Gen. 35:22; 1 Chron. 5:1).

5. History supplies the following fulfillments:
   (1) God transferred the birth-right to Ephraim and Manasseh, the sons of Joseph (Gen. 48:5), and the priesthood to Levi (Num. 3:12, 13; 8:8, 15, 16).

   1 Chron. 5:1 says: "He was the first-born but because he defiled the couch of his father, his birth-right was given to the sons of Joseph, son of Israel,—and he is not to be enrolled in the place of the first-born."

   (2) Reuben's posterity never became pre-eminent in number; at the first census in the wilderness, Reuben was not so numerous by one-third, as Judah, Joseph, or Dan (Num. 1:21; comp. vs. 27, 33, 35, 39). Judah ultimately became pre-eminent in power—"Judah is my sceptre" (Psa. 60:7).
(Deut. 33:6)

Let Reuben live and not die,—

Nor his men be easily counted.

American R. V. says, “Nor let his men be few.”

II—SIMEON AND LEVI (Gen. 49:5-7; Deut. 33:2-11).

(Deut. 33:6)

6. Reuben’s posterity never produced either a judge, a prophet, or a ruler.

(4) Reuben was among the first to be carried away into the Babylonian captivity (1 Chron. 5:26).

6. Reuben once saved the life of Joseph, which may be included in the reason why the justice of death was withheld (Gen. 37:18-22).

The harmony of Deut. 33:6 with Gen. 49:4, would indicate that Moses spoke in terms of warning.

At the first census, Reuben’s army numbered 46,500 men (Num. 1:20, 21; comp. Lev. 21:10-12).

(1) They were united in the slaying of King Hamor, and the helpless Shechemites (Gen. 34:22-31). Jacob disavows any foreknowledge of their cruelties. He here leaves us to determine the specific incident from other sources.

2. Their anger was occasioned by the seduction of Dinah, their sister, by Shechem, son of King Hamor (Gen. 34:1-5, 27). They slew the male inhabitants, and plundered the city.

The account in Gen. 34 does not state what they did with the cattle; but Jacob speaks from positive knowledge when he says, “they ham-strung cattle.” He charges the unfortunate affair to an ungovernable temper, and cruelty. The seriousness of the incident caused Jacob to remove to Bethel (Gen. 34:80, 31; 35:1-6).

6. Into their circle do not thou enter my soul:

Into their convocation do not thou join mine honor!

For in their anger they slew brave men,

And in their wantonness they ham-strung oxen.

7. Cursed be their anger, because fierce,

And their wrath, because cruel.

PROPHECY

(7) I divide them in Jacob,
And I disperse them in Israel.

(Deut. 33:8-11)

And of Levi he said:
Let thy Perfection and thy Lights belong unto thy men of Loving Kindness—whom thou didst put for the proof at Massah.
With whom thou didst contend over the waters at Meribah;

Fulfillment

3. They were literally dispersed among the tribes, and separated from among themselves.

(1) In the dividing of the land,
the Simeonites were given a small portion of the land allotted to Judah, which included a few small towns and villages (Josh. 19:1-9). When they outgrew this territory, they formed colonies in different districts which they conquered from the Idumeans and Amalekites (1 Chron. 4:38-43).

(2) The Levites inherited no land but were located in forty-eight cities among the other tribes (Josh. 14:1-5; Josh. 21; Num. 35:1-8; Deut. 10:9).

4. The American Revised Version reads, “with thy godly one,” which was Aaron and his descendants, for the following reasons:

(1) God strove with Aaron, as well as with Moses, at the waters of Meribah (comp. Exo. 17:7; Num. 20:
13, 24; 27:14; Deut. 32:51; Psa. 81:7).

(2) “Perfection” (or “Th um-min”), and “Lights” (or “Urim”), were later used by Aaron as a “breast-plate of judgment” (Exo. 28:29, 30).

(3) Aaron was also of the tribe of Levi (1 Chron. 6:1-3).

(4) In case of the death of a relative, the high priest was to proceed as if he did not know him (Lev. 21:11, 12).

(5) The Levites slew 3000 of their brethren at Sinai (Exo. 32:26).

5. A part of the duty of Aaron and his sons was to teach the law to Israel (Lev. 10:8-11). They were also to burn incense in the tabernacle service
(Exo. 30:7, 8), and offer sacrifices for sins of the people (Heb. 13:11, 12; 9).

9. Who saith of his father and of his mother, I behold them not.
And his own brethren regardeth he not,
And his own sons observeth he not,
Because they watch thy speech,.
That thy covenant they may preserve.

10. May teach thy regulations unto
Jacob,
And thy law unto Israel—
May put incense in thy nostrils,
And a whole-offering upon thine altar.
11. Bless, O Jehovah, his substance,
And with the work of his hands wilt thou be well pleased—

Crush thou the loins of them who rise up against him,
And of them that hate him, that they rise not again.

III—Judah (Gen. 49:8-12; Deut. 33:7; comp. Psa. 108:8).

(Gen. 49:8-12)
Judah, as for thee thy brethren shall praise thee when thy hand is on the neck of thy foes,—

The sons of thy father shall bow themselves down to thee.

6. The law of synonymous parallel terms in Hebrew poetry, supplies a key to the interpretation of this prayer. Since "the work of his hands" implies the sacrificial functioning, "his substance" therefore refers to the sacrifice itself.

The blessing of God to the tribe of Levi was peculiarly necessary, in that it received no allotment of land, and lived by Providence from the offerings and tithes of the other tribes.

7. This petition constitutes a warning concerning those who would interfere with either the priestly office or the sanctuary service (comp. Num. 3:38; 16).

The term "loins" symbolizes the seat of strength (comp. Job. 40:16; Prov. 31:17).

1. The name Judah means "praise," and reflects the joy of his mother at his birth, on account of which she chose the name (Gen. 29:35).

2. Prophetically, this prediction is fulfilled in the pre-eminence of Judah. At the time when this was spoken there were no natural indications on which the predictions could have been founded. In later history, it was fulfilled (1 Chron. 5:1, 2; Psa. 78:67-72; 60:7). The birth-right was passed down to Judah as the eldest worthy heir.

(1) Those who encamped at the front, or east of the tabernacle, in the wilderness, were "of the standard of the camp of Judah" (Num. 2:3). Judah led the march (Num. 2:9), led in the conquest of Canaan (Judg. 1:1, 2), and received the first allotment of land (Josh. 15:1).

(2) The praise by the tribes is further seen in the fact that the name of Judah later became a designation for
Prophecy

9. A lion’s whelp is Judah,
   From thy prey my son hast thou come up!
He hath stooped—hath crouched,
As a lion—or as a lioness,
Who shall rouse him?

10. The scepter shall not depart from Judah,
   Nor the commander’s staff from between his feet,—
Until that he come in as Shiloh,
   And his be the obedience of the people.

Fulfillment

both the land and the people (Joel 3:18; 2 Chron. 14:6; Heb. 8:8).
(3) The prediction also has a literal fulfillment in Caleb and David, the most renowned warriors against the Canaanites (Josh. 14:6-12; comp. Acts 7:45).

David, in an allusion to this prediction, says: "As for my foes thou didst give me their neck, And as for them who hated me, I destroyed them" (Psa. 18:40. Rotherham Translation.)

(d) The figure of a lion on a pole became the standard of Judah. Here it suggests his regal position. In military qualities, Judah is here likened to "a lioness," the fiercest of animals when aroused.

"The city where David encamped" (Jerusalem) is called "Ariel," meaning "the lion of God" (Isa. 29:1).

Christ, the Prince of the descendants of Judah, is called, "the Lion of the tribe of Judah" (Rev. 5:5), answering to the type as a King, as a Conqueror of the forces of evil (1 Cor. 15:25-28; Rev. 19:11-16), and as an object of Praise and Worship (Rev. 4:8-11; 15:2-4; 19:1-8).

3. The word "Shiloh" comes from the Hebrew word "shalach," meaning "to send," whence comes "messenger," and "ambassador." Literally, it means "one sent forth."

Onkelos, the fellow-student of Paul under Gamaliel, in his Targum (translation and comments), renders this word "Messiah," meaning "anointed."

(1) This prophecy has an unbroken fulfillment, beginning with David as the first king from Judah (Matt. 1:2-4), and ending with Christ (Luke 1:31-33; Heb. 7:14).

During the captivity, in the absence of a king, "princes" or governors maintained the official relation (Dan. 1:7; Ezra 7:14; Neh. 9:31, 32, 38; 12: 31, 32).

(2) Herod the Great (B. C. 38-4) fulfilled the departing of the "sceptre" (rulership) "from Judah," when he became king over Judea, B. C. 37, being the first foreign ruler (Matt. 2:1, 2).

Eusebius, "The Father of Church History" (A. D. 265-334, in Palestine), says:

"At the time that Herod was king, who was the first foreigner that reigned over the Jewish people, the prophecy by Moses received its fulfillment, viz. 'That a prince should not fail of Judah, nor a ruler from his loins, until he should come for whom it is reserved.' The same, he also shows, would be the expectation of the nations. The prediction was evidently not accomplished, as long as they were at liberty to have their own native rulers, who continued from the time of Moses down to the reign of Augustus. Under him, Herod was the first foreigner that obtained the government of the Jews. Since, as Josephus has written, he was an Idumean by his father's side, and an Arabian by his mother's (See Ant. IV., VII, 3). But as Africanus, who is also no common writer, says, they who have written more accurately respecting him, say that he was a son of a certain Herod of Ashkelon, one of those called the ministers of the temple of Apollo, in that city. This Antipater, when a boy, having been taken prisoner by some Idumean robbers, lived with them, because his father, being a poor man, was unable to pay his ransom. Thus growing up in their practices, he was afterward befriended by Hyrcanus, the high priest of the Jews. His son was that Herod who flourished at the times of our Savior. The government of the Jews, therefore, having devolved on such a man, the expectation of the nation was now at hand, according to prophecy; because with him terminated the regular succession of governors and princes from the time of Moses. For before their captivity and their transfer to Babylon, they were first governed by Saul and David as their kings; and before the kings, the government was administered by magistrates called Judges, who came after Moses and his successor Joshua. After the return from the captivity of Babylon, they continued to retain the aristocratical form of government, together with the oligarchy. The high priest had then the direction of affairs, until Pompey, the proconsular general of the Romans, took Jerusalem by force of arms, and defiled the sacred places, entering the sanctuary of the temple. Aristobulus, who had been both king and high priest by regular succession until then, was sent with his children to Rome, and the priesthood was given to his brother Hyrcanus, whilst the whole nation of the Jews was made tributary to the Romans from that time.

But Hyrcanus, who was the last of the high priests by succession, having been soon after taken prisoner by the Parthians, Herod, as I said before, had the government of the Jews conferred upon him by the senate of Rome and the emperor Augustus."

(3) The promise of a "Shiloh" was fulfilled in the coming of Christ, in his commission from God, and in his anointing (John 17:3; 20:21; Heb. 3:1; Acts 10:38).

He was clothed with full regal authority, transferred from Judah (Gen. 49:10; Acts 3:22, 23; comp. Deut. 18:15-18; Matt. 28:18; Col. 1:18).

PROPHECY

11. Binding to the vine, his ass,
   And, to the choice vine, his ass's colt,
   He hath washed, in wine, his raiment,
   And, in the blood of grapes, his mantle:

   (Deut. 33:7)

   And this is for Judah, when he said,
   Hear, O Jehovah, the voice of Judah,
   That unto his own people thou wouldst bring him home,—
   Let his own hands suffice him,
   And a helper from his adversaries, do thou become.

IV—ZEBULUN (Gen. 49:13; Deut. 33:18, 19).

(Gen. 49:13)

Zebulun by a haven of seas shall he settle down,
   Even he by a haven of ships,
   With the utmost part upon Zidon.

1. The word Zebulon means "dwelling" (comp. Gen. 30:20).

The descendants of Zebulun, as both Jacob and Moses predicted, were a prosperous maritime and commercial people.

When Canaan was allotted, Zebulun's territory bordered on the Sea of Galilee on the east, and on the Mediterranean on the west (Josh. 19:10-16). The commercial influence extended to Zidon.

FULFILLMENT

4. The wealth of the land of Judah has a spiritual parallel in the kingdom of Christ.

The soil was rich and productive, especially in the direction of Hebron. Vines were so large and plentiful that travelers tied their beasts to them.

The rich pastures and the abundance of wine from the vineyards, is here used to symbolize the Messiah's kingdom of peace and happiness, with the beauty and blessings that could suggest the eternal kingdom.

5. Judah's safe return from battle.

Jacob had predicted for Judah, glorious success in war (Gen. 49:8, 9). Moses begins at this point and prays that God would hear the petitions of Judah for a safe return. The dependence of Judah upon God, as a source of guidance and strength, is prophetically inferred (comp. Judg. 1:2; 1 Sam. 23:1-5; 2 Sam. 7:18-19).
PROPHECY
(Deut. 33:18, 19)
And of Zebulun he said,
Rejoice, Zebulun, in thy going out,—
And thou Issachar, in thy tents:
19. The peoples unto the mountain will they call,
There will they offer the sacrifices of righteousness,—
For the abundance of the seas will they suck,
Hidden treasures of the sand.

FULFILLMENT
2. Here, Moses, like Jacob, places the younger first.

Zebulun possessed extensive seashores, and therefore rejoiced in his “going out,” or commercial enterprises. Issachar was an agricultural people, and therefore poetically contrasted as settled down “in thy tents.”

The sea afforded large fishing industry. On the coast the sand yielded vitreous, which was used for making glass. Tacitus (Hist. 1, v. c. 7) says: “The river Belus falls into the Jewish sea, about whose mouth those sands, mixed with nitre, are collected, out of which glass is formed.”

Josephus, in speaking of the sand-bed of the river Belus, says: It “affords such sand as glass is made of” (Wars, II. X. 2).

The phrase “sacrifices of righteousness” appropriately expresses the praise and worship of Jehovah for these material blessings (comp. Psa. 4:5, 6; 51:19), but was indirectly shared by all the tribes (comp. Isa. 60:5, 6).

V—Issachar (Gen. 49:14, 15; Deut. 33:18).

(Gen. 49:14, 15)
Issachar an ass of strength,—couching between the pens;
18. Then beholdeth he rest, that it is good,
And the ground, that it is pleasant,—So he bendeth his shoulder to bear, And becometh a tributary servant.

1. The name Issachar means “bearing, hire, reward” (comp. Gen. 30:18).

2. Location. Issachar occupied the southern part of Galilee, on the plains of Esdraelon. He was completely enclosed by Zebulun on the north, Manasseh on the west and south, and by Gad on the east (Josh. 19:17-28).

3. Occupation. His location included the richest agricultural soil in Palestine. He was given to agriculture.

4. Characteristic. The tribe became lazy, and enjoyed the natural products of the soil in ease. In order to remain in this rich agricultural center,
Prophecy

(Deut. 33:18)

And thou Issachar in thy tents.

Fulfillment

they willingly endured oppression at the hands of the Canaanites in their midst.
They were prosperous and easy in agriculture, and powerful in war (Judg. 5:15; 1 Chron. 7:5, "mighty men of valor").

Moses contrasts the activities of Zebulun, with the quiet, nomadic, agricultural life of Issachar.
Issachar furnished 54,400 men for the conquest of Canaan. When Tola of this tribe judged Israel, the land had rest twenty-three years (Judg. 10:1, 2).

VI—Dan (Gen. 49:16-18; Deut. 33:22).

(Gen. 49:16-18)
Dan shall vindicate his people—as one of the tribes of Israel;
American R. V. "Judge his people."

1. The Name. Dan means "judgment."
He was the first-born son of Bilhah, the handmaid of Jacob. The name was given to him at birth, by Rachel, wife of Jacob, because it expressed her conviction that God had decided, or judged in her favor, for a son by proxy (Gen. 30:3-6).

2. "Shall vindicate" i.e., "judge." Although born of a handmaid, he headed a tribe of equal inheritance with that of the sons, as Jacob predicted.
Through Samson, of the tribe of Dan, the Danites ruled Israel twenty years (Judg. 15:20; 16:3).

3. Strategy and subtleness. Dan generally gained his victories by cunning and strategy. (Ex. The capture of Leshem (Josh. 19:47); the burning of the standing grain of the Philistines (Judges 15:1-8); and the wreaking of the vengeance of death upon three thousand Philistines, in his own death (Judg. 16:26-30).

The Danites bordered on the Mediterranean sea, and were a maritime people. In the song of Deborah, they were upbraided for neglecting warfare by remaining in the ships (Judg. 5:17).
Prophecy

18. For thy salvation have I waited, O Jehovah.

(Deut. 33:22)

And of Dan he said:
Dan is a lion's whelp,—
He leapeth out of Bashan.

Fulfillment

4. Dan was the first to be seduced into idolatry, and introduced it into Israel (Judg. 18:30).

5. Treacherous and courageous. The caves of eastern Bashan (in northeastern Palestine), and the forest slopes of Jebel Hauran in the western part, were known and feared as hararbors of leopards and lions (comp. Song of Sol. 4:8). These treacherous beasts often sprang upon the fine cattle, for which Bashan was famous (comp. Psa. 22:12).

The characteristics of the lion symbolize the nature of Dan. The Danites were allotted a small territory, north of Judah, on the Mediterranean sea (Num. 1:12, 38, 39; Josh. 19: 40-48). But they were restricted by the Amorites to the hill country (Judg. 1:34, 35).

When the Danites became crowded for room, they sprang upon the town of Leshem, a foreign population, slew the inhabitants, and rebuilt and renamed the town (Josh. 19:47; Judg. 18:1-30).

VII—Gad (Gen. 49:19; Deut. 33:20, 21).

(Gen. 49:19)

Gad, a troop shall troop on him,—
But he shall troop the rear.

American R. V.

Gad, a troop shall press upon him;
But he shall press upon their heel.

1. His name. The name Gad, which means “fortune,” was significantly suggested by Leah at his birth, and was accepted by his mother, Bilhah (Gen. 30:9-11).

2. “A troop shall troop on him.” Gad, Reuben, and the half tribe of Manasseh, were allies in the utter defeat of the Hagrites, and in the possession of their territory (Josh. 4:12, 13; 22:1, 2, 8; 1 Chron. 5:18-22), “until the captivity” (1 Chron. 5:22).

Gad was invaded by the Moabites, Syrians, Ammonites, and was in servitude under the Philistines forty years (Judg. 10:6-8; 13:1; comp. Jer. 49:1-6).

3. “But he shall troop the rear.” Jacob places the emphasis on the sub-
(Deut. 33:20, 21)
And of Gad, he said:
Blessed be he that hath made room for Gad.
(R. V. "enlargeth Gad")

As a lioness, hath he laid himself down,
And hath torn an arm, likewise the crown of the head.

And hath provided a first part for himself,
For there a commander's portion hath been hid.

j ective side—the part Gad performed.

Ultimately, the invaders were all subdued (comp. Judg. chap. 11 & 12). During the reign of Saul and David, the subjugation was completed (comp. 1 Sam. 11:1-15; 1 Chron. 5:18-22; 2 Sam. 8:1-14; Acts 7:45, 46).

4. Gad’s extensive territory. Gad, with Reuben and the half tribe of Manasseh, was allotted a large territory east of the Jordan (Num. 32). Moses emphasizes God’s part in the victories. Through Jephthah’s conquest, the territory of the three tribes was greatly enlarged (Judg. 11:32, 33; comp. 1 Sam. 12:11; 1 Chron. 5:11-22).

5. Military characteristics. He is symbolized by “a lioness,” the most desperate and fearless of beasts. In David’s time they are described as follows:

“And of the Gadites, there separated themselves unto David, to the stronghold towards the desert, heroes of valour, men of war for battle, men that could handle shield and spear,—and, faces of lions were their faces, and like gazelles upon the mountains were they for swiftness” (1 Chron. 12:8).

6. Provision for himself. Previous to the crossing of the Jordan, and of the allotment of land, Gad and Reuben, who had fine herds of cattle, requested the pasture lands east of the Jordan for their inheritance (Num. 32:1-5). The request was granted on their promise to cross the Jordan with the other tribes, and assist in the war against the Canaanites (Num. 32:6-32).

In Deut. 33:21, Moses, with prophetic foresight, praises them for the promise as if it were already fulfilled (comp. Num. 32:16-22; Josh. 1:12-18).
PROPHECY

So he cometh with the heads of the people,
The righteousness of Jehovah, he executeth,
And his regulations with Israel.

VIII—ASHER (Gen. 49:20; Deut. 33:20, 21).

(Deut. 33:24-29)
And of Asher, he said,
Most blessed of sons be Asher.
Let him have the goodwill of his brethren,
And let him dip in oil, his foot.

25.
Iron and bronze be thy sandals,
And as thy days, be thy strength.

26.
There is none like God, O Jeshurun,— Riding upon the heavens to thy help,—
And for his own majesty on the skies;

FULFILLMENT

7. Gad’s promise to Moses fulfilled. The Gadites crossed the Jordan with the other tribes, for the conquest of Canaan (Josh. 1:12-17; 4:12, 13). They were therefore formally allotted the land which Moses promised to them conditionally (Josh. 13:8).

1. The name. The name, which signifies “happy,” or “blessed,” has its origin in the joy of Leah at his birth, as the second son of Zilpah (Gen. 30:13).

Prophetically, the name alludes to the tribe that descended from Asher. The territory occupied was a narrow strip of land, about sixty miles in length, extending northward, on the Mediterranean coast (Josh. 19:24, 25).

2. Natural resources. The land was noted for its grain fields, olive orchards, and vineyards—“dainties.”

3. Providentially favored. He was blessed above his brethren.

(1) Living in the remote section of the country, he did not participate in the strifes between the tribes.

(2) Productiveness. From the extensive olive orchards, olive oil was produced in abundance (comp. Job. 29:6). The diction reflects the ancient custom of treading the olives to obtain the oil (comp. Micah 6:15).

Moses’ reference to iron and copper is believed to have been in this territory (Deut. 8:9).

5. Divine favor. Asher was highly favored by Providence; natural resources were abundant, in a great variety.
27. Prophecy

Above is the God of aforetime,
And beneath are the Arms of the ages,—
So he driveth before thee the foe,
And doth say—Destroy!

28. Thus hath Israel settled down securely,
Alone, the fountain of Jacob,
Within a land both of corn and new wine,—
His heaven also droppeth down dew.

29. How happy art thou, O Israel!
Who is like unto thee,
O People victorious in Jehovah?
Thy helpful shield, who also is thy majestic sword,—
So that thy foes come cringing unto thee,
And thou upon their heights dost march along.

Fulfillment

6. The Canaanites were practically out of Asher's way, and peace and prosperity were enjoyed.

7. The entire "blessing" is a highly figured and poetic exposition of the name of "Asher," together with the promise of verification of the omen contained in the name.

The history of Asher corresponds to the tenor of this prophetic picture.

The strength and success of Asher suggests a constant faith in Jehovah.

IX—NAPHTALI (Gen. 49:21; Deut. 33:23).

(Gen. 49:21). The meaning of this passage must be determined before its application. It has a variety of renderings, some of which unquestionably obscure its meaning. From the King James and Revised Version rendering (Naphtali is a hind let loose), the average commentary interprets the verb "let loose," in the light of a fleeing animal, as the correct symbol of Naphtali. But this idea may, or may not be implied by the Hebrew verb, depending upon its usage. For the convenience of students who are interested in critical study, a few of the varied translations are here noted, as follows:

1. Moffatt's translation: "A slender oak is Naphtali, with lovely boughs."

2. Farrar Fenton's translation: "Naphtali is a nimble stag, has the gift of eloquent speech."

3. Jewish Translation, according to Messoratic Text: "Naphtali is a hind let loose; he giveth goodly words."

4. A literal rendering of the Septuagint: "Naphtali is a spreading stem, Bestowing beauty on its fruit."

5. The Old Testament, an American Translation (edited by J. M. Powiss Smith (1927)): "Naphtali is a free-ranging deer, that bears beautiful fawns."

Definition of Hebrew words.

1. The Hebrew verb (shalach) commonly rendered "let loose," means, "1. to send; 2. to send away (Gen. 49:21, let loose, i.e., roaming freely); 3. to send out or forth, i.e., to put forth, to stretch out, to extend" (Gesenius Heb. Eng. Lexicon).

Its kindred form (omer) is frequently used in the sense of a promise, covenant, assurance, etc. (comp. its usage in Psa. 77:8; 2 Kings 8:19; 2 Chron. 21:17).

The difficulty in translating Gen. 49:21 into equivalent English, accounts for most of the variations between our English texts.

Prophecy

(Deut. 33:23)

Naphtali, he said,
O Naphtali! satisfied with favour,
The west and the sunny south do thou possess.

American Revised Version
Naphtali is a hind let loose:
He giveth goodly words.

Fulfillment

1. The name. The name “Naphtali,” which means “wrestling,” owes its selection to the prevailing of Rachel over Bilhah, for the birth of Naphtali, as the second son by proxy (Gen. 30:8).

2. Prophetically, it evidently points to the victory of Zebulun and Naphtali over Jabin, under the leadership of Barak (Judges 4). In the song of Deborah, these tribes receive special commendation (Judg. 5:18).

If we base our exegesis of Gen. 49:21 on the premise of a poetic parallel, the verb “putteth forth,” or “let loose,” would have to do with the “words.” The meaning would then be that he spoke appropriate words freely.

3. Naphtali was granted territory in northern Canaan, east of Zebulun and Asher, and extending east to the Jordan and the sea of Galilee (Josh. 19:32-34).

The Hebrew word (yam) figuratively rendered “west,” (from the Mediterranean sea west of Palestine) means “sea”; hence, the Sea of Galilee on the eastern border. Naphtali extended south of the sea about ten miles.

Jacob dwells with emphasis on the conflicts which these tribes were to undergo (Gen. 49:23, 24); the law-giver looks beyond these, and sees Ephraim and Manasseh triumphant and established in power. The accounts are here rearranged, according to their subject matter.

(Deut. 33:23)

And of Naphtali, he said,
A fruitful bow is Joseph,
A fruitful bow over a fountain,—
Branches creeping over a wall.

1. Name. Joseph means “increaser,” or “added to.” His name was derived from the statement of Rachel, “Jehovah add to me another son” (Gen. 30:24).
PROPHECY

(A literal translation of the Hebrew text.)

*A son of a fruitful tree is Joseph,
A son of a fruitful tree by a fountain.

(Gen. 48:14, 19)

Manasseh was the first-born.

He also shall become a people, and he also shall become great, but nevertheless, his younger brother shall become greater than he, and his seed shall become a filling up of the nations.

(Gen. 48:16)

And may they swarm into a multitude in the midst of the earth.

(FULFILLMENT)

Joseph was the first-born of Rachel, and the eleventh of Jacob. He was the favorite son of Jacob, "because he was the son of his old age" (Gen. 37:3).

2. Numerous posterity of Jacob. Jacob’s fruitfulness is figured in the phrase, "the fountain of Jacob" (Deut. 33:28). The numerous posterity of both Jacob and Joseph are suggested by the phrase, "a fruitful tree by a fountain."

Jacob’s marvelous increase was revealed to him at Luz, in Canaan, before his departure to Egypt (Gen. 48:3, 4). When he entered Egypt, his household numbered about "seventy" (Exo. 1:5; 40:27; Acts 7:14). At the time of the exodus, 215 years later, his posterity numbered "about six hundred thousand" men who were able to bear arms (Exo. 12:37).

3. Posterity of Ephraim and Manasseh.

At the first census, Ephraim numbered 40,500, and Manasseh 32,200 (Num. 1:32-35). After entering Canaan they soon outgrew their allotted land (Josh. 17:14-18), and rapidly swarmed "into a multitude in the midst of the earth."

The tribe of Ephraim, on account of its prominence, was sometimes prophetically used to represent the Northern Kingdom (Isa. 11:13; Ezek. 37:15-29).

4. Jacob adopted his two grandsons, Ephraim and Manasseh, as joint-heirs with his own sons. Their descendants therefore bore the name of "Israel" (Josh. 14:1), and received an inheritance in the land of Canaan (Josh. 17).
PROPHECY

(Gen. 49:23)
So they attack him, and have shot,—
So they enclose him, do the masters of arrows.

(Deut. 33:13-16)
And of Joseph, he said:
Blessed of Jehovah be his land,—
With the precious things of the heavens, with the dew,
And with the abyss crouching beneath;

14.
And with the precious fruits of the sun,—
And with the precious yield of the moons.

And with the chief of the ancient mountains,—
And with the precious things of the age-abiding hills;

16.
And with the precious things of the earth and its fulness.

FULFILLMENT

5. Joseph’s persecution by his brothers.
The favoritism of his father contributed to the envy of his brothers (Gen. 37:3, 4). Because of their thrusts of bitterness, and hatred, Jacob metaphorically designates them, “masters of arrows” (R. V. “archers”). They decreed his murder, but Reuben prevailed in his favor (Gen. 37:18-24); they then cast him into a pit, and later took him out and sold him to an Ishmaelite caravan, “for twenty pieces of silver” (Gen. 37:25-26; comp. 45:4, 5).

6. Return to Canaan foretold.
God revealed to Abraham the return from Egypt (Gen. 15:13, 14). Jacob here reannounced it to Joseph, with emphasis upon the divine leadership (comp. Lev. 18:3; Deut. 32:52). The event is also to be inferred from Jacob’s request that after his death he be buried in the family resting-place, at Machpelah, in Canaan (Gen. 49:28-33).

7. Joseph’s natural inheritance.
The phrase “with the dew,” is explanatory of the phrase, “with the precious things of the heavens.”
The phrase “the abyss couching beneath,” used also by Jacob (Gen. 49:25), is a poetic allusion to the rich springs of the fertile hills (comp. Deut. 8:7).

(1) The phrase “the precious yields of the moons,” completes the poetic parallel, but it also suggests the ingathering of the variety of crops throughout the year.

(2) Jacob referred to this as a “mountain-track” Gen. 49:22). Its fertility is described in Josh. 17. Productive, rolling hills are the most highly favored (Psa. 72:16).
PROPHECY
(Gen. 49:24-26)
But abideth as an enduring one, his bow,
And supple are the arms of his hands,—
From the hands of the Mighty One of Jacob, from thence is the Shepherd, the Stone of Israel.
(American Revised Version)
But his bow abode in strength,
And the arms of his hands were made strong,
By the hands of the Mighty One of
Jacob
From thence is the shepherd, the stone of Israel.
25.
From the God of thy father who hath kept thee,
And God Almighty, who doth bless thee,
Blessings of the heavens above,
Blessings of the abyss, couching beneath,—
Blessings of breasts and wombs.

FULFILLMENT
Joseph arose in triumph above all his persecutors.
Jacob here prophetically points to the Christ, seventeen hundred years hence, as his distinguished descendant.
In keeping with his thought of guidance and permanency, he pictures Christ by the words rendered "Shepherd," and "Stone" (comp. John 10:2; Isa. 8:14, 15; 28:16).

(1) Joseph survived all his afflictions, and God blessed and prospered him. When a famine drove his brothers to Egypt, he became their benefactors
(Gen. 45:1-20).
Here, as in Deut. 33:13, the phrase
"the abyss couching beneath" alludes to the springs of water with which the hills were well supplied (Deut. 8:7).
The phrase "Blessings of breasts and womb," points to the marvelous increase of Joseph's descendants.

(2) Joseph received the parental blessing, and therefore a double inheritance (Gen. 48:22; 1 Chron. 5:2; Josh.
17:14-18). The additional allotment of land included the rich hill country of the Canaanites, with its fine forests and agricultural land.
In his early life he was hated and ostracized by his brothers, but he dedicated his life to the service of God, and lived to reward evil with good.
Prophecy

(Deut. 33:17)

His first-born ox be an honor to him

And the horns of a buffalo be his horns,

“His horns are the horns of the wild-ox.”

With them let him thrust peoples,

All at once to the ends of the earth.

Yea, with these, the myriads of Ephraim,

And with these, the thousands of Manasseh.

Fulfillment

In the parental blessing, Jacob placed Ephraim before Manasseh, “the first-born” of Joseph (Gen. 48:14-20). As the ox is the common emblem of strength, the phrase “His first-born ox” is a metaphorical recognition of Ephraim’s invincible military power (comp. Gen. 49:6; Psa. 22:12; Jer. 46:20; Amos 4:1). “Ephraim is the defense of my head” (Psa. 108:8).

(1) The Hebrew word (reem) here rendered “buffalo,” refers to a roaming, gigantic species of “wild ox,” or “buffalo,” now extinct. It is referred to nine times in the Scriptures, each of which makes special reference to either the strength or horns (Num. 23:22; 24:8; Deut. 33:17; Job. 39:9; 39:10; Psa. 22:21; 29:6; 92:10; Isa. 34:7). This huge animal is described as similar to the elephant in size, and untamable. The auerochs of the old Germans, and the urochs of Caesar (B. G. VI. 28), are fair estimates of this species, in size, strength, horns, and wild characteristics.

(2) Horns are commonly used as prophetic emblems of power (comp. 1 Kings 22:11; Dan. 8:4). That the two “horns” refer to Ephraim and Manasseh, respectively, is made clear in the remainder of the passage. The appropriateness of this military symbol is seen when the sons of Joseph subdued the Canaanites in the rich hill country, and added the territory to their regular allotment (Josh. 16:10; 17:14-17). But obviously it is applicable to the days of Omri, when the Israelite kindreds were in civil conflict for regal supremacy (1 Kings 16).

(3) In the closing statement, Moses presents Ephraim and Manasseh as the interpretation of the two horns. In relative strength, Ephraim is represented as superior to Manasseh, as Jacob...

had predicted nearly three centuries before (Gen. 48:19, 20), and fully verified by the history of the two tribes.

Samuel used a similar statement in presenting the relative strength of the armies of Saul and David (1 Sam. 18:7, 8).

XI—Benjamin (Gen. 49:27; Deut. 33:12.)

Benjamin is a wolf that teareth in pieces,
In the morning he eateth prey,
And at eventide he divideth spoil.

1. Name. Benjamin means “son of the right hand,” i.e., “good fortune.” He was the second son of Rachel, and the youngest of Jacob. He was born near Bethlehem where Rachel was buried, and is the only son born in Canaan. Rachel, in her dying words, named him Ben-oni, meaning, “son of my sorrow.” But Jacob changed his name to Benjamin (Gen. 35:18, 19).

2. His impulsive spirit.

The phrase, “a wolf that teareth in pieces,” points to the combative characteristics of the tribe (comp. 1 Chron. 8:39, 40; Judg. 5:14). In this he resembles Naphtali.

(1) Ex. Benjamin, with 26,000 men, defeated the other tribes with 400,000, in two successive battles, inflicting a casualty of 40,000 men (Judg. 20:21, 25). On the third day, the tribes slew 25,000 Benjaminites, and all but exterminated the tribe (Judg. 20:35). His sons are significantly called “archers,” in 1 Chron. 8:40.

3. Illustrious men of Benjamin.

(1) Ehud, from Benjamin, the second judge over Israel, saved the Israelites from the hands of the Moabites (Judg. 3:15).

(2) Saul, the first king over Israel, and his son Jonathan, were noted warriors of Benjamin, making the prey of many enemies (comp. 1 Sam. 11:6, 7, 11; 14:13, 15, 47, 48).

(3) Mordecai and Esther, from Benjamin, delivered the Jews from destruction, and slew the enemies (Esther 8:7,9,11; 9:5, 6, 15, 16).

(4) Paul, the apostle of Christ, the most militant of his calling, was from Benjamin (Rom. 11:1).

(Deut. 33:12)

Of Benjamin he said,
The beloved of Jehovah shall settle down securely,—
With one to throw a shade over him all the day long,
Yea, between his shoulders hath he found rest.

4. Benjamin was specially beloved of Jacob (Gen. 44:20). Moses predicts no less favor from God himself. The expression “between his shoulders,” is equivalent to on the back (comp. (Deut. 1:31; 1 Sam. 17:6), as a father carrying his son.
5. The tribe of Benjamin joined Judah on the north, with the boundary line through Jerusalem, leaving the temple on the side of Benjamin. The temple was God’s dwelling place (Deut. 12:5, 12; 1 Kings 7:51; Josh. 18:11-20). The adjoining position, and the affiliation with Judah, practically assured protection. During the Babylonian captivity Benjamin gradually became united with Judah, and after the return Benjamin’s distinctive mention ceased.

Deut. 33:17

Yea, with these, the myriads of Ephraim,
And with those, the thousands of Manasseh.

American Revised Version.

And they are the ten thousands of Ephraim,
And the thousands of Manasseh.

1. Name. Manasseh means “causing forgetfulness.” The selection of the name was occasioned by Joseph’s forgetting his toils and afflictions, because of the birth (Gen. 41:51).

“Manasseh . . . the first-born” of Joseph (Gen. 48:14, 18), was born in Egypt.

2. Manasseh and Ephraim were adopted by Jacob, as heirs with his own sons (Gen. 48:15, 16). They were to “grow into a multitude in the midst of the earth” (Gen. 48:16, 18, 19).

Jacob placed Ephraim before Manasseh (Gen. 48:13, 14, 17-20), which rank the descendants of Ephraim retained.

3. Ephraim grew into preeminence over Manasseh.

(1) At the first census in the wilderness, Ephraim numbered 40,500 fighting men, and Manasseh, 32,200 (Num. 1:32-35). At the second census, 38 years later, Ephraim numbered 32,500, and Manasseh 52,700 (Num. 26:34, 37). However, in the history of the tribes, Ephraim was ultimately pre-eminent over Manasseh.

(2) On account of the superiority of Ephraim, the tribe is sometimes named to include both tribes (Psa. 78:67, 68).

4. Inheritance of land.

(1) The half tribe of Manasseh, (together with Reuben and Gad), obtained from Moses a conditional allotment east of the Jordan (Num. 32:1-32; 34:14, 15; Deut. 3:12, 13; 29:8; Josh. 1:12-16; 12:4-6; 18:7; 1 Chron. 5:22, 24). After these three tribes had fulfilled their obligation in the conquest of Canaan, Joshua confirmed the conditional assignment by Moses.
(2) The remaining half-tribe of Manasseh was allotted land north of Ephraim, joining Issachar on the north, in Samaria (Josh. 17:1-13).

(3) It is worthy of note that Ephraim had cities in Manasseh (Josh. 16:9), and Manasseh within Issachar and Asher (Josh. 17:11; comp. 1 Chron. 7:29).

(4) Manasseh failed to expel the Canaanites, and finally put them to tribute (Josh. 17:12, 13; Judg. 1:27, 28).

5. Military eminence.

(1) The eastern half of Manasseh, in conjunction with Reuben and Gad, waged war with the Hagrites and took possession of their country. But they themselves were carried into Exile by Tiglathpileser (1 Chron. 5:18-26).

(2) Gideon, the greatest hero of his day, and a judge over Israel, was from Manasseh (Judg. 6:15; comp. 35; 7:23).

Moses follows Jacob’s prophetic blessings with the following appropriate statement (Gen. 49:28):

All these are the twelve tribes of Israel,—

And this is that which their father spake to them when he blessed them,

Each man severally according to the blessing wherewith he blessed them.

Well, the descendants of Aram, the son of Shem, were healthy chaps. Yes, it is our persuasion that the list of giants in Gen. 14:5-7 and Deut. 2:10-23 are the descendants of Aram. As you will learn later one of their number, whose name was “Og”, had a bedstead of 13 1/2 feet. We hence conclude that Og must have been quite a man to occupy this article.

The Lands of Sojourn and Wandering
—Part One—

THE LAND OF THE SOJOURN . . . EGYPT

Also Called
“The House of Bondage”

As you probably have noted by now, if you have a copy of that splendid book, “A Bible Atlas,” by Jesse Lyman Hurlbut, we are following his outline to a large extent. All credit is hereby given to this source for the material used. We feel that the arrangement in a practical, teachable form is one of the many advantages of the notes we are preparing.

I. The NAMES of the land of the sojourn.

1. Kem. The most ancient name of the land. Found on many of the monuments, evidently the name given by the people themselves to their land.

2. The Land of Ham. Of all the sons of Noah, Ham alone has given a land his name. Note:
Ps. 78:51. “And smote all the first-born in Egypt, the chief of their strength in the tens of HAM.”

Compare this reference with Ps. 105:23 and 106:22. It was called “the land of Ham” because “Mizraim” the son of Ham moved here.

3. Mizraim. This is used in the PLURAL form. It is so used for Egypt more than 80 times. Here is one example and some comparative references.
Gen. 12:10. “Abram went down to Egypt (Mizraim in the original) to sojourn there.” (Gen. 12:11, 13; 14; 13:1.)

It is thought that the plural form of the word was used because the land has always been divided into two parts: the Delta and the Nile valley.

4. Rahab, “the proud, or insolent.” Used poetically. Note Ps. 87:4.
“I will make mention of Rahab (or Egypt) and Babylon as among them that know me . . . ”

Also note Ps. 89:10 and Isa. 51:9. This evidently suggested the character of the Pharaohs who ruled Egypt during the bondage.

5. Egypt. The most modern name given to the land by the Greeks. This name was never used by the inhabitants in ancient times.
As to the extent of the whole land we quote from "Biblical Backgrounds," by McKee Adams, page 480.

"Egypt extends about 675 miles north and south and 500 miles east and west, giving an area of approximately 350,000 square miles. It is estimated that of this area 13,000 square miles are suitable for permanent habitation. The cultivable portion would be slightly less. The present population ranges between 13 and 15 millions."

II. THE DIVISIONS

But, as to the two divisions of the land, here they are:

- Lower Egypt
  - Called the Delta
  - Land of Goshen
  - From two to ten miles wide
  - (Very fertile)

- Upper Egypt
  - Arid Desert
  - River Nile

...
The two divisions of the land are graphically pointed out in the double crown worn by the kings of Egypt. In the earliest history of Egypt the land was divided into “ Nomes.” These were small kingdoms in the land, 36 to 50 in number. Each one had its own king and small domain.

III. THE NILE

Without the Nile Egypt would be but a great, arid desert.

1. The Sources of the Nile.
   The river has its source in the great lakes of Northeastern and Central Africa. A great lake called Victoria Nyanza in Africa is the largest contributor.

2. Tributaries.
   In the southern district called Nubia, there are three streams that flow into the Nile as its main tributaries. These streams are: 1) The Baro, 2) The Blue Nile, and 3) The Atbara. From the place where these tributary rivers empty into the Nile to the mouth of the River is 1500 miles. The Nile flows for these 1500 miles with no further tributary, a mighty flowing stream of water running through a barren desert.

3. Its Mouths.
   There are three mouths to this great river. You have already noted two of them on the previous map (Turn to page 128 and find them.) These two mouths, you will notice, are but the emptying out of the two branches of the river, the Pelusiac and the Canopic. Between the two mouths, there stands a central mouth which cannot be so clearly defined as the two others. This mouth rather “spreads out” into the Mediterranean.

4. The Overflow.
   “The annual overflow of the Nile begins, in Lower Egypt, about the twenty-fifth of June; the river attains its height in three months and remains stationary twelve days at a height of about thirty-six feet above its ordinary level at Thebes, twenty-five feet at Cairo, and four feet at its mouth. This remarkable overflow is due to the heavy rains in Central Africa and, as it brings down new soil, keeps the land always fertile.”

IV. THE PEOPLE

1. Stock.
There seems to be no disagreement in the thought that the Egyptians are of Hamitic stock—descendants of Ham through his son Mizraim. They formed one of the earliest civilizations known.

2. Religion.
We quote from “Historical Geography of Bible Lands,” by John B. Calkin, pages 91-92:
“...The ancient Egyptians were a very religious people. They had splendid temples, the walls of which were covered with sculptures, paintings, and hieroglyphics. The priests were skilled in the learning of their day, and they practiced many mysterious rites. Of their hundreds of gods, Ra, the sun-god, stood highest. He was often represented as a hawk-headed man. Osiris, with his wife Isis and his son Horus, formed a triad of high rank. Set, the author of all evil, was the Egyptian Satan between whom and Osiris was waged eternal warfare. The Egyptians did not worship images. Various animals, however, as bulls, dogs, cats, crocodiles, snakes and insects, especially the scaraboeus, were regarded with great reverence as representatives of the gods, and to kill one of them was a fearful sin. The soul of Osiris was believed to dwell in some bull to be recognized by certain colored spots on the animal. When the sacred bull died, his body was embalmed with much ceremony and placed in his tomb, and search was made for his successor in which the god had taken up his abode. The Egyptians believed in the immortality of the soul and in its reunion with the body. This may explain their practice of embalming the dead. They also believed in a day of judgment when every one should be rewarded according to his deeds. Osiris was the guardian of the dead, and he, with forty-two other gods associated with him as judges, would at the day of judgment determine the final award.”

The Book Of The Dead was a most remarkable feature of the Egyptians’ religion. This curious document, a copy of which was deposited with the mummy in the tomb, contains a funeral ritual comprising a series of prayers to be offered during the embalming process. It gives an account of the experiences of the disembodied soul from the time it enters the spirit-world—all its travels and perils until it falls in with and is reunited to the body; how it is then ferried across the river, enters the Elysian Fields, and stands before Osiris and the solemn conclave of Judges.”
They were intelligent and progressive, far in advance of most people of their time. While kind and hospitable to strangers, they thought themselves superior to other people. They treated their women with great respect. Agriculture was regarded by them as an honorable pursuit, but shepherd life was held in contempt. “They were . . . contemplative and studious, attaining to considerable knowledge, though on narrow lines of research; patriotic, but not fond of war, and therefore rarely conquerors of other nations.” (ibid.)

4. Their Language.
“Their Language was ‘agglutinative monosyllabic,’ with mingled Nigritic and Semitic characteristics.”
“The early written language of the Egyptians was a sort of picture-writing combined with certain characters of symbols, something like a rebus. The Greeks, who could not read this language, called it hieroglyphics or “secret sculpture.” The walls of the temples, the stone monuments, and the tombs were covered with hieroglyphic inscriptions. In course of time the language fell into disuse, and the art of reading it was lost. This picture-writing perplexed the linguists of modern times until they found a key to its meaning in the famous Rosetta Stone, discovered by French soldiers while making excavations near the Rosetta mouth (Canopic) of the Nile. This stone, now in the British Museum, is of black basalt and contains three inscriptions having the same meaning—one in hieroglyphics, one in demotic characters, and a third in Greek. By comparison of the different writings, a clue to the hieroglyphic language was obtained.”—John B. Calkin.

5. Their Government.
The government was very well organized and took in even the smallest matters of daily life.

6. Their Art.
“Massive and somber, imposing from its vastness, but not varied, and therefore giving but little play to genius.” It was only in the first and second dimensions.

7. Their Stature.
“The Egyptians were slender of frame, but strong. Their faces were oval and olive-colored; their hair was long, crisp, and jet-black. They are supposed to be represented today by the present-day Copts.” Ibid.
V. THE HISTORY OF EGYPT

The history of Egypt can be divided into three divisions:

1. Early Empire, from 3500 to 2500 B.C.
2. Middle Empire, from 2500 to 1570 B.C.
3. New Empire, from 1570 to 570 B.C.

Thus each empire lasted about 1000 years. In the year 1800 the land was conquered by foreign princes, who ruled four hundred years, and were known as the Hyksos, or Shepherd Kings. We conclude that it was these Pharaohs who were friendly to Joseph.

There is a very interesting account of the history of Egypt given in the book, "Historical Geography of Bible Lands."

"The sources of ancient Egyptian history are mainly the writings of Herodotus and of Manetho, an Egyptian priest who lived about 250 B.C., the Bible, and the records of the monuments. The early chronology of events is very uncertain and varies greatly with different authorities. According to some writers authentic history goes back to about 5000 B.C. Others, more moderate, prefer to deduct about 2000 years.

The difference is due to the way in which Manetho’s statements respecting the dynasties are understood. This writer classifies the kings under thirty-one dynasties, and gives the length of the period of each, but there is uncertainty as to whether these dynasties were in all cases successive over one united kingdom, or in some instances are to be understood as contemporary over different states in Upper and Lower Egypt. The records of the monuments favor the former view.

Menes, the first historic king, founded Memphis as his capital, and protected it by great dykes from inundations of the Nile. The kings of the fourth dynasty were famous builders. Cheops of this dynasty built the Great Pyramid of Ghizeh.

After a long period, of which the records give but scanty information, Egypt emerges from its obscurity with the twelfth dynasty upon the throne (2300 B.C.). Memphis has now given way to Thebes as the capital. The era of the “Theban kings,” as this period was called, was most illustrious, and Egyptian civilization then reached its highest point. Following this brilliant period is that known as the rule of the Hyksos or Shepherd Kings. Nomadic tribes from Arabia or Syria invaded the country and established their rule over the native Egyptians. They were a barbarous people and did much damage to the monuments of the country's early civilization. Gradually, however, influenced by the people whom they had conquered, they adopted their manners and became more civilized. It was probably during the period of the Shepherd Kings that Joseph was elevated to power at the Egyptian Court, and his father moved to Egypt.

The expulsion of the Hyksos, which took place about 1525-70, was followed by what is known as the New Empire under the eighteenth dynasty. Architecture and learning again flourished, and there was introduced a policy of warfare with Syria and Assyria. Thothmes III, one of the greatest kings of this dynasty, extended his conquests to the Euphrates. By him was built a large part of the great Temple of Karnak at Thebes, and the obelisks were erected which in modern times have been transported to distant cities—Constantinople, Rome, London, and New York.

The rule of the nineteenth dynasty extends over a very brilliant period, in which Set I and Rameses II stood preeminent. They carried on war against the Hittites on the north of Palestine and captured their capital, Carchemish. Records of the exploits of these kings are found on the rocky cliffs of Asia Minor. The Hall of Columns in the Temple of Karnak was built by Set I. This king made for himself the finest of the rock sepulchers. Rameses II, in carrying on his building operations, demolished the works of his predecessors and used the materials for his own structures. His reign, extending over a period of 68 years, was one of the longest in the history of the world. It is supposed that Set I was the king "who knew not Joseph," the Pharaoh of the Oppression, and that Rameses II was the king in whose court Moses was brought up, and that his son Maneptha was the Pharaoh of the Exodus. The mummies of Set I and Rameses II were discovered in 1886 and are now in the museum of Bulak in Cairo.—John B. Calkin.
VI. IMPORTANT PLACES IN EGYPT

1. In Lower Egypt.
   a. Memphis, the ancient capital.
   b. Heliopolis, called in the Bible, On.
   c. Rameses, in the land of Goshen.
   d. Pelusium, at the eastern mouth of the Nile.
   e. Alexandria, in later history the metropolis of Egypt, near the Canopic mouth of the Nile.

2. In Upper Egypt.
   a. Thebes was the most important place, and long the capital of that part of the country.

Here they all are located on a map for you:
Now, here is a map and a chart in which you can fill in all the facts that we have just learned concerning Egypt.

Let’s notice first its situation:
It lies between Egypt and Edom, comprising a great triangle.
Here is the triangle with its three points:
Now, the Natural Features of the land.

This region has two general divisions and three others closely connected. Note:

I. The Table Land.

WILDERNESS of SHUR
Plain and white sand.

WILDERNESS of PARAN
Sterile table land of limestone 2000 to 3000 ft. above sea level.
Rolling plains with a gravel surface.
Springs of impure water.
II. The Sinaitic Mountains

"The names Horeb and Sinai seem to have been used interchangeably, though some consider the former the name of the group, and Sinai a single peak."

The mountains are divided into two great masses, northwest and central. The northwestern group’s highest peak, Jebel Serbal, is 6,759 feet high. The central group is generally denoted by the name “Sinai.” This group was the scene of the giving of the law. Mount Sinai is a scene of terrible beauty and grandeur. Made up of granite, grunstein, and porphyry rock. Rises between 8,000 and 9,000 feet above the sea level. The place of the giving of the law of granite formation.
There are yet three wildernesses to consider. They are:

1. The wilderness of Etham. A narrow plain between the mountains and the western arm of the Red Sea.

2. The wilderness of Sin. A plain opposite the Sinaitic group.

3. The Arabah, or the “Wilderness of Zin.” This is a gorge extending from the Dead Sea to the Gulf of Akabah. Opinion is that the Jordan once flowed through this depression into the Red Sea. Opposite the traditional Mt. Hor the bed is 500 feet above sea level; from this point it slopes northward to the Dead Sea, and southward to the Gulf of Akabah.
III. The People of the Land

The only inhabitants of this region at the time of the wanderings were the Amalekites, who roamed throughout the desert of Paran. Their origin is uncertain. They may have belonged to the same stock as the earliest inhabitants of Canaan (Aram or Canaan) as they were a distinct tribe in the time of Abraham. (Gen. 14). They were bitter enemies of Israel, attacked their rear and destroyed detached companies on their march. (Deut. 25:18). The only pitched battle with the Amalekites took place at Rephidim near Mt. Sinai, where they were defeated by Israel. Long afterward the power of the Amalekites was broken by Saul. (I Sam. 15). Their destruction was completed by David. (I Sam. 27 and 30) Bible Atlas. Part Three

THE LAND OF EDOM

South of the country of the Moabites, the boundary between the two is the brook Zered (Wady el Ahsy), which flows into the lagoon of the Dead Sea.

On the east is the great Arabian Desert, in that section known as the "land of the Temanites."
The Names of the Country

The earliest name and the one used throughout the Bible is "Mt. Seir, the rugged," from its rough, mountainous nature. This was the name given to its earliest inhabitants, "the sons of Seir the Horite." Gen. 36:20.

Afterward it was possessed by the descendants of Esau and called "Edom," meaning "Red" from the "red pottage" for which Esau sold his birthright. The red color of its sandstone mountains aided in fixing the name.

In the New Testament the word received a Greek form and became "Idumea".

At present it is divided into two sections, each having a different name — the section north of Petra being called Jebal, and the one south called "Esh Sherah."

The Natural Features of the Country

A land of mountains. On the west along the Arabah is a line of low limestone hills. Back of these rise higher, rugged rocks surmounted by sandstone of peculiar colors, 2,000 feet high.

The eastern side of the mountains slopes gently away into the Arabian Desert.

Though rough, the land is rich; the hillsides are terraced and have always produced bountifully in vegetation. This seems to fulfill the blessing of Esau in Gen. 27:39-40.

Its capital in the Old Testament period was Bozrah, near its northern border. Later, Sela, the "Petra" of remarkable rock-hewn buildings. Ezion-geber, at the head of the gulf of Akabah was its seaport.

The History of the Country

First settled by the Horites or Horim, these were conquered by the Edomites in the days of Jacob.

The refusal of this people to allow the Israelites to journey through its territory compelled them to make a detour through the land of Moab.
They were beaten by Saul and thoroughly conquered by David. At the division of the kingdom Edom was held by Judah. At the time of Jehoram its people rebelled and although defeated by Judah were able to maintain their independence. They joined the Chaldeans under Nebuchadnezzar in the destruction of Jerusalem, for which the later prophecies and psalms give bitter denunciation.

Part Four
THE ROUTE OF THE EXODUS

Introduction

It might be well, right here, to give a brief outline review of the material covered and an outline also of that which is to come. Notice:

The first five chapters have been entitled:

1. The Old Testament World.
2. The Old Testament World and the Descendants of Noah.
3. Physical Palestine.
4. The Journeys of the Patriarchs.
5. Palestine Before the Conquest.

Do these chapter headings call anything to mind? I hope so. Now, let's notice another outline . . . a Biblical outline.

The Book of Genesis can be divided into the following outline:

I. Creation. Chapters 1 and 2.
II. The Fall. Chapters 3 and 4.
III. The Deluge. Chapters 5 through 9.
IV. The Origin of Nations. Chapters 10 and 11.
V. Abraham. Chapters 12 through 25.
VI. Isaac. Chapters 21 through 36.
VII. Jacob. Chapters 25 through 36.
VIII. Joseph. Chapters 37 through 50.
THE BOOK OF EXODUS

The Book of Exodus describes the events on the FIRST TEN numbers on the following map. Note:

I. Israel in Bondage. 1 and 2.
II. Israel Redeemed. 3 to 15:22.
III. Israel Journeying to Sinai. 15:23 to 19.
IV. Israel Given the Law. 20 to 23.
V. Israel in Worship. 24 to 40.
THE BOOK OF LEVITICUS

This book embraces the period of less than a year of Israel's sojourn at Sinai . . . A book of Laws. Note:

I. Laws Concerning Offerings. (Chapters 1-7)

The Book of Numbers covers the numbers on our chart from 11 through 21. Note:

I. At Sinai. (Chapters 1-9)
II. Sinai to Kadesh. (Chapters 10-19)
III. Kadesh to Moab. (Chapters 20-36)
THE BOOK OF DEUTERONOMY

The name Deuteronomy means "the second giving of the law." This book is concerned with point number 21 on our chart, BUT . . . it involves also ALL the other points. Here on the plains of Moab, Moses arises amidst this mighty people to review in a great sermon the events of Israel since they left the land of Egypt; that sermon is the book of Deuteronomy. Note:

For two months on the plains of Moab, Moses preaches to the people after this wise:

II. Obey — Review of The Law. 5-27.

III. Take Heed — Prophecy of Israel’s Future. 28-34.

Well, well. Here we are finally at the second point in our outline. We were quite a while in our discussion of Rameses and Egypt. But then we must remember that the time spent in Egypt, from the day that the young lad Joseph was sold by his brothers, until that midnight hour of exodus, was no less than 430 years. The events described in the preceding chapters (Gen. 37 to Ex. 12) covered these many years in Egypt.

But let's get out of the rut.

What I mean is, let's break the pattern of just straight questions and answers. How about a bit of variety in the form? Well, we must be at it, then. Now, concerning the first stop out of Egypt:

True or False

1. There were 600,000 persons altogether who left Egypt.
2. Exodus explicitly states that the children of Israel were in Egypt 430 years.
3. No foreigner, circumcised or not, could eat of the passover.
4. Not a bone of the lamb was to be broken; this was a specific part of the observance of the passover.
5. It was the month of "alib" according to the Hebrew calendar when they came out of Egypt.
6. The seven days of unleaven bread was a separate feast from the passover.
7. Every first-born son was to belong to Jehovah and had to be "redeemed" with a lamb.
8. The children of Israel had no weapons with them when they came out of Egypt.
9. God did not take them straight across the wilderness for He knew they would die on the march.
10. Moses kept a 400 year old promise to Joseph when they left Egypt.

5. At Marah. Exo. 15:22-26.

Can you find the five mistakes in the following sentences? Moses led the children of Israel in the most direct route that led to Canaan, immediately after they crossed the Red Sea. After three days' journey down alongside the Gulf of Suez, they came to Marah. The name "Marah" means "thirst." When they arrived here they had already been three days on the trip. The people began to complain against Jehovah and to blame Him for their plight. Moses cried unto Jehovah and God told him to smite the waters with his rod and they would be made sweet. Here it was that Moses called the Israelites' attention to the ten commandments. Moses warned the people that disobedience might bring diseases upon them.

THE LAW IN DETAIL
Exo. 20:18 — 24:18.

These laws were given to govern the behaviour of these many people. Out of this book of the law were the people judged.

—— You Be The Judge ——

Here are some problems that could have arisen; will you look into “the book of the law” and render a fair judgment?

Problem Number One: A Hebrew, by the name of Dan, bought a slave from one of his brothers. The slave served the allotted six years; but during that time he married, with the help and encouragement of his master, the niece of his master. They had three children. Now he wishes to leave but the master says the wife and children belong to him and that he must leave by himself. What is to be done?
Problem Number Two: A young woman comes with a complaint. She states that fifteen years ago she was sold as a slave to a certain Hebrew. He treated her very well all those years and they have had two children, but now he is interested in a younger woman. He is interested to such an extent that he spends not only all his time with her but also all his money on her, and that now his former wife has very few clothes for herself and the children, and sometimes not enough to eat. What saith the law?

Problem Number Three: While securing lumber for the building of the tabernacle, a workman felled a tree which fell on another workman and killed him. The man who was killed had a brother working in the crew and he swears that he has the right to avenge the blood of his brother. Has he? If so, what is to be done?

Problem Number Four: A young Hebrew girl was kidnapped last month. Her abductor has been captured in Edom. He is being brought back for trial. What is his punishment?

Problem Number Five: Here appear four brothers who all state that they caught their sister cursing their mother. What is to be done?

Problem Number Six: Two sons of Israel got into a brawl and one of them was beaten so badly that the doctor reports he will be off work for at least six weeks and may lose the sight of one eye. What is to be done?

Problem Number Seven: Here are three servants who have come on behalf of a fellow servant. This servant was beaten so severely by his master that he lingered between life and death for seven days and then finally died. They want their master punished.

Problem Number Eight: An ox has gored three persons. This time the young man died as a result. The man had been warned before about his dangerous animal and this time the father of the young man demands the maximum penalty. What is it?

Problem Number Nine: A man startled out of his sleep one night saw someone in his tent. He reached under his pillow and took hold of his sword and almost before he knew it, he had run the intruder through and he lay dead on the tent floor. What is to be done?
Problem Number Ten: A man comes to say that he had borrowed his neighbor's ox and it had fallen sick while with him, and finally died. What shall be done?

These are just TEN problems of the many, many that could be brought to our attention from these chapters. Read them. On these laws and their principles, our Constitution is built.

____ 7. Did God speak to Moses just as a man speaks with a friend?

____ 8. Was Moses completely satisfied with Jehovah's leadership and presence?

____ 9. Did Jehovah say that it was of his own choice whether he would show Moses his glory?

____ 10. Since God is a Spirit did Moses look upon any part of God?
11. Would you swear that God is a Spirit and therefore Moses never looked upon any part of God?

Under what conditions were the following words spoken?

1. . . . be ready in the morning, and come up in the morning unto the Mount Sinai, and present thyself there to me. . . .
2. And proclaimed, Jehovah, Jehovah, a God merciful and generous, slow to anger, and abundant in lovingkindness and truth.
3. . . . let the Lord I pray thee go in the midst of us; for it is a stiff-necked people;
4. Take heed to thyself, lest thou make a covenant with the inhabitants of the land whither thou goest.
5. . . . but ye shall break down their altars, and dash in pieces their pillars, and ye shall cut down their Asherim.
6. . . . and if thou wilt not redeem it, then shalt thou break its neck.
7. Three times in the year shall all thy males appear before the Lord Jehovah, the God in Israel.
8. Thou shalt not boil a kid in its mother’s milk.
9. And Moses called unto them; and Aaron and all the rulers of the congregation returned unto him.

THE CONSTRUCTION OF THE TABERNACLE
Exo. 35:1 — 40:38.

“When Moses came down from the mountain the first time, the people were so engrossed with the calf worship that they were in no condition to hear about the Tabernacle; but now, this second time he returns to them, they seem to be wholly prepared. So Moses gathers them round him to tell the wonderful news that God is coming down to dwell among them in a tent or Tabernacle which they are to build for Him.

He tells them at the very outset (35:4-5) that he wants only the willinghearted to contribute to the building, just as God would have only the willinghearted to contribute now to the upbuilding of His dwelling place, the church.
Did you notice this about the offerings, that everyone brought just what he or she happened to have. (35:23-27) The rulers who had precious stones brought them. The men who had only wood brought that. Those who had ram skins or badger skins brought them, and the women brought linen and stuff which they had spun. It is as though they had gone to their tents and taken an inventory of their belongings, and had given whatever could be used by the Lord. We do not hear of any, because they had no costly precious stones, refusing to contribute the piece of acacia wood or fine linen which they did have, and the wood and the linen were just as necessary as the precious stones.

II. The Actual Construction of The Tabernacle. Exo. 36:1 — 39:43. As they go on with the work, we do not read of Moses having to preach any sermons on the duty of giving in order to stir the people to liberality. Neither do we read of them getting up any bazaars or entertainments (bean suppers) to raise the necessary funds. Nor do we read of any subscription paper passed around among the Amalekites, or other heathen tribes, asking them to contribute; and there is no mention of a Tabernacle debt. On the contrary, the gifts came in in such abundance that it became necessary for Moses to send out a command that no more offerings must be brought, and the people were restrained from giving. (36:5-7) Imagine it.

III. The Setting Up of The Tabernacle and The Coming of God’s Presence. Exo. 40:1-38. When the workmen had finished, they brought everything to Moses (39:32-43); and Moses set up the Tabernacle just a year after they started from Egypt. (40:17) He carefully set up every piece as directed, each article of furniture in its exact place: God came down and filled the Tabernacle with His glory (40:34-35) He has kept His word given in Exodus 25:8, and from this time on He will speak to them, not from the fiery Mount Sinai, but from the Tabernacle, from between the Cherubim above the Mercy Seat.”

THE BOOK OF LEVITICUS

Since the book of Leviticus is a book of laws and this is a study in history and geography, we will but give an outline of the book of Leviticus. We take our outline from the “Studies in Leviticus” as arranged by Grace Saxe; the material above was also obtained from this source.
I. The Name.
Leviticus is called the book of the Laws because it is the setting forth of the laws which were to govern the priests in the Tabernacle service and their care of the people materially and spiritually.

II. The Writer. Moses received these laws from God and wrote them down for the people. Read Leviticus 1:1 and 7:34.

Christ explicitly ascribes the Pentateuch to Moses in Luke 24:44. In this passage Christ speaks of the three parts into which the Jews divided the Old Testament, viz: "The Law," "The Prophets," and "The Psalms" and explicitly states it is the law of MOSES. See also how Christ referred to Moses as the writer of Leviticus by comparing Matthew 8:2-4 with Leviticus 14:1-4.

III. Time Covered. Moses received these laws from God at Sinai shortly after the Tabernacle was erected. Compare Exodus 40:17, Leviticus 1:1 and Numbers 1:1. Therefore the date of Leviticus must be somewhere near 1500

IV. The Structure. Look at the chart given and observe two things.

First. Leviticus has 27 chapters. Each numbered space represents a chapter.

Second. The laws in Leviticus are numerous and varied but all are grouped around, and treat, of a few great subjects. The subjects are as follows and are called the seven great laws of Leviticus:

1. The Law of the Offerings........................................Chapters 1-7
2. The Law of the Priests' Consecration..........................Chapters 8-10
3. The Law of the Clean and Unclean..............................Chapters 11-15
4. The Law of Atonement.............................................Chapters 16-17
5. The Law of Relationships and Walk.............................Chapters 18-22
6. The Law of Feasts..................................................Chapters 23-24
7. The Law of Years — (Sabbatic and Jubilee)...............Chapters 25-27

V. The Key Word of Leviticus is Holiness. It occurs over 80 times.

VI. The Key Verse of Leviticus is 19:2."
THE BOOK OF NUMBERS

I. The Name.
Numbers derives its name from the fact that it records the enumeration of Israel. We also call it the "Book of Journeyings," because it gives an account of Israel's wilderness journeyings from Sinai to Moab.

II. The Writer.
Moses was the human writer of this book. See Numbers 1:1.

III. The Structure.
Look at the chart given below and observe the following:
1) Numbers has thirty-six chapters. Each numbered space on the chart represents a chapter.

2) The book falls into three great divisions when considered geographically. That is, as the many laws of Leviticus were grouped around a few great subjects, so the many journeyings of Numbers may be grouped around three geographical points, as indicated on the chart, viz:

   At Sinai .......................................................... Chapters 1-10.

   From Sinai to Kadesh................................. Chapters 11-19.

   From Kadesh to Moab................................. Chapters 20-36.

   NUMBERS - The book of journeyings

IV. Time Covered.
The book of Numbers covers a period of about thirty-eight years. Compare Numbers 1:1 and 33:38.

V. Historically.
Numbers takes up where Exodus left off." (ibid.)
VI. The Content of the Book of Numbers.

At Sinai. Chapters 1-10

1. On the first day of the first month of the second year after the departure from Egypt, the tabernacle having been erected and it and the priests consecrated, Moses is commanded to make a census or enumeration of the people. The Levites, who were appointed to watch over, guard, pitch, and carry the tabernacle and its furniture were not included in this census.

2. Moses is commanded to form the vast mass of people into a regular camp; each tribe by itself and under its own captain or chief, known by its proper standard, and occupying an assigned place in reference to the tabernacle.

3. He is commanded to separate the Levites unto the service of the tabernacle in lieu of the first-born of every family as God had previously chosen. With the selection of the Levites and their families the sum amounted to 22,273 people.

4. Each male from the Levite tribe is appointed for service in the tabernacle in a variety of offices. He is to serve from the age of thirty years until he is fifty years of age, after which he was excused from further service.

5. When these points were settled, God commands them to purify the camp by the expulsion of every unclean person, and He establishes the trial of the suspected adulteress by the waters of jealousy.

6. He next institutes the laws relative to Nazarites; and lays down the form according to which the people shall be blessed.

7. A particular account of the offerings made to the tabernacle by the princes, or chiefs of the twelve tribes, and the amount of those offerings then follows.

8. When this work was finished, the Levites were consecrated to their respective services, and the duration of the service of each ascertained.

9. The passover is commanded to be kept, and the first one is celebrated in the wilderness on the 14th day of the first month of the second year after their departure from Egypt.

10. Moses is commanded to make two silver trumpets. He is informed as to their use and in what order the different tribes shall march with the ceremonies at fixing and removing the tabernacle and the departure of the people from the wilderness of Sinai on the twentieth day of the second month of the second year of their exodus from Egypt.
From Sinai to Kadesh-barnea. Chapters 11-19.

True or False?

1. Kadesh is in the wilderness of Shur.
2. All twelve spies were “princes.”
3. Joshua’s other name was Hoshea.
4. The spies were to bring a report on the condition of two things — the land and the people.
5. The spies went to the northernmost extremity of the promised land.
6. The children of Anak were descendants of Canaan.
7. The journey lasted forty days.
8. Joshua said that the land was well fortified but that Israel was well able to take possession of it.
9. Caleb stated that the Nephilim thought them to be grasshoppers, and that they themselves felt that way.
10. The report of the ten was believed above that of the two.
11. Many wanted to return to Egypt and they made preparations to do so.
12. Joshua and Caleb said that through trust in Jehovah the people of the land would be “bread” for Israel.
13. Jehovah stated that He was completely through with Israel and Moses.
14. Jehovah did not pardon this people.
15. This people “tempted Jehovah ten times.”
16. Not one of the children of Israel that crossed the Red Sea, with the exception of Caleb and Joshua, entered the land of Canaan.
17. God pronounced the forty years wandering according to the forty days of spying.
18. The eight men that brought back the evil report were stoned.
19. Their attempt at entering the promised land was accompanied by the ark; but in spite of this they were unable to enter.
20. The Amalekite and the Canaanite beat down the Israelites at Hormah.

(Covering the period of the 38 years of wandering.)

The twelve unknown stations are listed in Numbers 33:18-38. These are the places at which they stopped during the thirty-eight years of wanderings. Nothing is known as to what happened at these places; however, the following facts are given concerning this period of time:
1. A number of ordinances and directions are given relative to the manner of conducting the worship of God in the promised land; different laws are repeated, and a Sabbath-breaker stoned to death. Chapter 15.
2. Korah, Dathan, Abiram, and their associates form an insurrection against Moses and they are swallowed up by an earthquake; the congregation murmurs, and 14,700 of them are cut off. Chapter 16.
3. As a proof that God has called Aaron and his family to the priesthood, his rod, or staff, buds and miraculously brings forth blossoms and fruit, and is commanded to be laid up before the testimony. Chapter 17.
4. The charges of the priests and Levites, and the portions they were to have of the Lord's offerings for their support in the work. Chapter 18.
5. The ordinances of the RED HEIFER; the WATER OF PURIFICATION, and its uses. Chapter 19.

Now, a few questions on these chapters.

In the case of the man gathering sticks on the Sabbath.

1. Where were the children of Israel when they found this man?
2. Why put him in ward?
3. Why did all the congregation stone the man?
The Case of Korah and His Company.

1. Who did Korah secure to follow him?
2. What objection to Moses did Korah have?
3. What was Moses’ response to Korah’s rebellion?
4. Why the proposal of Moses concerning the censers?
5. What sarcasm did Moses use against Korah and his company?
6. Why did Jehovah suggest that He would destroy the whole congregation?
7. Why the unusual death of these three?
8. Where were the guilty ones when they were swallowed up?
9. Where were the two hundred and fifty when they were devoured by fire?
10. What happened to the remains of the censers of the false priests? Why?
11. Why the death of the 14,000 and 700?
12. How was the plague stayed?

Aaron’s Rod That Budded.

1. Why confirm Aaron as the high priest just at this time?
2. Why write the names on the rods?
3. What tribe did Aaron’s rod represent?
4. Of what kind of tree was Aaron’s rod taken?
5. What real fear came upon the children of Israel?

This, the sixteenth station, was the last one in the thirty-eight years of wanderings. No incident is recorded for this place. This place is the consumation of the wanderings.

From Moserah they traveled down the Akaba to this station from which they could start on their journey toward the promised land.

1. Locate on the map the wilderness of Zin. Note the route taken.
2. Who was buried at Kadesh?
3. What caused the contention at Kadesh?
4. What “brethren” is referred to in verse 3?
5. What is meant by “the glory of Jehovah”?
6. What “rod” did Moses take?
7. What did Jehovah mean by “to sanctify me in the eyes of Israel”?
8. Was this punishment too severe?
9. How could Edom be a brother to Israel?
10. Why say an “angel” brought them out of the land of Egypt?
11. How could it be said that Kadesh was on the uttermost part of Edom?
12. What was “the king’s highway”?
13. What stopped all efforts to go through Edom?

This is the point from which they started on their march around Edom into Canaan.

Fill In The Blanks

1. “And Jehovah spake unto Moses and Aaron in Mount Hor, by the border of the land of ____________________________.”
2. “... for he shall not enter into the land which I have given unto the children of Israel, because ye __________________ against my word at the water of ____________________________.”
3. “... strip Aaron of his garments, and put them on __________________ his ____________________________.”
4. “And when all the congregation saw that Aaron was ______________ they ______________ for Aaron ______________ day, even all the house of Israel.”
While they were at Mount Hor preparing to go down to Ezion-geber, the incident with "the Canaanite, the king of Arad," took place. (According to my chronology of events) Numbers 21:1-3, compare 33:39-40.

Can You Match These Thoughts?

...... 1. "Who dwelt in the south"
...... 2. "Came by the way of the spies."
...... 3. "Took some captive"
...... 4. "I will utterly devote their cities."
...... 5. "The name of the place was called Hormah."

1. The way in which Arad heard the Israelites were coming.
2. The promise of Israel if Jehovah would give them the victory.
3. What Arad did in battle.
4. Where Israel defeated the Canaanite.
5. The home of Arad.

We conclude that the fiery serpents came into the camp at this place.

True or False?

1. The people were impatient because of the territory through which they were traveling.
2. These people spoke not only against Moses but also against God.
3. They liked the diet of manna but they wanted something else.
4. The snakes were sent by God.
5. Not very many died of the serpents' bites.
6. The people confessed their two-fold sin.
7. The snake made of iron was to be put on a standard of brass.
8. The serpent on the standard was an answer to prayer.
9. They were to "look and live."
10. This serpent of brass is spoken of in the New Testament.

There are a number of stations between Elath and this place. They are as follows:

1) Oboth.
2) Iyeabarim.
3) Valley of Zered.
4) The other side of the Arnon.
5) Beer.
6) Mattanah.
7) Nahaliel.
8) Bamoth.
9) To the valley that is the field of Moab.

Here in the valley of Moab, Moses delivered to the people the message that we now have as the book of Deuteronomy. We have already pointed this out and have given an outline of the book.

From his book, BIBLICAL ANALYSIS
EGYPT

INTRODUCTION

1. The name. Egypt, from the Hebrew word Mizraim, is derived from Mizraim, the son of Ham (Gen. 10:6), and is therefore sometimes called "the land of Ham" (Psa. 78:51; 105:23; 106:22).

2. Location. Egypt lies in the North East of Africa, embracing the Nile valley. Its ancient and modern boundaries are practically the same.

3. On account of the prominence of Egypt in Biblical history, Bible study presupposes the major facts concerning the land and its people. Palestine alone surpasses it in importance.

I—THE FAME OF EGYPT

1. Famous as a land of sojourn and refuge.

(1) Abraham sojourned in Egypt a few years after his call (Gen. 12:10 to 13:1).

(2) In 1706 B.C., about 215 years after the call of Abraham, Jacob and about 70 of his kindred sought refuge in Egypt from the severe famine in Canaan (Gen. 46:1-27; Acts 7:11-15).

(3) Egypt was divinely selected as a place of refuge for our Lord and Joseph and Mary, from the wrath of Herod the Great (Matt. 2:1-23).

2. Famous for superior learning and civilization.

(1) For 40 years Moses was essentially an Egyptian, having been reared in the king's court, by the king's daughter (Ex 2). Stephen therefore says, "Moses was instructed in all the wisdom of the Egyptians; and he was mighty in words and works" (Acts 7:22).

(2) In comparing the wisdom of Solomon, the cultural attainments of Egypt merited a comparison: "Solomon's wisdom excelled the wisdom of all the children of the east, and all the wisdom of Egypt" (1 Kings 4:30).

(3) In B.C. 332 Alexander the Great subdued Egypt, and founded Alexandria which still bears his name. The Alexandrian School of Philosophy was soon afterward founded, and flourished until about B.C. 100. Ptolemy Philadelphus (B.C. 285-247), the successor of Ptolemy Soter (B.C. 320-285), founded the great Alexandrian library—a magnificent collection of books from all nations. At his request, the Hebrew Old Testament was translated into the Greek language, known as "The Septuagint Greek Version" (about B.C. 285-280).

3. Famous for the line of kings.

Egypt has the longest line of kings in the history of nations. Its history falls into three periods:

(1) The Old Empire, from unknown antiquity to B.C. 2100.

(2) The Middle or Hyksos Empire, 2100-1650.

(3) The New Empire, B.C. 1650-525. From the expulsion of the Hyksos to the absorption of Egypt by the Persian Empire.

During the first period, the tribes of lower Egypt were consolidated under Menes, with Memphis as the capital of the first of thirty-one dynasties.

4. Famous for mineral wealth, and fertility of soil. The overflow of the Nile practically assured good crops, and thereby made Egypt the benefactor of the world.
II—REMARKABLE PREDICTIONS CONCERNING EGYPT, AND THEIR FULFILLMENT

1. Forecast of the decline and fall of Egypt (Isa. 19; Jer. 43:8-13; 44:30; 46; Ezek. 29 to 32).

With the natural advantages and resources of Egypt, these predictions would seem most unreasonable.

(1) The reasons for the fall may be summarized as follows:
(a) Indifference toward Jehovah (Ezek. 30:8, 26).
(b) "Pride in her power" (Ezek. 30:18; 29:3, 9).
(c) Persecution of Israel (Ex 1:8-22; Gen. 15:14).
(d) Plundering Jerusalem (1 Kings 14:25).
(e) Spirit of oppression (Ezek. 32:2; comp. Isa. 34:8).

(2) The destruction was to begin with an invasion by Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon (Ezek. 29:1-20).

Prediction

(a) Ezek. 29:19, 20. "Therefore, thus saith the Lord Jehovah: behold I will give the land of Egypt unto Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon; and he shall carry off the multitude, and take her spoil and take her prey; and it shall be the wages of his army. 20. I have given him the land of Egypt as his recompense for which he served, because they wrought for me, saith the Lord Jehovah."

(b) Egypt was to be made desolate for 40 years (Ezek. 29:10-12).

Fulfillment

In speaking of Nebuchadnezzar, Josephus says: "having settled the affairs of Egypt, and the other countries, as also those that concerned the captive Jews, and Phoenicians, the Syrians, and those of the Egyptian nations, and having committed the conveyance of them to Babylon to certain of his friends, together with the gross of his army, and the rest of their ammunition and provisions, he went himself hastily, accompanied by a few others, over the desert, and came to Babylon."

In the same context, Josephus adds: "He adorned the temple of Belus, and the rest of the temples, in a magnificent manner, with the spoils he had taken in the war."

(b) Nebuchadnezzar reigned over Babylon 43 years (Ant. XI. I.). Early in his reign he began to conquest Egypt, and after overthrowing it, oppression continued 40 years, until the subjugation of Babylon by Cyrus, B. C. 536 (Ant. X. XI. and XI. I. 1-3).

(c) Ezek. 30:13. "I will also destroy the idols, and will cause the images to cease from Memphis" (the ancient capital). This prediction is elaborated in Jer. 43-45.
FULFILLMENT: This was literally fulfilled when Nebuchadnezzar overthrew Egypt, in the same general conquest in which he subdued Judah.

(d) Ezek. 29:15. Egypt “shall be the basest of the kingdoms; neither shall it any more lift itself up above the nations: and I will diminish them that they shall no more rule over the nations.” (compare vs. 8-16.)

FULFILLMENT: This prophecy refers to the restoration of the Egyptians from captivity, as the beginning of fulfillment. Since that time, Egypt has been subjugated to the Greeks, Romans, Sacacens, Mamelukes, and the Turks, and the present ruler is subject to Great Britain.

(e) Ezek. 30:14-19. The cities of Egypt were to be made desolate.

FULFILLMENT: With the exception of Rosetta and Damietta, the ancient towns of lower Egypt are known only from records.

(f) Ezek. 30:13 “There shall be no more a prince from the land of Egypt.”

FULFILLMENT: Egypt has had the longest list of kings in the history of the world. But beginning with the Persian conquest, B.C. 346, Egypt has been a subjective nation. (See under “d” preceding.)

III—PREDICTIONS OF A SPIRITUAL RESTORATION OF EGYPT

1. Judah was to become a spiritual benefactor of Egypt (Isa. 19:18-25).

FULFILLMENT: Under Ptolemy Philadelphus (B.C. 285-247), the Jews were favored, and within a short time the dominant population of Alexandria was Hebrew. Under Ptolemy the Hebrew Scriptures were translated into Greek, and placed in the library at Alexandria. Thus we find the Hebrews “language of Canaan” spoken in Egypt (Isa. 19:18), and “an altar of Jehovah in the midst of the land of Egypt” (v. 19).

1. Isa. 19:23. “The Assyrian shall come into Egypt, and the Egyptians into Assyria; and the Egyptians shall worship with the Assyrians.”

FULFILLMENT: The building of highways brought Egypt and Assyria into closer relations. But their meeting on common ground of Christian fellowship is unmistakably implied in the passage.

Before the middle of the first century an Ethiopian visited Jerusalem and returned home with the Gospel news (Acts 8:23-25).

Among others, Mark carried the Gospel to Egypt and established churches in the capital city. Eusebius says:

“The same Mark, they also say, being the first that was sent to Egypt, proclaimed the Gospel there which he had written, and first established churches in the city of Alexandria.” (Eccl. Hist. 11. XVI. p. 53.)

The evangelists of the early church carried the Gospel into Assyria. Before the close of the first century, a common spiritual interest grew up between Assyria and Egypt.
THE BONDAGE OF ISRAEL IN EGYPT

INTRODUCTION

The Egyptian bondage supplies an interpretation of previous predictions by way of fulfillment, and forms an essential background for the study of later history. Its value in Bible study is both historic and chronological.

I—ANALYSIS OF PREDICTIVE LANGUAGE

Predictions

1. (Gen. 15:13.) "And he (God) said unto Abraham, know of a surety that Thy Seed shall sojourn in a land that is not theirs, and shall serve them; and they shall afflict them four hundred years."

2. (Gen. 15:14.) "That nation whom they serve will I judge."

3. (Gen. 15:16.) "And in the fourth generation they shall come hither again;"

4. The actual time of the sojourn in Egypt was 215 years.

The statements of time are placed in parallel, with their related facts, that their harmony may be readily seen.
Predictions

(1) (Gen. 15:13.) "Thy seed shall sojourn in a land that is not theirs, and shall serve them; and they shall afflict them 400 YEARS."

Note: This language was spoken 24 years after Abraham was called from the Ur of the Chaldees (Gen. 12:4; 17:1).

24 years deducted from 430 years would leave 406, at the time when God spoke the language in Gen. 15:13. It would therefore very naturally be spoken of in round numbers as "400 years."

(2) Between the "promises spoken" (Gal. 3:16, 17), and the migration into Egypt, 215 years of the 430 period expired, leaving only 215 years for the time in Egypt.

Gen. 12: 4, Abraham's age when called...75, leaving 430
Gen. 21: 5, Abraham's age when Isaac was born...100, leaving 405
Gen. 22:20, Isaac's age when he married Rebekah...40, leaving 365
Gen. 25:26, Isaac's age when Jacob was born...60, leaving 345
Gen. 47: 9, Jacob's age when he arrived in Egypt...130, leaving 215

(a) Josephus (born A. D. 37) says: "They left Egypt in the month Xanthicus (April), on the fifteenth day of the lunar month; 430 years after our forefathers came into Canaan, but 215 years only after Jacob removed into Egypt" (Ant. II. XV. 2).

(b) Hippolytus, a Christian writer of the third century A. D., says: "The entire period during which Abraham sojourned and the entire family descended from him by Isaac, in the country then called Canaanites, was 215 years." ("Refutation of all Heresies," Book X, Chap. XXVI.)

5. The duration of the period of actual bondage in Egypt was necessarily less than 122 years, of the sojourn of 215 years.

(1) According to Josephus, when Joseph entered Egypt, "he was now 17 years old" (Ant. II. III. 3).

(2) Joseph lived 93 years in Egypt, where he died at the age of 110 (Gen. 50:26). At his death, there were yet only 122 years to be spent in Egypt. But between the death of Joseph and the beginning of the bondage, was an indeterminable period ending with, "a new king over Egypt, who knew not Joseph" (Exo. 1:8; comp. vs. 9-22; Acts 7:18). The duration of the bondage was therefore 122 years, less this unknown intervening period. The bondage is generally believed to have been about 100 years.

II—DIVINE WISDOM IN PERMITTING THE BONDAGE

1. The Israelites were spared through the famine in Canaan (Gen. 45:5; Acts 7:11, 12).

2. It permitted Israel to become a great nation (Gen. 46:3; comp. Exo. 1:7; 12:37, 38).

3. It saved Israel from the corrupting influences of the Canaanites (Lev. 18:1-30).
   (1) The expulsion of the seven nations was a just judgment for their iniquity (Deut. 7:1; Lev. 18:1-30; Gen. 15:16).

4. It provided a needed experience and training in the acceptance of the Jehovah God.

CONCLUSION

1. From the call of Abraham to the giving of the law at Sinai was 430 years (Gal. 3:16, 17).

2. The migration into Egypt was 215 years after the call of Abraham, thus allowing only 215 years in Egypt.

3. The actual bondage was begun under "a new king who knew not Joseph," whose reign was some time after Joseph's death. The unrevealed time between the death of Joseph and the reign of this "new king," deducted from 122 years, is the actual length of the bondage. It is generally conceded to have been about 100 years.

4. The predictions concerning Egyptian bondage confirm the divine plan and purpose.

5. The Egyptian bondage served as a training school for the development of a great nation.
THE PROGRESSIVE DEVELOPMENT OF THE ATONEMENT

Rom. 5:12. "Through one man sin entered into the world, and death through sin; and so death passed unto all men, for that all sinned."

Deut. 12:23. "The blood is the life."

Heb. 9:22. "Apart from the shedding of blood there is no remission."

Heb. 10:1, 2. "The law having a shadow of good things to come, and not the very image of things, can never with the same sacrifices year by year, which they offer continually, make perfect them that draw nigh. 2. Else would they not have ceased to be offered? Because the worshipers, having been once cleaned, would have had no more consciousness of sins. 3. But in those sacrifices there is a remembrance made of sins year by year."

1 Cor. 15:3. "Christ died for our sins according to the Scriptures."

Rom. 7:4, 6. "Ye were made dead to the law through the body of Christ. 6. But now we have been discharged from the law."

Rev. 1:5. "Unto him that loved us and loosed us from our sins by his blood."

1 John 1:7. "The blood of Jesus his son cleanseth us from all sin."

Heb. 10:17, 18. "Their sins and their iniquities will I remember no more. 18. Now where remission of these is, there is no more offering for sin."

INTRODUCTION

The introduction of sin in the world changed human existing relations with God, forfeited the right of life, and thereby occasioned a mediatorial system of divine government. Our primitive parents evidenced their sense of guilt in an attempt to hide from justice; but their futile efforts merely demonstrated the Omnipotence of God, and called forth the revelation of a day of reckoning (Gen. 3:8,9).

In order that the law might be honored, justice satisfied, and life continued, the condemnation (curse) of the law was of necessity and legally transferred to an innocent victim, to be slain in behalf of man (comp. Lev. 16:20-28). In order that the system might progress through successive stages of development, it was designed to be co-existent with the effects of sin, until the final triumph in a perfect atonement. These premises point to Eden as the place of beginning, which is also inferred from the Scriptures, in that Abel's offering "of the firstlings of his flock," availed with God, as "a more excellent sacrifice" than "the fruit of the ground" as offered by Cain (Gen. 4:3; Heb. 11:4).

Every victim placed on the altar was a silent confession of guilt, and prefigured redemption. Temporal sacrifices merely postponed the day of settlement; the demand of the law could be satisfied only by a perfect atonement (Deut. 18:13), but "the law made nothing perfect" (Heb. 7:19; comp. 10:1-4; 7:11, 12). Throughout the progressive stages of development, the typical view of "eternal redemption" came more and more into prominence, until John the harbinger publicly introduced Jesus as "the Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world" (John 1:29, 36; comp. Heb. 9:23-28; 4:14, 15; 2:14, 15; Rev. 13:8). He exemplified the perfection demanded in the law (John 8:46), and assumed the debt legally charged against mankind before the bar of justice (Isa. 53:3-9). Paul therefore expresses it, "Christ redeemed us from the curse of the law, having become a curse for us; for it is written, Cursed is every one that hangeth on a tree" (Gal. 3:13). The completion of atonement through Him is assured in the language, "We have been sanctified through the offering of the body of Jesus Christ once for all" (Heb. 10:10). "He hath perfected forever them that are sanctified" (Heb. 10:14).

As the chosen race witnessed the completion of the remedial system, with its altar, sacrifice and priesthood, culminating in one Divine Being, they were thereby prepared to acknowledge Jesus as "The Christ, the Son of the living God," and to "receive the adoption of sons" in the kingdom of the redeemed (comp. Matt. 16:16; Gal. 4:4,5; 3:28-29). In triumph, they could say, "But now we have been discharged from the law" (Rom. 7:6).

We are now prepared to follow the altar, the sacrifice, and the priesthood, from their inception to the climax of redemption.

I—THE ALTAR OF BURNT OFFERINGS AND THE SANCTUARY

Patriarchs Before the Law of Moses

The altar was the center of intercession in the family system of religion of the patriarchs. It prefigured the great national altar, and ultimately the final spiritual altar which is Christ.

1. Altar. Of divine appointment (Gen. 35:1), therefore "unto Jehovah" (Gen. 8:20; 12:7, 8).

Its frequency indicates the unrecorded instruction to build it. It is mentioned in the following other passages: (Gen. 13:4,18; 22:9; 26:25; 33:20; 35:3; 37:7; Exo. 17:15).

Children of Israel Under the Law of Moses

The Hebrew national altar was the center of national intercession, and prefigured a perfect spiritual altar—Christ, thru whom all penalty for sin would be cancelled. Its position in connection with the sanctuary associates intercession with worship (comp. 2 Sam. 24:25).

1. Altar. Of divine appointment (Exo. 24:24, 25). Its service was merely enlarged from that of the family altar.

It was the place of sacrifice in both the tabernacle and the Temple (Exo. 38:1-7; 1 Kings 9:25).

Christians Under Christ and the Gospel

Christ, the true spiritual altar, is the Christian's place of intercession. It answers to the typical family and national altar of burnt-offerings. It also points forward to Heaven as the perfect sanctuary. The association of Christ with the Church as a spiritual sanctuary, links together both intercession and worship.

Christ is the fulfillment of the typical altar of burnt-offerings (Heb. 9).
Patriarchs Before The Law of Moses

(1) The undesignated material was presumably earth, wood, and stone.

(2) Purpose. For sacrifice and intercession (Gen. 8:20; 12:7, 8; 18:4; 26:25).

2. The Patriarchal Sanctuary, or meeting place with God.

(1) At the simple altar of burnt-offerings. “This is none other than the house of God, and this is the gate of heaven” (Gen. 28:17). “This stone which I have set up for a pillar, shall be God’s house” (Gen. 28:22).

Children of Israel Under the Law of Moses

(1) The designated material was earth, unhewn stones, and acacia wood (Exo. 20:24, 25; 38:1).

(2) Purpose. For sacrifice and intercession (Exo. 28:43; 2 Sam. 24:25).

2. The Hebrew Sanctuary, or meeting place with God.

(1) At the altar of burnt-offerings, which was at the door of the tabernacle and temple. “An altar of earth thou shalt make unto me, and shalt sacrifice thereon thy burnt-offerings, thy sheep, and thine oxen: in every place where I record my name I will come unto thee, and I will bless thee” (Exo. 20:24).

Christians Under Christ and the Gospel

(1) The altar was Christ—a spiritual altar, for spiritual sacrifice (Heb. 13:10; Rom. 12:1).

(2) Purpose. The place for presentation of ourselves as a “living sacrifice” (Rom. 12:1), for intercession and worship (Rom. 15:16; Rom. 5:6-11; Col. 3:16).

2. The Christian Sanctuary, or meeting place with God.

(1) Before Christ as the altar in the Church of Christ. “Ye are no more strangers, but ye are fellow-citizens with the saints, and of the household of God, 20 being built upon the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Christ Jesus himself being the chief corner stone; 21 in whom each several building, fitly framed together, growth into a holy temple in the Lord; 22 in whom ye are builded together for a habitation of God in the Spirit” (Eph. 2:19-22).

“The House of God, Which is the Church of the Living God” (1 Tim. 3:15).

“Unto him be the glory In the Church and In Christ Jesus, unto all generations for ever and ever” (Eph. 3:21).
Patriarchs Before the Law of Moses

(1) The head of the family offered sacrifice, and made intercession
   Ex. Noah (Gen. 8:20).
   Ex. Abraham (Gen. 12:7, 8).

Children of Israel Under the Law of Moses

(1) Aaron and his sons were made priests to offer sacrifice and make intercession (Exo. 28:1; Heb. 13:11).
   The priests offered the sacrifice for the people (Lev. 4:13-21).
   On the great day of atonement, the high priest alone enters into the most holy place for atonement (Heb. 9:6, 7; Lev. 23:26-32; Num. 29:7-12; Lev. 16:28-34).

Christians Under Christ and the Gospel

(1) Christ is our high priest who intercedes for us. (1 John 2:1; Heb. 9:11-15).
   His Spirit intercedes in our behalf (Rom. 8:26, 27).
   Every Christian is a priest unto God (Rev. 1:6), and he presents himself as "a living sacrifice" (Rom. 12:1).
   Christ as our high priest entered into the true sanctuary of "heaven itself," to make final and complete atonement for us (Heb. 9:24-26).

SUMMARY

1. With the fall of man, the sacrificial system became necessary.
2. God designated the nature and method of offering.
3. The atonement was developed in successive stages until its completion in Christ. The law called for perfection; no human being could present a perfect sacrifice. Christ as a perfect and sinless offering, met the demands of justice. In this sense, he bore our sins.
4. Before the law, the head of the family was the sacrificer; under the law, God set apart a definite priesthood system. This culminated in Christ as the Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world, by the offering of himself.
5. There was no provision for guilty manhood to live except by a law of substitution. The sacrificial system therefore extended from Eden to Christ.
II—THE HIGH PRIESTHOOD OF MELCHIZEDEK AND CHRIST
(Gen. 14:17-24; Heb. chap. 5, 7, 8, and 9)

Our knowledge of the genealogy of Melchizedek is limited to Gen. 14:17-24 and Hebrews 7. The Holy Spirit has seen fit to reveal his office and conceal his identity. But the personnel of his priesthood is limited to Melchizedek and Christ, and the account of one may therefore be used as a key to the interpretation of the other. This priesthood differs vitally from the priesthood of Aaron, and the distinctive differences enter into the understanding of Christ's mediatorial reign.

MELCHIZEDEK AND HIS PRIESTHOOD

1. "Melchizedek" means "my righteous king."

2. "King of Salem." "S a l e m" means "peace."
   (Note: "Salem" was the ancient name for Jerusalem, to which it presumably refers in Gen. 14:18).

3. Melchizedek "was priest of God Most High" (Gen. 14:18; comp. Heb. 7:1).

4. He was made a high priest by God, and not by the law.
   (1) His priesthood was before the law at Sinai.
   (2) The law made no provision for this priesthood.

5. The high priesthood was not handed down to or from Melchizedek (Heb. 7:3, 6).

6. Melchizedek's priesthood was provisional and spiritual (Gen. 14:18-20; Heb. 7:1).
   (With this blessing, compare the one in Num. 6:23-26).

CHRIST AND HIS PRIESTHOOD

1. Christ "is the blessed and only Potentate, the King of Kings" (1 Tim. 6:15).

2. Christ was prophetically announced as the "Prince of Peace" (Isa. 9:6).

3. Christ was "named of God a high priest after the order of Melchizedek" (Heb. 5:10; comp. 5:5, 6; 3:1, 2).
   His appointment of God to this office was foretold (Psa. 110:4).

4. Christ was made a high priest by God, and not by the law.
   (1) The law made no provision for the Melchizedek priesthood.
   (2) The law confined the priesthood to descendants of Aaron, of the tribe of Levi (Exo. 28:1; Heb. 7:11-14; 8:4).

5. The high priesthood was not handed down to or from Christ (Heb. 7:15, 16; comp. 5:5-9).

6. Christ's priesthood was provisional and spiritual.
   (1) To bless all nations (Gal. 3:7-14).
   (2) To intercede before God (Heb. 2:17, 18; 6:20; 7:25). In this, the Holy Spirit acts as His agent (Rom. 8:26-28).
Melchizedek and His Priesthood

7. Melchizedek was “King of Peace,” and “high priest” (Heb. 7:1).

8. Melchizedek was superior to Abraham (Heb. 7:4-10).

9. Melchizedek’s priesthood being spiritual and intercessory, was not limited to any tribe or race. It lasted throughout life (Heb. 7:3).

Christ and His Priesthood

7. Christ is “Prince of Peace,” and “King of Kings” (Zech. 6:13; Isa. 9:6; 1 Tim. 6:15).

8. Christ, after the order of Melchizedek is therefore also superior to Abraham (Heb. 7:17, 11).

9. Christ’s priesthood, being the same as that of Melchizedek, was not limited to any tribe or race (Gal. 3:23-29).

Christ’s priesthood will not end until he abdicates the throne to surrender it to God (1 Tim. 2:5; 1 Cor. 15:20-28; Heb. 7:3).

Conclusion

1. This priesthood is a spiritual office, of divine appointment.

2. It existed before the law, and independent of the law; the law made no provision for priests of this order.

3. This priesthood was not conferred by men; Melchizedek and Christ were the only priests of this order; they had neither predecessor or successor.

4. This priesthood was continuous, and only one at a time; Melchizedek was a type of Christ. The Old Testament foretold Christ as a priest after the order of Melchizedek. He will function in this office until he delivers up the kingdom to God and abdicates the throne.

"THE TABERNACLE OF THE TENT OF MEETING"
Exo. 40:1, 2

1. Built under instructions of Moses, of free-will offerings (Exo. 35:4-29; 30:2-7).

   (c) It was a cube, 15x15x15 feet.
THE "UNLEAVENED BREAD" OF THE PASSOVER and the
"TWO WAVE-LOAVES . . . BAKEN WITH LEAVEN" OF PENTECOST

In the Passover meal there is a distinctive difference from the Pentecost, in both the preparation and the number of loaves. This variation is self-explanatory in the light of the typical significance of the two institutions.

In the Lord’s Supper of the New Testament, the number of loaves and the presence or absence of leavening quality, are definitely determined in the analysis of these two Hebrew typical institutions. The Lord’s Supper must fully answer to its true type.

THE PASSOVER
(Lev. 23:4-8; Num. 28:16-25)
1. “Unleavened bread” represents what God gave to us.
God’s gift being perfect is represented by “unleavened bread” (Lev. 23:6).

2. The Passover forecasts the Christ as the sacrificial “lamb of God,” and therefore points to the Lord’s Supper (1 Cor. 5:6-8; John 1:29; Rev. 13:8).

3. The bread of the Passover is typically connected with the blood atonement (Num. 28:21-24; John 5:32-59; 1 Cor. 6:19, 20).

4. The singular “bread” points to the redeemed of Christ.
“We who are many, are one bread, one body: for we all partake of the one bread” (1 Cor. 10:17; comp. vs. 16; Lev. 23:6; Num. 9:1-14).

THE PENTECOST
(Lev. 23:9-21; Num. 28:26-31)
1. “Two loaves” represent what we bring to God.
Our gifts to God are essentially imperfect, therefore represented by bread “baked with leaven” (Lev. 23:17).

2. The “two wave-loaves” point forward to what we bring to God.
   (1) “Ye shall Bring the sheaf of the First Fruits of your harvest unto the priest, and he shall wave the sheaf before Jehovah, To Be Accepted For You” (Lev. 23:10, 11).
   (2) Ye shall Bring Out of Your Habitations, two wave-loaves of two tenth parts of an ephah: they shall be Baked with Leaven, for First Fruits Unto Jehovah” (Lev. 23:17).

3. The “two wave-loaves” offered as “the bread of the first-fruits for a wave-offering before Jehovah,” answers to the redeemed, or “the First Fruits” of the Gospel (1 Cor. 15:20-23; Rom. 12:1).

4. The “Two wave-loaves,” plural, as a forecast of “the first fruits unto Jehovah,” have a completion of type in the conversion of Jews and Gentiles as “the first fruits” of the Gospel (Lev. 23:17; 1 Cor. 10:17; comp. Eph. 2:10-22).
THE PASSOVER

5. All leaven was prohibited one week, following the sunset of the beginning of the Passover (Exo. 12:15-20).

The Lord's Supper was instituted during the week in which "leavened bread" was prohibited, clearly indicating that "leavened bread" was not used (With Exo. 12:15-20; comp. Luke 22:14-20).

CONCLUSION: 1. The Passover loaf points to Christ as the perfect gift from God, and is therefore fulfilled in the one loaf of the Lord's Supper, which represents the "one body" of the one Christ.

2. The loaf used in the Lord's Supper should therefore be made of "unleavened bread," that is, without yeast or similar substance.

The loaf which represents the body of Christ which was given for us, is therefore to be partaken of by all God's people, in the liberty of the Gospel.

THE PENTECOST

5. The fact that the "two loaves" were plural, and "baken with leaven," thus representing the imperfect, is conclusive evidence that they do not answer to the "one body" of the perfect Christ. They are not therefore typical of the singular loaf (Luke 22:19, Greek "a loaf"), in the Lord's Supper (1 Cor. 10:16, 17. Greek, "a loaf," comp. 1 Cor. 5:6-8).

CONCLUSION: 1. The two Pentecost loaves point to the two distinctive classes of people—Jews and Gentiles, who, by reason of the offering of themselves as imperfect offerings to Jehovah, are made complete in Christ, and are therefore the "first fruits" of the Gospel.

2. The application of the Gospel to all races alike is thus inferred from the Pentecost institution.

Our access to God through Christ completes the type of the offering of the "two wave-loaves" through the priest (Lev. 23:10, 11; comp. 2 Tim. 2:5; 1 Cor. 4; 15; Eph. 2:18).

The Conquest of Canaan
CHAPTER SEVEN

The Conquest of Canaan

Introduction

"After the forty years of the wanderings came the seven years of the conquest."

The conquest of Canaan can be divided into three parts:

I. The Eastern Conquest. Num. 21:21—31:54
   This was accomplished in three campaigns:
   1. Against Sihon
   2. Against Og
   3. Against Midian

   This also was accomplished in three campaigns:
   1. The central campaign
   2. The Southern campaign
   3. The Northern campaign

III. The Supplemental Conquests. Three in number:

Please turn the page for a map of the Eastern Conquest and the Central Campaign of the Western Conquest.
Here is an explanation of the numbers on the preceding page . . .
You will note that there are FIVE numbers in the Eastern Conquest.

NOTICE:

From number ONE (1) there are THREE lines going out to numbers 2, 3 and 4. Here is the reason:

ONE (1) stands for the camp on the other side of the brook Zered. From here the armies were sent up to Jahaz [point (2)] to fight and defeat Sihon. They returned to the camp [point (1)] and then sent the army out to fight and defeat Og at Edrei [point (3)]. They returned to camp [point (1)] and then moved to the plains of the Jordan [point (4)] having conquered all the territory on the east of the Jordan.

While here at point (4) trouble arose from the Moabites and the Midianites, and a war resulted. This war was fought primarily against Midian [point (5)]. Following this war Israel returned to their camp [point (4)] and prepared to cross the Jordan.

Now, before we explain the numbers in the Central campaign, how about reaching over and picking up the Bible and reading these chapters? (Num. 21:21 — 31:54) Just ten chapters; it won’t take you long. When you have finished this, step up to the assignment on the next page.
Assignment One:

Give a detailed account of the campaign of Moses and Joshua against Sihon and Og. Num. 21:21-35

Assignment Twenty-one:

ONE or TWO words from the text will answer the thoughts of the following sentences.
Let's pause just a moment before launching into these questions. Look at the map on the next page. Notice that it contains the two remaining conquests, i.e., The Southern Conquest and The Northern Conquest.

If you read the chapters in Joshua and then refer to the map all will be self-explanatory. But for the sake of clear emphasis it might be well to consider the following facts in: The Southern Conquest:

1. It all started with Adoni-zedek, the king of Jerusalem who gathered together five armies into a league to fight Israel. These armies were made up of the men and kings from: 1) Jarmuth 2) Hebron 3) Eglon 4) Lachish 5) men from his own city of Jerusalem.

2. They, along with Adoni-zedek and his army, attacked Gibeon. Gibeon called for help from Joshua.

3. Joshua called his army together and marched at night to surprise attack the enemy at Gibeon. The actual battle took place at a location called Beth-horon. This was the battle of the long day.

4. The Amorite League was defeated and pursued to Makkedah. Here the five kings went into a cave to hide. Stones were rolled in front of the cave and they were thus held prisoners.

5. Joshua encouraged his men to pursue after the enemy till they were completely defeated.

6. Upon their return to Makkedah, where Joshua had remained, the five kings were brought out, stoned and hung up on five trees until sundown.

7. Following this, a march was made into the cities noted on the map: 1) Jarmuth 2) Hebron 3) Lachish 4) Eglon 5) Libnah 6) Debir 7) Arad 8) Hormah. The cities were destroyed and the new kings killed.

1. The city that was greater than Ai; it was a “royal city,” and all the men thereof were mighty.

2. They said, “Slack not thy hand from thy servants.”

3. He said: “There shall not a man of them stand before thee.”

4. These were cast down from heaven upon the armies of the Amorites, . . . “and they died.”

5. This was to “stand still upon Gibeon;”

6. This was to stand still in “the valley of Aijalon.”

7. The staying of the sun was written in a book that is not included in the Old Testament.

8. These were to stay by the cave at Makkedah.
The Northern Conquest
Joshua 11:1-23

Following the defeat, the enemy was pursued and all the cities of the league were sacked.

Joshua marches at night to attacks and defeats.

The Southern Conquest
Joshua 10:1-43 12:9-24
9. They put their feet on the necks of the five kings.

10. From Kadesh-barnea even unto Gaza, and all the country of Goshen, even unto Gibeon. What does this describe?

Assignment Twenty-two:
Recite on the Northern Conquest. Joshua 11:1-23

Look just a moment at the preceding map. I believe the Northern Conquest is even more self-explanatory than the Southern.

Can you fill in these blanks WITHOUT looking at the text?

1. “And it came to pass, when .................... king of .................. heard thereof, that he sent to Jobab king of Madon, . . . And all these kings met together; and they came and encamped together at the waters of .................., to fight with Israel.”

2. “And Jehovah said unto Joshua, Be not afraid because of them; for tomorrow at this time I will deliver them up all slain before Israel: thou shalt .................. their horses, and .................. their chariots, with ..................”

3. “And Joshua turned back at that time, and took .................., and smote the king thereof with the sword: for .................. beforetime was the head of all those kingdoms.”

4. “As Jehovah commanded .................. his servant, so did Moses command ..................: and so did Joshua; he left nothing undone for all that Jehovah commanded ..................”

5. “So Joshua took up the whole land, according to all that Jehovah spake unto ..................; and Joshua gave it for an inheritance unto Israel according to their divisions by their .................. And the land had rest from war.”

Note now on the following page the three supplementary conquests. These conquests did not occur in chronological order with the conquest of Canaan proper. Most of these events took place after the seven years of the conquest of Canaan. But they are conquests none-the-less, so we place them in this section.

GOD'S CHOSEN PEOPLE

by

WALTER L. STRAUB, M.A., B.D., D.Litt.

From his book, BIBLICAL ANALYSIS

INTRODUCTION

2. After Jacob's wrestle with the angel his name was divinely changed to "Israel," meaning, "He who striveth with God" (Gen. 32:27, 28; 35:10; comp. Hosea 12:3, 4). When God exalted the "children of Jacob, His chosen ones" (Psa. 105:6), the new name was part of their heritage (Gen. 42:5; Exo. 1:1, 9).

3. "If thou wilt harken diligently unto the voice of Jehovah thy God, to observe and do all his commandments" (Deut. 28:1), was a conditional preface to every promised "blessing" (Gen. 28:2-7), with counterpart "curses" (Deut. 29:21; 28:15-19), as a consequence of disobedience.

I—THE NECESSITY FOR A DISTINGUISHED RACE

1. The two-fold promise to Abraham (Gen. 12:2, 3), presents the necessity for an exalted race, and constitutes the earliest revelation of the line through which the seed of the woman would triumph (Gen. 3:15). Beginning with Abraham as the head of the Hebrew nation (Rom. 4:13; Heb. 11:8-10; Gal. 3:16; Acts 13:26; Gen. 15:4, 5), "the promises spoken" (Gal. 3:16) are revealed to be through Isaac (Gen. 17:19-21; 21:10; 12; 26:2-5; comp. Rom. 9:7; Gal. 4:28; Heb. 11:18), through Jacob (Gen. 28:2-4, 10-17; 35:10-12; 2 Kings 13:22, 23; comp. Luke 1:33), through Judah (Gen. 49:10; 1 Chron. 5:1, 2; Psa. 78:68; 108:8; 114:2; comp. Heb. 7:14; 8:4; Rev. 5:5), of the "House of David" (Psa. 132:11; Isa. 9:7; comp. Matt. 1:1; 12:23; 22:42; John 7:42; Rom. 1:3; 2 Tim. 2:8; Rev. 5:5; 22:16).

2. In the valedictory address of Moses (Deut. 27:1 to 30:20), "in the fortieth year, in the eleventh month" (Deut. 1:3), "Beyond the Jordan, in the land of Moab" (Deut. 1:5; 34:1), he referred to the exaltation of the Hebrew race as the reason for special divine favors (Deut. 27:9,10; 28:1).

II—THE BLESSINGS AND THEIR COUNTERPART CURSES

(Deut. 27:1-6, 15-19)

INTRODUCTION

1. The theme of this third discourse of Moses is the blessings and the curses of the children of Israel. In this account we have a brief conception of the future of the chosen race. Their distinction as a race is to be universally recognized ( Isa. 61:9). The fulfillment of Moses' predictions is irrefutable evidence of inspiration.
Decision Day on the Plains of Moab (Deut. 28:1, 2; 34:1)

Counterpart Predictions

"The Blessings"

“All these blessings shall come upon thee, and overtake thee, if thou wilt harken unto the voice of Jehovah thy God” (Deut. 28:2).

"Blessed shalt thou be":

1. "In the city" (28:3).
   "Goodly cities, which thou buildedst not" (Deut. 6:10).

2. "In the field" (28:3).
   Verse 3 contains the two spheres in which life moves.

3. “The fruit of thy body, and the fruit of thy ground, and the fruit of thy beasts, the increase of thy cattle, and the young of thy flock” (28:4).

(comp. Deut. 7:13, 14)

4. “Thy basket” (in which fruits were kept (Deut. 26:2), “and thy kneading-trough” (in which daily bread was prepared (Exo. 12:34; 28:5).

5. "When thou comest in, and . . . when thou goest out" (28:6).
   They were to have competent leadership in going out into conflict, and in government after return (See Num. 27:15:23; comp. Psa. 121:8).

6. “Jehovah will cause thine enemies that rise up against thee to be smitten before thee: they shall come out against thee one way, and shall flee before thee seven ways” (28:7).

7. “In the land which Jehovah thy God giveth thee” (28:8).

8. “Jehovah will open unto thee his

"The Curses"

“But it shall come to pass, if thou wilt not harken unto the voice of Jehovah thy God, to observe to do all his commandments and his statutes which I command thee this day, that all these curses shall come upon thee, and overtake thee” (Deut. 28:15).

"Cursed shalt thou be":

1. "In the city" (28:16).

2. "In the field" (28:16).
   The curse extends over the two spheres in which man lives.

3. “the fruit of thy body, and the fruit of thy ground, the increase of thy cattle, and the young of thy flock” (28:18).

5. "When thou comest in, and . . . when thou goest out" (28:19).

6. “Jehovah will send upon thee cursing, discomfiture, and rebuke, in all that thou puttest thy hand unto, do, until thou be destroyed, and until thou perish quickly; because of the evil of thy doings, whereby thou hast forsaken me” (28:20).

7. “Jehovah will make the pestilence cleave unto thee, until he have consumed thee from off the land, whither thou goest in to possess it” (28:21).

8. “Jehovah will make the rain of good treasure the heavens, to give the rain of thy land in its season” (28:12; comp. Deut. 11:13-15).
“The Blessings”

9. “Jehovah will make thee the head, and not the tail; and thou shalt be above only, and thou shalt not be beneath” (28:13).

10. “10. Jehovah will make thee plenteous for good, in the fruit of thy body, and in the fruit of thy cattle, and in the fruit of thy ground, in the land which Jehovah sware unto thy fathers to give thee. 11. Jehovah will open unto thee his good treasure the heavens, and give the rain of thy land in its season, and to bless all the work of thy hand: and thou shalt lend unto many nations, and thou shalt not borrow” (28:10, 11).

“The Curses”
thy land powder and dust” (28:23, 24; comp. Lev. 26:18-20; Deut. 11:16, 17).

9. “The sojourner that is in the midst of thee shall mount up above thee higher and higher; and thou shalt come down lower and lower. 44. He shall lend to thee, and thou shalt not lend to him; he shall be the head, and thou shalt be the tail” (28:43, 44).

10. “Jehovah will smite thee with consumption, and with fever, and with inflammation, and with fiery heat, and with the sword, and with blasting, and with mildew; and they shall pursue thee until thou perish. 23. And thy heaven that is over thy head shall be brass, and the earth that is under thee shall be iron. 24. Jehovah will make the rain of thy land powder and dust: from heaven shall it come down upon thee, till thou be destroyed” (28:22-24; comp. Lev. 26:14-20).

(1) The counterpart “curses” (Deut. 28:16-24) are immediately restated and elaborated in connection with specific incidents. (Deut. 28:25-46.) The climax is reached in the announcement that the consequences of the curses are permanent, and that they will constitute “a sign and a wonder upon thy (Jews) seed for ever” (v. 46).

III—Judgments Incurred in Disobedience
The original account is given in Lev. 26:14-15, and restated with certain additions in Deut. 28:7-68. The two accounts should be studied together. Subsequent accounts are, in the main, brief repetitions for special reminders, and for specific reference to approaching fulfillments. The accounts are to be interpreted in keeping with the figurative and symbolic language in which many of them are clothed.

1. At the time of Jeremiah, Israel had fallen beyond the reach of the prayers of the most holy, such as was Moses at Sinai (Exo. 32:11), and Samuel in Canaan (1 Sam. 7:9; Jer. 15:1, 2).

2. Four instruments of justice are pictured: “And I will appoint over them four kinds, saith Jehovah” (Jer. 15:3, 4).

(1) v. 3, “the sword to slay,
(2) v. 3, “and the dogs to tear” what was slain,
(3) v. 3, "and the birds of the heavens," to feed on the dead,
(4) v. 4, "and the beasts of the earth, to devour and destroy" whatever the birds may have left.

3. A general warning relative to all disobedience, and the judgments incurred (Lev. 26:14-16).

The whole train of evils here mentioned, are consequences of the government by wicked and cruel rulers to whom the disobedient Jews were to be subjected. Such maladies are naturally to be expected from afflictions and deprivations (with Lev. 26:16; comp. Deut. 28:30-34).

4. The Jews were to be smitten and subdued by the enemies.

PREDICTIONS
(1) Lev. 26:17. "And I will set my face against you, and ye shall be smited before your enemies; they shall hate you and shall rule over you."
Deut. 28:25. "Jehovah will cause thee to be smitten before thine enemies."
As a consequence "thy dead body shall be food unto all the birds of the heavens, and unto the beasts of the earth; and there shall be none to frighten them away" (Deut. 28:26).

(2) Homes were to be broken up, and their possessions confiscated (Deut. 28:30-34).

FULFILLMENT
(1) The account of Jehoiakim furnishes an instance of literal fulfillment, when Nebuchadnezzar bound him in fetters, and carried him to Babylon (2 Kings 23:36 to 24:7; 2 Chron. 36:5-8; Jer. 22:19; 36:30; comp. Psa. 79:2, 3).
Additional fulfillment is seen in Babylonian captivity (2 Chron. 29:8, 9; Jer. 15:4; 24:9, 10; 29:18, 19).
(2) This was fulfilled in every detail in the captivity (2 Chron. 29:8-10; Neh. 9:36, 37; 1 Kings 20:1-6).

FOUR JUDGMENTS INCURRED BY DISOBEDIENCE

The disobedience of Israel is listed in four groups, each of which is prefaced with a chastisement of "seven times," as a threat of judgment.

PREDICTIONS
"19. And I will break the pride of your power; and I will make your heaven as iron, and your earth as brass; 20. and your strength shall be spent in vain; for your land shall not yield its increase, neither shall the trees of the land yield their fruit."

2. Second judgment (Lev. 26:21, 22).
"22. I will send the beast of the Field among you, which shall rob you of your children, and destroy your cattle, and make you few in number; and your ways shall become desolate.”
PREDICTIONS

3. Third judgment (Lev. 26:23-26).

“25. And I will bring a sword upon you, that shall execute the vengeance of the covenant; and ye shall be scattered together within your cities; and I will send the pestilence among you; and ye shall be delivered into the hand of the enemy.

“26. When I break your staff of bread, ten women shall bake your bread in one oven, and they shall deliver your bread again by weight; and ye shall eat and not be satisfied.”

FULFILLMENT

A literal fulfillment is found in 2 Kings 17:25, 26.

The king of Assyria imported men into Samaria. When they feared not Jehovah, he “sent lions among them, which killed some of them.”

In 2 Kings 2:24, we have a record of “two she-bears” that slew the mocking children following Elijah.

It is also possible that this prediction has a spiritual fulfillment, as a figurative reference to wicked rulers and false prophets.

Rulers and tyrants are often symbolized as “beasts” (Prov. 28:15; Dan. 7:1-8; Psa. 80:12, 13).

False prophets are frequently figured as “foxes” (Ezek. 13:4), “ravening wolves” (Matt. 7:15), and in Rev. 13:1, a “beast.”

3. Third judgment in fulfillment.

Ezekiel applies a part of this predictive language to the desolation of the land of Israel during the captivity (Ezek. 14:12-23).

Ezekiel applies this to the siege of Jerusalem, by Nebuchadnezzar.

“Moreover he said unto me, Son of man, behold, I will break the staff of bread in Jerusalem; and they shall eat bread by weight, and with fearfulness; and they shall drink water by measure, and in dismay: 17. that they may want bread and water, and be dismayed one with another, and pine away in their iniquity (Ezek. 4:16, 17).

4. Fourth judgment, or the captivities (Lev. 26:23-26; Deut. 28:36, 49-57).

Deut. 28:36. “Jehovah will bring thee, and thy king whom thou hast set over thee, unto a nation that thou hast not known, thou nor thy fathers; and there shalt thou serve other gods, wood and stone.”
“49. Jehovah will bring a nation against thee from far, from the end of the earth, as the eagle flieth; a nation whose tongue thou shalt not understand; 50. a nation of fierce countenance, that shall not regard the person of the old, nor show favor to the young, and shall eat the fruit of thy cattle, and the fruit of thy ground, until thou be destroyed; that also shall not leave thee grain, new wine, or oil, the increase of thy cattle, or the young of thy flock, until they have caused thee to perish. 52. And they shall besiege thee in all thy gates, until thy high and fortified walls come down, wherein thou trustedst, throughout all thy land; and they shall besiege thee in all thy gates throughout all thy land which Jehovah thy God giveth thee. 53. And thou shalt eat of the fruit of thine own body, the flesh of thy sons and of thy daughters, whom Jehovah thy God hath given thee, in the siege and in the distress wherewith thine enemies shall distress thee” (Deut. 28:49-53. See also verses 54-57).

NORTHERN KINGDOM
ASSYRIAN CAPTIVITY
(1) In 721 B. C. Tiglath - pileres invaded the Northern Kingdom; twenty years later, Shalmaneser carried away the remainder of Israel (2 Kings 15:29; 1 Chron. 5:26; comp. Isa. 9:1; 2 Kings 17:6-24).

FIRST FULFILLMENT
(a) Assyrians came from north-east against Israel (721 B. C. 2 Kings 17).

(b) The language of the Assyrians did not conform to the Hebrew of Palestine.

(c) The Assyrians under Shalmaneser inflicted punishment upon Samaritans, taking all alike (Ant. IX. XIV. 1).

JUDAH
BABYLONIAN CAPTIVITY
(1) Benjamin and Judah were carried away to Babylon following two invasions, beginning B. C. 588 (2 Kings 24:10-17; 36:1-21).
Deut. 28:36 was fulfilled in Babylon. (See Dan. 3:1-18.)

SECOND FULFILLMENT
(a) Babylonians came from the east against Judah (588, 598 B. C. 2 Kings 24:10-20).

(b) The Babylonians were “a nation whose language thou knowest not, neither understandest what they say” (Jer. 5:15; comp. Lam. 4:19).

(c) The Babylonians “therefore he brought upon them the king of the Chaldeans, who slew their young men with the sword in the house of their sanctuary, and had no compassion upon young man or vir-

JERUSALEM
ROMAN CAPTIVITY
(1) Jerusalem was overthrown under Titus (70 A. D.). Captives were sent both to Rome and to Egypt (Jos. Book VI. IX, 2). Predicted by Christ (Matt. 24:1, 2, 9, 15-25; Luke 21:20-24, 29 A. D.).

THIRD FULFILLMENT
(a) Romans from the west came against Jerusalem, and destroyed it and the temple (A. D. 70. See Matt. 24 and Luke 21; comp. Wars, Book III. I. 1).

(b) Josephus refers to the difficulty in dealing with the Romans, because their language was little understood by the Jews of Jerusalem (Wars III. VI. 2).

(c) Vespasian “came into it (city) and slew all the youth, the Romans having no mercy on any age whatever” (Wars III. VII. 1).
262

(d) Gates of cities in Samaria were besieged by Shalmaneser (2 Kings 18:9-11).

(e) Children were eaten for food when Ben-hadad besieged Samaria (2 Kings 6:26-29).

The account by Josephus is as follows:

"There was a certain woman that dwelt beyond Jordan—her name was Mary; her father was Eleasar, of the village Bethesub, which signifies 'house of hyssop.' She was eminent for her family and her wealth, and had fled away to Jerusalem with the rest of the multitude, and was with them besieged therein at this time. The other effects of this woman had been already seized upon; such, I mean, as she brought with her out of Perea, and removed to the city. What she had treasured up besides, as also what food she had contrived to save, had been also carried off by the rapacious guards, who came every day running into her house for that purpose. This put the poor woman into a very great passion, and by the frequent reproaches and imprecations she cast at these rapacious villains, she had provoked them to anger against her; but none of them, either out of the indignation she had raised against herself, or out of the commiseration of her case, would take away her life; and if she found any food, she perceived her labors were for others, and not for herself; and it was now become impossible for her any way to find any more food, while the famine pierced through her very bowels and marrow, when also her passion was fired by a degree beyond the famine itself: nor did she consult with anything but with her passion and the necessity she was in. She then attempted a most natural thing; and snatching up HER SON who was a child sucking at her breast, she said, 'O thou miserable infant! for whom shall I preserve thee in this war, this famine, and this sedition? As to the war with the Romans, if they preserve our lives, we must be slaves! This famine will also destroy us, even before that slavery comes upon us; yet are these seditious rogues more terrible than both the other. Come on; be thou my food, and be thou a fury in these seditious varlets, and a by-word to the world, which is all that is now wanting to complete the calamities of us Jews.' As soon as she had said this, SHE SLEW HER SON; AND THEN ROASTED HIM, AND ATE THE ONE HALF OF HIM, AND KEPT THE OTHER HALF BY HER CONCEALED. Upon this the seditious came in presently, and SMELLING THE HORRID SCENT OF THIS FOOD, they threatened her that they would cut her throat immediately if she did not show them what food she had gotten already. She replied, that she had saved a very fine portion of it for them; and withal uncovered what was left of her son. Hereupon they were seized with a horror and amazement of mind, and stood astonished at the sight; when she said to them, 'THIS IS MY OWN SON; AND WHAT HATH BEEN DONE WAS MINE OWN DOING! COME EAT OF THIS FOOD;
For I Have Eaten of It Myself! Do not you pretend to be either more tender than a woman, or more compassionate than a mother. But if you be so scrupulous, and do abominate this my sacrifice, As I Have Eaten The One Half, Let The Rest Be Reserved For Me Also.' After which, these men went out trembling, being never so much affrighted at any thing as they were at this, and with some difficulty they left the rest of that meat to the mother. Upon which the whole city was full of this horrid action immediately; and while everybody laid this miserable case before their own eyes, they trembled, as if this unheard-of action had been done by themselves.”

Prediction

(2) Deut. 28:64. “Jehovah will scatter thee among all peoples, from one end of the earth, even unto the other end of the earth” (comp. Deut. 28:65-67; Jer. 9:9, 16; Hos. 9:17).

(3) Many of them to again become slaves in Egypt (Deut. 28:68).

“And Jehovah will bring thee into Egypt again with ships, by the way whereof I said unto thee, Thou shalt see it no more again; and there ye shall sell yourselves unto your enemies for bond-women, and no man shall buy you.”

Fulfillment

(2) With the fall of Jerusalem, A. D. 70, the Jews had no established nation, and were therefore scattered among all the nations of the earth (comp. John 11:48; James 1:1).

(3) Josephus records that after Fronto had been ordered to slay only the armed soldiers, “of the young men he chose out the tallest and most beautiful, and reserved them for the triumph; and as for the rest of the multitude that were above seventeen years old, he put them in bonds, and sent them to the Egyptian mines” A. D. 70 (Wars, Book VI. IX. 2).

5. The Jewish sanctuary was to be utterly destroyed by “a little horn” (Antiochus Epiphanes, king of Greece, 175-164 B. C.), who would rise from one of the four divisions of the Grecian kingdom (Alexander’s kingdom) (Dan. 8:8-26).

(1) Fulfilled B. C. 170, by Antiochus Epiphanes. Josephus explains the event as follows:

“Daniel wrote that he saw these visions in the Plain of Susa; and he hath informed us that God interpreted the appearance of this vision after the following manner: He said that the ram signified the kingdom of the Medes and Persians, and the horns those kings that were to reign in them; and that the last horn signified the last king, and that he should exceed all the kings in riches and glory: that the he-goat signified that one should come and reign from the Greeks, who should twice fight with the Persian, and overcome him in battle, and should receive his entire dominion: that by the great horn that sprang out of the forehead of the he-goat was meant the first king; and that the springing up of four horns upon its falling off, and the conversion of every one of them to the four quarters of the earth, signified the successors that should arise after the death of the first king, and the partition of the kingdom among them, and that they should be neither his children, nor of his kindred, that should reign over the habitable earth for many years; and that from among them there should arise a certain king that should overcome our nation and their laws, and should take away their political government, and should spoil the temple, and forbid the sacrifices to be offered for three years’ time. And indeed it so came to pass, that our nation suffered these things under Antiochus Epiphanes, according to Daniel’s vision, and what he wrote many years before they came to pass. In the very same manner Daniel also wrote concerning the Roman government, and that our country should be made desolate by them” (Ant. Book X. XI. 7).

(2) The first apostacy of the Jews after the return from Babylon, was under Antiochus Epiphanes (1 Macc. 1:12-16), on account of which they were chastised by him. After three years of desolation polution, the sanctuary was cleansed (164 B. C.—1 Macc. 4:36-59). The ultimate fulfillment of Dan. 8:13, 14 is set ahead 2300 ‘‘days’’—i.e., years. Jesus also pointed to a double fulfillment (Matt. 24:15).

(3) According to Dan. 8:13, 14, the Jews will never again have a permanent, acceptable ‘‘sanctuary,’’ until they accept the true spiritual sanctuary—the Christ.

Palestine Among the Twelve Tribes
CHAPTER EIGHT
Palestine Among The Twelve Tribes

Introduction

You will have noted perhaps that the "Conquest of Canaan" finished the book of Numbers from 21:21 to the end of the book, and that the narrative continued in the first chapter of Joshua. You also noted that the eastern, southern, and northern conquests led us through the eleventh chapter of this book of Joshua. We may as well add the twelfth chapter for it is simply a record of the towns and kings captured. Yes, yes, but there are 24 chapters in this book. What happens in the remaining 13? A good question; here is a brief outline of the whole section:

I. The Land Divided. Joshua 13-22

II. Joshua's Farewell. Joshua 23-24

And here is a fine outline in a little more detail:
1. The inheritance of the two tribes and a half. Joshua 13.
5. The return of the two tribes and a half. Joshua 22.

We will consider the points of interest in these chapters later in our study. Right now here is a very interesting map (on the next page). It shows the locations of the tribes. Interesting, because within each tribe there are several numbers which I would like you to identify. Each number has some incident or person connected with it with which you are ALREADY familiar . . . can you tell what they are? Take a look and try it.
Here you are: Name the twelve tribes and identify the numbers in each (all except Zebulon have three numbers).

Now that we have covered this material we discover that we have also covered chapters 13 through 20 in Joshua.

Chapter 21 concerns the Levitical cities. We quote from "Hurlbut's Bible Atlas" (page 46) for a fine statement on this chapter.

"The tribe of Levi was the priestly caste and received no separate province in the land, but was allotted certain cities throughout the tribes. These cities were given up to the Levites, either wholly or in part, though it is evident that they were not the only places occupied by the priests, and that others besides the Levites dwelt in them. These "Levitical cities" were divided into two classes: those for the priests proper, or descendants of Aaron, thirteen in number, and all in the tribes of Judah, Simeon, and Benjamin (a remarkable arrangement, since the altar and the Tabernacle were in the tribe of Ephraim); and those for the Levites, or subordinate priests, thirty-five in number divided among the other tribes. Thus there were in all forty-eight Levitical cities. These were so arranged that in each tribe four cities were assigned to the priests, except in Judah, which had more, and Simeon and Naphtali, the frontier tribes, which had less."

Chapter 22 concerns the difficulty that arose about the two and a half tribes on the east of the Jordan river. Can you answer these questions about it?

1. Following the conquest of Canaan, what was the estimate of Joshua of these persons?
2. What was the one thing that caused ill feelings among the tribes?
3. Who was sent from the nine and one-half tribes to see the offenders?
4. What was the appeal of the ones sent?
5. How were the nine and one-half tribes completely satisfied that the two and one-half tribes were doing the right thing?
In closing the book of Joshua we have chapters twenty-three and twenty-four. The two farewell speeches of this great man of God are found here. Again, we can find no better outline of these chapters than that given by Adam Clark in his commentary on Joshua (page 89).

Joshua Chapter 23

1. Joshua, being old, calls for the rulers and different heads of the Israelites, 1-2.
2. To whom he relates how God had put them in possession of the promised land, 3-4.
3. From which all their remaining enemies should be expelled, 5.
4. He exhorts them to be faithful to God, and to avoid all connections with the idolatrous nations, 6-8.
5. He encourages them with the strongest promises, that no enemy should ever be able to prevail against them, if they continued to love the Lord their God, 9-11.
6. He lays also before them the consequences of disobedience, 12-13.
7. He shows them that as all God’s promises had been fulfilled to them while they were obedient, so his threatenings should be fulfilled on them if they revolted from his service; and if they did so, they should be utterly destroyed from off the good land, 14-16.

Joshua Chapter 24

1. Joshua gathers all the tribes together at Shechem, vs 1.
2. Gives them a history of God’s gracious dealings with Abraham, 2-3.
3. Isaac, Jacob, and Esau, 4.
4. Moses and Aaron, and their fathers in Egypt, 5-6.
6. On the Amorites, 8.
7. Their deliverance from Balak and Balaam, 9-10.
8. Their conquests in the promised land, and their establishment in the possession of it, 11-13.
9. Exhorts them to abolish idolatry, and informs them of his family’s resolution to serve Jehovah, 14-15.
10. The people solemnly promise to serve the Lord alone, and mention his merciful dealings toward them, 16-18.

12. The people again promise obedience, 21.

13. Joshua calls them to witness against themselves, that they had promised to worship God alone, and exhorts them to put away the strange gods, 22-23.

14. They promise obedience, 24.

15. Joshua makes a covenant with the people, writes it in a book, sets up a stone as a memorial of it, and dismisses the people, 25-28.

17. The people continue faithful during that generation, 31.

18. They bury the bones of Joseph in Shechem, 32.

19. Eleazar the high priest dies also, 33.

Can You Answer These Questions On These Chapters?

1. To whom was the first speech addressed? The second?

2. What specific word of encouragement can you recall that Joshua gave to these men for expelling their enemies?

3. What did he say would be the consequences of disobedience?

4. From where was the second speech delivered?

5. What was the theme that ran through the second speech?

6. How did Joshua present himself as an example?

7. Why did God want the people to be holy?

8. Were the people worshipping "strange gods" in Joshua's day?

9. How old was Joshua when he died?

10. The burial of what two other persons is mentioned in this chapter?

On the following page will you locate the twelve tribes and the six cities of refuge?

The sons of Jacob are listed in chronological order. It therefore contains only twelve.

(Num. 1:1-17)

The purpose was to bring the military census to receive the prophetic blessings, which included Ephraim and Manasseh.

(Gen. 48:8-20)

The writer mentions the sons of Israel, which were twelve. But he is also recording the official register of the genealogy, which included Levi. But Joseph is included in Ezekiel, 48:1-17, 23-27, the same list is recorded, for the same reason.

(Gen. 49:5-7; Josh. 19:1, 8, 9)

The Israelites are here embraced under the symbolic list of twelve tribes. The records of Dan were not carried beyond the captivity, and were the earliest in obscurity. Dan is therefore omitted. With Manasseh mentioned separate from Joseph, Ephraim is represented in Joseph.

(See Chap. 1 to 9)
When the sons of Jacob are under direct consideration, or are customarily taken as a basis in reference to the tribes, they are naturally designated as "twelve tribes" (See Ezra 6:17; Ezek. 47:13; Matt. 19:28; Luke 22:30; Acts 26:7; James 1:1; Rev. 21:12). But in addition to Jacob's twelve sons, he adopted Ephraim and Manasseh, the sons of Joseph, as joint-heirs with his own sons (Gen. 46:20; 48:5, 6). Thus Ephraim and Manasseh were later included in the phrase "the Children of Israel" (Deut. 33:1; comp. verse 17).

When the Chronicles were compiled, about 550 to 450 B.C. nothing distinctive of Dan or Zebulun appears to have been in the records.

The reader should carefully note that Joseph, as a name for a tribe, is made to stand for Ephraim and Manasseh, either jointly or separately, when consistent with the standpoint of the writer (comp. Josh. 14:3, 4; 18:17).

DIVISION OF THE INHERITANCE.

1. God's commission to Joshua, relative to the distribution of the land, says: "Now therefore divide this land for an inheritance unto the nine tribes, and the half tribe of Manasseh" (Josh. 13:7). But the land here referred to was west of the Jordan. Reuben, Gad, and the other half tribe of Manasseh were previously allotted land east of the Jordan, by Moses. In the next verse Joshua says: "With him (Manasseh) the Reubenites and the Gadites received their inheritance, which Moses gave them, beyond the Jordan eastward" (Josh. 13:8). This includes the original twelve tribes. Joseph is represented in Ephraim and Manasseh.

2. Levi received no allotment of land (Josh. 13:14, 33; 14:3). He was set aside for the sanctuary service, and was maintained by the tithes of the other tribes. In this precedent we have at least an analogy of the duty of Christians to provide for the Gospel ministry (comp. Luke 10:7; 1 Cor. 9:14; 16:1-3).

3. The language of Josh. 13:3, 4 suggests that in reference to the "inheritance," one of the "half tribe of Manasseh" makes up the allotment number in the place of Levi.

"But unto the Levites he gave no inheritance among them. For the children of Joseph are two tribes, Manasseh and Ephraim: and he gave no portion to the Levites in the land, save cities to dwell in, with suburbs thereof for their cattle and for their substance."

4. Joseph had no distinctive inheritance in Canaan. Ephraim and Manasseh are listed as "the children of Joseph," (Josh. 17:14) with "one lot only," plus "the hill country" (Josh. 17:17, 18).

5. Simeon shared the allotment to Judah (Josh. 19:1-9). Thus, when contemplated from the standpoint of the land occupied he is mentioned in Joshua's account; but when contemplated from the standpoint of separate and distinct blessings of the tribes, he is omitted, as in Deut. 33.

CONCLUSION

1. The induction of proper facts and circumstances removes all ground for confusion or contradiction, and thus makes the study both interesting and profitable.

2. All the tribes and the allotted land have been duly accounted for, and the commission of Jehovah to Moses and Joshua is fulfilled to the letter (Josh. 13:7; 14:2).

Palestine Under The Judges

Introduction

Here is a fine introductory outline to the book given by Myer Pearlman in his book, "Through the Bible Book by Book."

Theme. Joshua is the book of victory; Judges, the book of failure.

The verses of chapter 2:7-19 sum up the story of the book. After Joshua’s death, the new generation of Israelites made alliances with those nations that the old generation had left in the land, and the result was a lapse into idolatry and immorality. This brought upon them the judgment of God in the form of servitude to those nations which they should have subdued. Upon their crying unto God, a deliverer was sent unto them, during whose lifetime they remained faithful to God but after whose death they again relapsed into their old sins. In the last few chapters of the book, the writer gives us a close-up view of those times of apostasy and anarchy, and explains it all by the fact that "In those days there was no king in Israel; every man did that which was right in his own eyes." The story of the book may be summed up in four words: Sin, Servitude, Sorrow, Salvation.

Author. According to Jewish tradition the author was Samuel.

Scope. "It covers the period between the death of Joshua and the crowning of Saul." (p. 47)

Let’s get a clear cut outline of the Book of Judges.

Chapters 1:1 to 3:7 are introductory. What is their content? Here it is.

CHAPTER ONE

1. Chapter 1:1-11 as well as 1:16-21 is the supplemental conquest of Judah and Simeon which we have already considered.
2. 1:12-15 is the conquest of Caleb and Othniel which we likewise studied in the conquest of Palestine.
3. 1.22-35 describes the puny and vain efforts of the various tribes to drive out the inhabitants of the land.

CHAPTER TWO

1. 2:1-5 describes the visit of Jehovah’s angel from Gilgal to a place called Bochim. He was sent by God to tell them that God’s judgment was to be upon them for they had not followed His word but had intermingled with the people of the land and had worshipped other gods. The people wept when they heard it. Therefore the place was called Bochim or “Weepers.”
2. 2:6-23 is a general description of the conditions that existed during the period of the Judges.
   a. The people served God during Joshua’s day, 6-9.
   b. The next generation did not, but did that which was evil in the sight of Jehovah, by way of idol worship. We see this in verses 10-13.
   c. Jehovah’s anger was kindled against them and they were sold into the hands of their enemies, 14-15.
   d. They were defeated and sore distressed. So Jehovah raised up judges to save them, 16-18.
   e. When the judge was alive they worshipped Jehovah but ______ when he died they lapsed back into idolatry and the process began all over again, 19-23.

CHAPTER THREE 3:1-7

These verses describe the nations Jehovah left in the land to “prove Israel by them, even as many as had not known the wars of Canaan.”

3:1

THE BOOK OF RUTH

Introduction

When and by whom the Book of Ruth was written, are points not agreed on among critics and commentators.

As to the transactions recorded in it, they are variously placed. In the book itself there is no other notion of time than merely this, that the things came to pass in the days when the judges ruled; therefore some have placed these transactions under Ehud; others, under Gideon; others, under Barak; others Abimelech, and others under Shamgar. This last is the opinion of Archbishop Ussher; and most chronologers adopt it. The book is evidently an Appendix to the book of Judges, and contains a perfect history in itself; and therefore should not be inserted in any part of that book. It also seems to be an Introduction to the books of Samuel, in which the history of David is contained, as it gives the genealogy of this prince. It is also not without its use in matters which respect the Gospels, as it ascertains the line by which Jesus Christ came.

As to the author, he is as uncertain as the time. It has been attributed to Hezekiah, to Ezra and to Samuel, and it is most likely that the author of the two books of Samuel was also the writer of this little book, as it seems necessary to complete his plan of the history of David.

A Summary of The Contents of The Book of Ruth

A man of Bethlehem, named Elimelech, with his wife Naomi, and his two sons Mahlon and Chilion, left his own country in the time of a famine, and went to sojourn in the land of Moab. There he died, and Naomi married her two sons to two Moabitish women; Mahlon married Ruth, who is the chief subject of this book, and Chilion married one named Orpah. In about ten years both these brethren died; and Naomi, accompanied by her two daughters-in-law, set out to return to the land of Judah, she having heard that plenty was again restored to her country. On the way she besought her daughters to return to their own country and kindred. Orpah took her advice, and, after an affectionate parting, returned; but Ruth insisted on accompanying her mother-in-law. They arrived in Bethlehem about the time of harvest; and Ruth went into the fields to glean for their support. The ground on which she was accidentally employed belonged to Boaz, one of the relatives of Elimelech, her father-in-law; who, finding who she was, ordered her to be kindly treated, and appointed her both meat and drink with his own servants. Finding that she was by marriage his kinswoman, he purposed to take her to wife, if a nearer kinsman who was then living should refuse. He was accordingly applied to, refused to take Ruth, and surrendered his right to her, according to the custom of those times, at the gate of Bethlehem, before the elders of the city. Boaz then took her to wife, by whom she had Obed, who was father to Jesse, the father of David.

To the questions, Who was Boaz? and, Who was Ruth? no satisfactory answers can be given; all we know for certain is that Boaz was an Ephraimite of Bethlehem, and Ruth a Moabitess, and consequently educated a heathen. But what we want in certainty, several have attempted to supply by conjecture; with them Boaz was the same as Ibzan, Judges 12:8-10; and Ruth was the daughter of Eglon, king of Moab.

Adam Clarke, Commentary.

DESCRIPTION OF THE HOUSE WHICH KING SOLOMON BUILT FOR JEHOVAH

by G. Wilton Lewis, Architect

1 Kings 6:7. 1015 B.C.

The building comprised the following divisions: The House, or Holy Place, in front of which was the porch; behind it the oracle, or Holy of Holies; around these two were thirty small rooms, or chambers, in three stories.

Over the oracle was the upper house, a room of the same size, but of only half the height, reached by winding stairways. The treasuries were also somewhere in the upper part of the building, for safety.

The house was forty cubits long within, twenty wide, and thirty high; the porch was the width of the house, and ten cubits, 18'-4" in depth, with its two mammoth brass columns.

The oracle was also twenty cubits wide, and of the same length and height, being in shape a perfect cube, with a single opening. It contained only the Ark of the covenant and two winged figures of heroic size, called cherubim, made of olive wood, and were ten cubits in height, with spread wings, each five cubits long, making twenty cubits in all, so that they touched the walls on either side and met in the middle over the Ark.

The roof and the floors, both of the house and the oracle and of the chambers, rested on ledges of the stone walls which, accordingly, diminished in thickness as they went up.

The partition between the house and the oracle was of cedar planks; the walls of the house, the oracle and upper house were furred with cedar from floor to ceiling. The flooring was of fir. Thus there was no stone visible in the interior of either room. The lintel and doorposts of the main entrance between the porch and the house measured a quarter part of the wall in which it stood; that is to say, five cubits 9'-2". It was closed by two doors of fir, each consisting of twofolding leaves 2'-3". An 18" cubit would be 1'-10" too small.

The lintel and doorposts at the entrance into the Holy of Holies were smaller, measuring only a fifth of the width of the house, or four cubits, and square 7'-4". The double doors were of olive wood.

Of the three stories of chambers which surrounded both the house and the oracle, the lower was five cubits broad, 9'-2", the middle six 11'-0", and the upper one seven 12'-10". The floor beams were not built into the walls, but, as has been said, rested upon ledges of the walls.
On the right side, or southern side of the building, and perhaps also on the other side, were winding stairs leading from the first story to the upper house.

The chambers were lighted by narrow windows “of fixed lattice,” the temple itself had windows near the ceiling, the Holy of Holies none at all.

The inner walls, inclosing the Holy Place and the Holy of Holies, were constructed of three rows of hewn stone and a row of cedar beams. No stone, as has been said, was visible either in the house itself, the oracle or the upper house; and all the woodwork of the walls and ceilings and of the floors and doors was covered with gold, as also the cherubim. The walls and doors were carved with figures of cherubim and palm-trees, with festoons and garlands, “knops” and open flowers. All the construction was made entirely ready before it was brought to the building, and during the whole process of erection there was no sound of ax or hammer or any iron tool.

The building faced the east, and the exterior of the building, from the pavement of the court of the priests to the crown molding and cresting, was of pure white marble blocks with polished faces so carefully jointed as to appear to be one block pierced at regular intervals of six cubits by narrow window openings in four tiers on three faces, allowing light and air to every room except the oracle, which was without openings other than the double-door entrance screened by the veil of the temple.

The roof was constructed of heavy cedar beams spanning the width of the building every five cubits, resting directly on the stone withes, or partitions, between the chambers throughout the entire length of the building, rebated for the ceiling planks and wall-plate. These beams were furred on top sufficiently to receive plank roofing overlapping each other from the wall-plate to the ridge, a gable roof, forming a watershed, covered and flashed with silver or gold metal.

The porch is specifically described as having two brass pillars with polished shafts eighteen cubits in height, with a shell of four fingers’ thickness and twelve cubits in circumference.

Upon the shafts rested wrought iron brass capitals, bell-shaped, five cubits in height, ornamented with a ground of network over which lily-work was carved in high relief. About each capital were seven festoons of carved flowers and pomegranates: encircling the shaft at the necking were two rows of one hundred pomegranates each. Altogether presenting a conspicuous innovation upon the capitals of the Egyptian or Phœnician, then in vogue. Shadow instead of color — vegetation as motif instead of animal and reptile upon not only the capitals of the columns, but the ornament of exterior and interior of the whole building.

The winding stairs occupied the space of the middle chamber of the north and south walls, constructed in the nature of an additional strengthening of those long, straight walls, by means of a center shaft, or pier, in place of the present-day well-hole, with the steps and landings cut in blocks, so that the entire middle chamber, with its walls and withes, was substantially a pier from the ground floor throughout the height of these stories to the level of the floor of the upper house and the galleries over the vestry-rooms.

The landings of the winding stairs were seven and six risers above one another of modern standard dimension. Used only by individual priests in reaching their chambers, and not a public stairway, they were narrow, about the width of modern common house stairs.

The court of the priests (Ezek. 40: 17, 18) in the west square of which the temple stood, was a paved plateau 100 x 200 cubits, and two or three cubits above the level of the great court of the people. It was enclosed by a wall of three or four cubits, similar to that of the tabernacle of the testimony, and for the same purpose; namely, that none but the priests were permitted to enter, and only when they were doing duty in their appointed courses. This plateau was reached by a flight of steps located on the east front, and used the same as the curtain to the court of the tabernacle.

Its elevation not only served as a guard against the entrance of the people, but materially aided their witnessing of the sacrificial services performed in their behalf.

The altar of burnt-offerings stood in the center of the east square in front of the temple. It was a very large, ornamental brass structure four times the area of that used in the tabernacle service.

It was twenty cubits square and ten cubits high, so that, contrary to the Lord's command in regard to the latter (Ex. 20:26), it had to be reached by steps and a long flight. Its height permitted their offerings to be witnessed by the people. At least forty priests could serve the altar at the same time. The fire on the altar kept day and night. (Lev. 6:13).

Lavers — There were ten brass lavers to serve the great altar, each base four cubits square, and moved on wheels, four to each. The lavers were used to wash the offerings before being delivered to the priests serving the altar; their capacity was forty baths each, about one hundred and eighty gallons.
Brazen Sea — There was, between the temple and the altar toward the south, the Brazen Sea. The sea was used by the priests for the ceremonial washing of their own hands and feet as they entered their courses and served at the great altar. It was in form a great basin, five cubits high, and ten cubits in diameter at the rim, or lip. It rested on a pedestal, or base, and was supported also by twelve oxen of brass, with heads facing the four cardinal points of the compass, three each, and with their hind parts depressed under the great basin and toward each other. They formed the ornamental part of the base of the sea.

Under the rim were cast knops, or wild cucumbers, ten in every cubit of the thirty measuring the circumference; the sea had a capacity of two thousand baths — approximately nine thousand gallons, probably supplied from the remote cisterns or springs.

As the tabernacle of the testimony, prepared by Moses, had been kept in repair and used up to the time of the building of the temple, it was the basis of David's design for a permanent house. It was enlarged and its arrangement and contour similarly proportioned. The front curtain over the tabernacle folded down over the front; it was four cubits wide; the wall was two and one-half times its width, or ten cubits high.

The same proportion appears on the temple facade from the cornice to the capital of the brass pillars in relation to the whole height from the floor of the porch.

The general proportion of the arrangement of the plan is preserved, but to make the perspective of the two structures in proportion, because of the adding of vestries, or chambers, about the house and oracle, including the thickness of the walls, an addition of ten cubits to the height was required; hence, while the oracle was preserved a perfect cube of twenty cubits, the house was made thirty cubits high, thus the additional height of the roof allowed necessary upper chambers or the upper house over the oracle, and of the same area.

As, in the construction of the tabernacle, five horizontal timbers were used, so, in the construction of the inner wall of the temple, there were "rows" of cedar beams, which secured the furring of the interior walls by mortise and tenon, cabinet work, in its place without the use of ax or hammer or any iron tool. These "boards" or planks were regular in their dimensions, like the boards or planks of the tabernacle, fitted top and bottom with two tenons each, so that when set in their places they formed the interior finish. They were carved, and gold plating was hammered on to the form of the carving before delivered and set.
As David prepared all manner of precious stones and marbles, these formed the finish of the chambers, winding stairs and treasuries, or all the rooms other than the house, oracle and upper house, in which no stone was seen. In the oracle the only piece of furniture was the same Ark of the covenant which for several centuries alone occupied the Holy of Holies of the tabernacle.

To give it more dignity and impressive sacredness, it was set on a "chariot," or platform, and overshadowed and protected by two heroic angels or messengers, called cherubim—men, not women, infants or animals—having spread wings as if just descended from God for this purpose.

They were of the same pattern, and stood so that their wings reached a height of ten cubits from the floor; they were each five cubits in length, together spanning the width of the oracle. They faced toward the mercy-seat of the Ark, in a worshipful attitude, standing.

The Holy Place of the tabernacle contained only three pieces of furniture; namely, the altar of incense, the candlestick and the table of showbread.

The enlarged house contained the altar of incense the same, but there were ten tables of showbread and ten candlesticks with their lamps, five on each side. The altar remained in the same position as in the tabernacle, at the entrance of the Most Holy Place, in front of the veil.

The tables and candlesticks flanked the altar on either side at regular intervals, and must have been very impressive as the priests entered through the porch doorway.

Altar of Incense — The altar of incense was one cubit square and two cubits high, carved and plated with gold (with an ornamental crown or cresting, the top of which was made suitable to burn incense upon).

Candlesticks — The candlesticks, minutely described, were also wrought with gold; the stem and six branches each holding a lamp which was supplied with olive oil for light.

The Tables of Showbread — The tables of showbread were each one cubit wide, two cubits long and one and one-half cubits high. They were similar to modern tables with a top supported on four legs, or "feet." Crowned, carved and plated with gold, each had its own candlestick for use at the service hour.

Upon each table were placed the loaves of showbread, the flagon of wine, with gold bread-plate and gold winecup and saucer, all of which were perpetually used, renewed every seventh day (Ex. 37:16).
Chambers — The chambers about the buildings were vestries, or robing-rooms, where the priests about to serve in their courses changed their common apparel and put on their priestly vestments (Ezek. 44:19). The first-floor chambers were about nine feet square. The wall in each was thick enough to provide a settle at the window, affording room to sit or recline, and there was wall space sufficient for wardrobe, hooks and so forth.

Besides being used as robing rooms, they were the places for eating the sacred offerings and drinking of the wine. (Ezek. 42:13, 14).

There were eighty-four (7 x 12, multiple of sacred unit) of these vestries (ninety, minus the six used for stairs) reached, above the first floor, by winding stairs in the middle chamber, and they also afforded passages from one room to another throughout the entire floor at each story.

Each was lighted by a narrow window perhaps one cubit wide, and the opening filled with metal lattice of rich design. The floor and ceiling were of wood plated with silver.

TREASURIES

(I Chron. 9:26; I Kings 7:51; II Kings 12:4; I Chron. 26:20; 28:12)

There were two large rooms on the level of the upper house at the entrance end of the galleries toward the east; they were each approximately thirteen and one-half feet by twenty feet, by sixteen feet high, in which were stored the sacred vessels, plates, spoons, cups, etc., of gold and silver upon proper tables and shelves, and hooks; they were lighted at the east wall, leaving the two side walls and the center for counters, shelves, hooks, etc., necessary.

These treasuries were farthest removed from the outer doors, and not easily accessible, so that they afforded protection for the sacred vessels, dishes and utensils.

A perspective of the complete temple and courts can not be made from the Bible data. But the house itself sustains every Bible premise, and stands unique among published sketches, models and descriptions.

14 Judges with overlappings that total...450 years See Acts 13: 19.

7. The language of Acts 13:19 indicates that Paul reckoned from Joshua's conquest, thus eliminating 40 years from the 480 mentioned in 1 Kings 6:1. This also harmonizes with Stephen's speech, in the words, "the nations that God thrust out before the face of our fathers, unto the days of David" (Acts 7:45).

The ten additional years (40 plus 450) are unquestionably covered by known overlappings.
II—OVERLAPPINGS OF PERIODS WOULD REDUCE THE TIME FROM 450 YEARS, AND THUS MAKE POSSIBLE THE STATEMENT OF 480 YEARS FROM THE EXODUS.

(1 Kings 6:1)

1. Othniel evidently overlapped the Mesopotamian servitude. (Jos. Antiquities, V. III, 3.)

2. Ehud may have overlapped the Moabite servitude. (Jos. Ant. V. IV, 3.)

3. Jephthah apparently overlapped the Ammonite servitude. (Jos. Ant. V. VIII, 12.)

4. The Scripture narrative indicates that Samson overlapped the Philistine servitude ( Judges 14 and 15.)

5. The twelve years that Samuel is said to have prophesied alone (Jos. Ant. VI, XIII 5), may have merely meant that his work was separate from that of Saul, yet contemporaneous with him.

NOTE: These facts would clearly indicate that the period of the Judges was much less than 450 years. All overlapped time would be counted twice to make the sum of 450 years.

6. The actual periods which would total 480 years from the exodus to the building of the temple.

(1) Wilderness period (Num. 14:33) .......................................................... 40 years
(2) Period of Joshua's conquest (Jos. Ant. V. I, 29.) .................................. 25 years
(3) Period of Judges, with overlappings of 118 years .................................. 33 years
(4) Reign of Saul (Acts 13:21) ................................................................. 40 years
(5) Reign of David (1 Kings 2:11) .............................................................. 40 years
(6) Three years of Solomon's reign (1 Kings 6:1) ...................................... 3 years

Total time ........................................................................................................ 480 years

7. Josephus, the Jewish historian (A. D. 37—about 100) counts twelve years for the time Samuel governed Israel, and computes the overlapping of periods so as to make 592 years.

"Now he (Samuel) governed and presided over the people alone, after the death of Eli the high priest, twelve years, and eighteen years together with Saul the king" (Ant. VI. XIII, 5).

(1) Wilderness period (Num. 14:33) .......................................................... 40 years
(2) Period of Joshua's conquest (Ant. V. I, 29.) ......................................... 25 years
(3) Period of Judges, with 18 years allowed for overlapping .................. 432 years
(4) Period of separate reign of Samuel (Ant. VI. XIII, 5) ......................... 12 years
(5) Reign of Saul (Ant. VI. XIV. 9; Acts 13:21) ......................................... 40 years
(6) Reign of David (1 Kings 2:11) .............................................................. 40 years
(7) Time passed on Solomon's reign (1 Kings 6:1) ...................................... 3 years

Total time ........................................................................................................ 592 years

8. CONCLUSION: There is no room to question the accuracy of either account, when the standpoint of the writer is taken into consideration.
CHAPTER TWELVE

Solomon’s Divided Empire
CHAPTER TWELVE

Solomon's Divided Empire

INTRODUCTION

Very shortly after the death of Solomon, the prophecy of Ahijah (I Kings 11:29-40) was fulfilled; his kingdom was rent in twain, and the parts, both greatly weakened by the disruption, formed the separate kingdoms of JUDAH and of ISRAEL. It may be well to take a preliminary view of the somewhat intricate annals of these kingdoms, and of the very different character which marked each. To a superficial observer, the northern kingdom, including ten tribes, about two-thirds of the population, and, with the region east of Jordan, more than the same proportion of the land, and that much the best in quality, would seem to have had all the elements of greater strength. (The areas of the two kingdoms were respectively, Israel about 9,375 square miles, Judah about 3,435.) But, on the other hand, Judah retained the capital, the center of the organized system of government and of the material interests of the nation, together with the accumulated treasures of Solomon. And, to say nothing of the energy of the tribe of Judah, which perhaps was equalled by Ephraim, Zebulun, and Naphtali, all the moral and religious elements of greatness were on the sides of the southern kingdom.

From the very first, the blot of rebellion clung to the cause of Israel; the divine selection of Jeroboam to punish the sins of Solomon was not held to justify his rebellion. He was indeed assured that obedience to God's law would be rewarded by the establishment of his kingdom and his dynasty; but his very first acts severed every religious bond to Jehovah and his worship, and his course was followed by his successors, of whom, with scarcely an exception, we read the emphatic sentence, "he did evil in the sight of Jehovah, and walked in the way of Jeroboam, who made Israel to sin."

On the other hand, the kingdom of Judah was preserved from the defection of the other tribes, expressly for the sake of God's covenant with David, and to maintain his worship at its chosen seat; and the immediate consequence of Jeroboam's religious revolt was to drive all the priests and Levites to Jerusalem. With the line of David remained God's promise of a permanent kingdom, made doubly sure by its ultimate reference to the Messiah; in that family the crown was handed on, generally from father to son; while, in Israel, the dynasty of Jeroboam ended with his son; and there followed a series of murders and usurpations, among which the longest dynasties, those of Omri and Jehu, numbered only four and five kings each. From the disruption to the epoch at which Ahaziah, king of Judah, and Jehoram, king of Israel, were killed at the same time by Jehu, a period of ninety years (B.C. 975-884), Judah had only six kings (though Ahaziah reigned but one year), while Israel had nine; and in the whole period of 255 years, from the disruption to the captivity of Israel (B.C. 975-721) twelve kings of Judah occupy the same space as nineteen kings of Israel; a striking indication of the greater stability of the former dynasty. The moral superiority is equally striking, not only in the preservation of the worship of Jehovah at Jerusalem, while Israel was sunk in idolatry, but even on the comparatively weak ground of the personal character of the kings. It is true that the house of David was deeply corrupted, chiefly by its connection with the wicked house of Ahab; but it boasts the names of Asa, Jehoshaphat, Uzziah, Jotham, the godly Hezekiah, the penitent Manasseh, the pure Josiah; while not one of the kings of Israel is free from the blot of foul wickedness; for even the fierce zeal of Jehu had not purity of motive. The two kingdoms were equally distinguished in their final fate. The sentence of captivity was executed upon Israel about 130 years sooner than on Judah; and while the ten tribes never returned to their land, and only a scattered remnant of them shared the restoration of Judah, the latter became once more a small but powerful nation, not free from the faults of their fathers, but worshipping God with a purity and serving Him with a heroic zeal unequalled since the days of Joshua, and preparing for the restoration of the true spiritual kingdom under the last great son of David. — William Smith, in “Old Testament History.”

We will begin our study in this chapter with a consideration of the kingdom of Israel since it was the first to be carried away into captivity. Our procedure will be to follow through each portion of Solomon’s divided empire separately. You will notice on the next page a chart of the dynasties of Israel and the kings that ruled. Note carefully the prophets that were contemporary with the kings. Throughout this chapter there will appear eight maps showing the condition of Israel and Judah as compared with the surrounding nations at different periods in their history. Study these maps very carefully.

The reign of Joash began when he was seven years old. He reigned only twenty years. An agreement was made by Jehoiada, his uncle, that the king, as well as the people, would serve Jehovah instead of Baal. Athaliah had built a temple to Baal in Jerusalem. Joash was not influenced by Jehoiada. All the high places of Baal were taken away. An effort was made to repair the house of Jehovah. The repair of the house was delayed by the neglect of the priests. A special levy was the method used by Joash to raise the necessary money for the repair of the house of God. Jehoiada was 130 years old when he died. The people of Judah repented at the preaching of Zechariah. The death of Zechariah was at the command of Joash. Jehovah delivered the great host of Judah into the hands of the Syrians because of their sin. Hazael was bought off by Joash with money from the treasuries of the temple. OLD TESTAMENT PROPHETIC BOOKS

THE KINGS AND PROPHETS

OF ISRAEL AND JUDAH

THE MESSIANIC PROPHECIES

by

WALTER L. STRAUB, M.A., B.D., D.Litt.

From his book, BIBLICAL ANALYSIS
CLASSIFICATION OF OLD TESTAMENT PROPHETIC BOOKS

I—THE BOOKS OF SAMUEL AND KINGS

In the original Hebrew text, the books of Samuel and Kings were regarded as one book each. In the Septuagint translation (about B.C. 285), they were regarded as First, Second, Third, and Fourth Kings, which division was followed by the Latin Vulgate (A.D. 405), and the Douay Version (A.D. 1609-10). The modern division of these books was introduced into the Hebrew printed Bible, 1518.

The First book of Samuel is in reality a continuation of the book of Judges. The name "Samuel" was not an original prefix to the books, and doubtless owes its origin to Samuel as the hero of the first division.

The authorship of Samuel is variously ascribed by modern scholars to David, Jeremiah, Hezekiah, and Ezra the scribe. The Jews, in general, have held that Samuel was the author of the first 27 chapters, which contains a history of his own life and Government, and that the remaining 24 chapters were written by the prophets Gad and Nathan. This opinion is partially deduced from 1 Chron. 29:29. The latter portion was undoubtedly constructed out of original and authentic documents, but by a compiler who was not a contemporary with the facts that he narrates (comp. 2 Sam. 1:1; 2:1; 3:1-3; 22: et al).

Jewish tradition names Jeremiah as the writer of the books of Kings, which is also suggested by the language and style.

The following historical analysis will enable the student to form a mental picture of the scope and contents of these books:

1 Samuel 100 years From the birth of Samuel to the death of Saul (B.C. 1155-1055).

2 Samuel 39 years From the second anointing of David in Hebron, to David's appointment of Solomon as his successor, two years before his death (B.C. 1055-1016).

1 Kings 126 years From the anointing of Solomon to the death of Jehoshaphat, King of Judah (B.C. 1016-890).

2 Kings 328 years From the death of Jehoshaphat, to the reign of Evil-merodach, King of Babylon (B.C. 890-562).

II—HISTORIC CLASSIFICATION OF LATER PROPHETIC BOOKS

The popular classification of these books into "Major Prophets," and "Minor Prophets" is arbitrary and meaningless. There is no prophetic book, the size of which constitutes a key to the interpretation of any passage therein; but the interpretation of many of the books may be based on the period in which they were written. We therefore submit the following interpretative classification:

1. The Northern Kingdom, or Kingdom of Israel.
In B.C. 721 this kingdom fell, and the ten tribes were led away captives to Assyria, never to be restored as a body. The straggling wanderers who returned were insufficient in number to restore their kingdom.

2. The Southern Kingdom, or Kingdom of Judah.
The first captivity to Babylon was B.C. 606, and the first return was 70 years later, B.C. 536. Jerusalem fell B.C. 587 (Jer. 29:10; 25:12; Dan. 9:2; Zech. 1:12; 7:5).

3. Prophets Before the Captivity.
(1) Prophets of Israel.
Jonah ........................................... B.C. 586-784.
Amos ........................................... B.C. 810-795.
Hosea .......................................... B.C. 810-725.
(2) Prophets of Judah.
Isaiah ........................................... B.C. 810-698.
Joel ............................................. B.C. 810-660.
Micah ........................................... B.C. 758-699.

This leaves a period of 420 years between the Old and the New Testament, during which time the Apocryphal books were written, and the Septuagint Greek translation of the Hebrew Old Testament was made.

THE BOOK OF CHRONICLES

The historic setting of the Chronicles is fundamental in Bible study.
The two books, First and Second Chronicles, were originally one, and, like the Kings, are cited in the singular number (Ex. 1 Kings 14:9; 15:7, 23, 31). The Hebrew Bible adopted the present division of these books in 1518, but still places them at the end of the Old Testament.

1. The Title. The Hebrew title, "The Diaries," is practically the equivalent of our English word "Chronicles." The Septuagint translators supplied the title "Paralipomena," meaning "things omitted," from the erroneous presumption that they were compiled to supply omissions from the books of Samuel and Kings. Jerome (A.D. 390-405) introduced the title "Chronicles," from the meaning of designations within the books (2 Kings 16:19; 14:19, 29; et al), and Luther and English translators retained the title.

2. Date of Composition. Both Jewish and Christian tradition ascribe the authorship to Ezra, which places the composition after the return from captivity (B. C. 536). This period is also indicated by the reference to Jeremiah's prophecy of the return from Babylon after seventy years (2 Chron. 36:22; comp. Jer. 25:11; 29:10), and by the reference to the decree of Cyrus, king of Persia, permitting the Jews to return from Babylon to Jerusalem, B. C. 536 (2 Chron. 36:22, 23; comp. Ezra 1:1-4; Isa. 44:28; Jos. Ant. XI. I. 1-3). The genealogy to the sixth generation after Zerubbabel, who is known to have lived in B. C. 520, would indicate that later genealogies were included as late as Alexander the Great (B. C. 333-330. See 1 Chron. 3:19-24).

Repeated references to "the book of the kings of Judah and of Israel," would indicate that Chronicles were compiled after Kings (Ex. 2 Chron. 16:11; 20:34; 27:7; 28:2; 33:18; et al).

The references in the books of Kings to "the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah," and of "Israel," evidently refer to the original records or chronicles from which our present "Chronicles" have been abridged. This is indicated by the fact that our books of Kings frequently refer to further information "in the book of the chronicles," which is not included in the abridged "Chronicles" that we now have. The following are examples of such citations:

(1) 1 Kings 15:31. "The rest of the acts of Nadab, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?" (Omitted from our abridged Chronicles).

(2) 1 Kings 16:14. "The rest of the acts of Elah, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?" (Omitted from our abridged Chronicles.)

(3) 1 Kings 16:20. "The rest of the acts of Zimri, and the treason that he wrought, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?" (Omitted from our abridged Chronicles.)

3. Sources. The work is an abridgment of official records and genealogies, at least eleven of which are mentioned (1 Chron. 29:29; 2 Chron. 9:29; 12:15; 13:22; 16:11; 20:34; 26:22; 27:7; 32:32). The compiler did not live contemporaneous with the facts that he narrates.

4. Purpose. The compiler evidently included such historic information and genealogies as would point out the line of the Promises from David to Christ. This pre-eminent purpose may also be discerned from the manner in which the line of Judah is followed, and Israel eliminated wherever foreign to this objective.

B. C. Judah or Southern Kingdom

914 Jehoshaphat (25 yrs.) (Jehu, Jehaziell)
   2 Chron. 17:1 to 20:34.

Note: According to 2 Kings 3:1, the first year of Joram, son of Ahab, was the 18th year of Jehoshaphat. (B. C. 896.) But according to 2 Kings 8:16, the 5th year of Joram, son of Ahab, (B. C. 891-2) was the first year of Jehoram, son of Jehoshaphat. This would place the beginning of the reign of Jehoram, son of Jehoshaphat, 3 years before Jehoshaphat's death. This places Jehoram as associate king with his father Jehoshaphat 3 years after which he reigned 5 years alone. It should also be noted that Ahaziah, king of Judah, succeeded Jehoram in the 12th year of Joram the king of Israel (B. C. 885-4, 2 Kings 8:25).

892 Jehoram (or Joram) (8 yrs.) 3 years as associate king with his father Jehoshaphat, and—

889 Alone after the death of Jehoshaphat (5 yrs.)
   1 Kings 22:50.
   2 Kings 8:18-24.

885 Ahaziah (1 year.)
   2 Kings 8:24 to 9:29.

884 Athaliah (6 yrs.)

878 Jehoash (or Joash) (40 yrs.) (Zechariah, son of Jehoiada)
   2 Chron. 23:16 to 24:27.

B. C. Israel of Northern Kingdom

918 Ahab (22 yrs.) (Elijah).
   1 Kings 16:28-34; 18:1 to 2 Kings 3:1.

897 Ahaziah (2 yrs.) (Elisha).
   1 Chron. 3:11; 20:35-37.

896 Joram (or Jehoram) (12 yrs.)
   2 Kings 1:17; 2:1 to 9:15.
   2 Chron. 22:5, 6.

884 Jehu (28 yrs.)
NOTE: Joash (Jehoash) king of Judah, is clearly distinguished from Joash (Jehoash) king of Israel. Joash of Judah ruled 40 years, was a righteous king (2 Kings 12:1, 2), and is further distinguished by the name of his mother, Zibiah (2 Kings 12:1; 13:9, 10; 2 Chron. 24:1).

839 Amaziah (29 yrs.)
2 Kings 14:3-17;

810 Uzziah (called Azariah) (52 yrs.) (Zechariah, Amos, Hoshea, Isaiah. comp. 2 Chron. 26:5, 22).
2 Kings 14:21 to 15:3.
2 Chron. 26:1-23.

Note: When Uzziah presumed to unlawfully perform the sanctuary service, he was smitten with leprosy (2 Chron. 26:16-23; 2 Kings 15:1-7). “Uzziah the king was a leper unto the day of his death, and dwelt in a separate house, being a leper; for he was cut off from the house of Jehovah: and Jotham his son was over the king’s house, judging the people of the land” (2 Chron. 26:21).

758 Jotham (16 yrs.) (Isaiah. See Isa. 1:1).
2 Chron. 26:21 to 27:9.

742 Ahaz (16 yrs.) (Micah).

NOTE: Joash (Jehoash) king of Israel, is clearly distinguished from Joash (Jehoash) king of Judah. It should be observed that Joash of Israel ruled 16 years, was an unrighteous king (2 Kings 3:11), and is further distinguished by the name of his father, Jehoahaz (2 Kings 13:10; 2 Chron. 25:17).
B. C. JUDAH OF SOUTHERN KINGDOM

NOTE: The age of Ahaz, when he began to reign, has occasioned some difficulty. According to 2 Kings 16:2, he began to reign at the age of twenty, reigned sixteen years, and therefore died at the age of thirty-six.

According to 2 Kings 18:2, his son Hezekiah, at the age of twenty-five, succeeded his father who died at the age of thirty-six. This would allow only eleven years for the age of Ahaz when Hezekiah was born.

But in 2 Chron. 28:1, the Septuagint Greek version (B. C. 285) reads “twenty and five years” (eikosi kai pente etoon), instead of “twenty,” for the age of Ahaz when he began to reign. The autograph Hebrew manuscripts therefore evidently read “twenty and five,” thus allowing sixteen years for Ahaz’ age when Hezekiah was born.

726 Hezekiah (29 yrs.) (Nahum).
2 Chron. 28:27 to 31:31.

NOTE: The first six years of his reign were in the dual kingdom, before the Assyrian captivity in B. C. 721.

B. C. ISRAEL OF NORTHERN KINGDOM

NOTE: In Kings 15:30, Hoshea is said to have begun his reign “in the twentieth year of Jotham, the son of Uzziah.” But Jotham was actually king of Judah only 16 years (2 Kings 15:32, 33). The compiler here merely credits Jotham with the nine years that he “was over the king’s house, judging the people” (2 Chron. 26:21) in behalf of his father Uzziah, who was king, but “was cut off from the house of Jehovah” (v. 21) because he was a leper.

Hoshea therefore began his reign in the twentieth year of Jotham’s service as king, but in the eleventh year of his official reign (comp. 2 Kings 15:7).

721 Captivity of the kingdom of Israel, by the Assyrians.
2 Kings 17:3-41; 18:12.
2 Chron. 30:1 to 31:1.

III—THE KINGDOM OF JUDAH ALONE (B. C. 720-586.)

720 Hezekiah (The last 23 years of his reign were during the period of Judah alone.)
2 Kings 18:1 to 20:11. 2 Chron. 32:1-33.

698 Manasseh (55 yrs.) (Joel).

643 Ammon (2 yrs.)

331 The battle of Arbela, and the overthrow of Persia by Alexander the Great.
V—GRECIAN SUPREMACY (B. C. 331-165.)

Grecian supremacy dates from the battle of Arbela, B. C. 331, when Alexander overthrew Persia. At his death in 323, the kingdom divided into four rival factions, and gradually declined in influence. Grecian influence, however, prevailed to some extent until the uniting of the states into the Roman Empire, under Augustus, B. C. 31.

78-69 Alexandra.
69-63 Aristobulus II.

VII—THE ROMAN PERIOD (B. C. 63 to A. D. 70.)

It should be noted that the rise of Rome begins about 264 B. C. But it was never consolidated into a united empire until Caesar Augustus, 31 B. C. (For the chronology of the Roman Emperors, see Appendix.)
THE MESSIANIC PROPHECIES
(Luke 24:44; John 5:46; 1:45)

INTRODUCTION

There are more predictions concerning Christ than of any other subject. It is a recognized fact that prophecies and their known fulfillments serve to explain each other. By this method, the Bible becomes its own interpreter.

We have noticed the development of the promises to Abraham in two distinct lines—a natural kingdom or nation, and a spiritual line ending in Christ.

This partial list of the prophecies concerning Christ is presented in classification, without elaboration, as a guide and foundation on which to build an exhaustive study.

We have "the word of prophecy made more sure" (2 Pet. 1:19), by the accuracy of fulfillment.

SUMMARY

1. Harmony of testimony. Peter affirms concerning Christ, "To him bear all the prophets witness" (Acts 10:38). They wrote from different countries, in different languages, on different subjects, to different people, and from different standpoints, yet their testimony makes Christ the grand center and objective.

2. The coming of the Messiah was so definite and specific that no imposter could usurp the sceptre. Christ fulfilled every detail.

3. Just as the first coming was the grand objective of the Old Testament, the second coming is the grand event of the new. Christ is thus the center of all divine revelation to man.
CHAPTER
THIRTEEN

Studies in Ezra, Nehemiah and Esther
I make no apology for borrowing freely from Adam Clarke's commentary on Ezra.

"At the conclusion of II Kings and also of II Chronicles, we have seen the state of misery and desolation to which the kingdoms of Israel and Judah were reduced through their unparalleled ingratitude to God, and their innumerable backslidings and rebellions. These at last issued in their captivity; the inhabitants of the former country being carried away by the Assyrians, and those of the latter by the Chaldeans. The former never recovered their ancient territories, and were so disposed by their enemies that they either became amalgamated with the heathen nations, so as to be utterly indistinguishable, or they were transported to some foreign and recluse place of settlement, that the place of their existence, though repeatedly guessed at, has for more than two thousand years been totally unknown.

In mercy to the less polluted inhabitants of the kingdom of Judah, though delivered up into the hands of their enemies, God promised by his prophet, that at the expiration of seventy years they should be enlarged, and restored to their own country. This prediction was most literally fulfilled; and the books of Ezra, Esther, and Nehemiah, inform us how the Divine goodness accomplished this most gracious design, and the movers and agents He employed on the occasion. The writer of the following book was undoubtedly the chief agent under God . . . "

STUDIES IN THE BOOK OF EZRA

The book may be outlined in the following manner:

I—The history of the returning exiles, consisting of an account of rebuilding the Temple. 1:1 — 6:22.

II—The personal history of the migration of Ezra to Palestine. 7:1 — 10:44.
These two main divisions of the book can be subdivided into the following headings:

The decree of Cyrus. 1:1-11
The return of the exiles. 2:1-70
Worship in Jerusalem. 3:1-13
Hindrances to the work. 4:1 — 5:5
The decree of Darius. 5:6 — 6:13
Dedication feast. 6:14-22
Arrival of Ezra in Jerusalem. 7:1 — 8:36

STUDIES IN THE BOOK OF ESTHER

If we were to locate this book in relation to the two preceding ones we would place it between the sixth and seventh chapters of Ezra. All the events recorded in this book happened before Ezra left for Jerusalem.

The author is unknown. Possibly Mordecai (cf. 9:20). There are some who feel that Ezra was the author.

According to Robert Lee the contents of the book can be outlined under three feasts:

I — The Feast of Ahasuerus. 1-2.

II — The Feast of Esther. 3-7.

III — The Feast of Purim. 8-10.
The feasts can be subdivided in the following manner:

I — The Feast of Ahasuerus.

II — The Feast of Esther.
  2. The Jews' mourning. 4:1-17.

This is an invitation to view the artist's conception of some of the places made important by the events associated with them. This is also an invitation to the past. Many of these engravings were made more than fifty years ago. They were prepared from sketches drawn at the scene, or from photographs.

To me, these engravings are altogether charming. The painstaking care necessary for their preparation is indicative of their importance.

Beyond this mountain to the southeast, and separated from it by a shallow depression, is another, with a rounded top covered with ruins. This appears to be the site of Ai. It corresponds to the description in Genesis 12:8, which states that Abraham removed to a "mountain on the east of Bethel and pitched his tent having Bethel on the west and Ai on the east( and there he builded an altar to the Lord." With his tent on the spot above mentioned Bethel was almost due west from him, and Ai southeast. This site also corresponds to the account of the capture of Ai given in Joshua 8:9-19.
